WEED, they are, and this proves a snare unto them, and oftentimes their ruin, as it did to the Pharisee in the gospel, who pleaded his negative righteousness; he was not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, nor even as the publican; he stood not only on his comparisons, but upon his disparisons; being blind at home, and too quick sighted abroad, he contemns the poor publican who was better than himself, making good that saying of Seneca, "The nature of man is very spt to use spectacles to behold other men's faults rather than looking-glasses in which to survey their

Many preachers in our days are like Heraelitus, who was called the dark doctor. They affect sublime notions, obscure expressions, and uncouth phrases, anaking plain truths difficult and easy truths hard. "They darken counsel with words without knowledge." Studied expressions and high notions in a sermon, are like Asahel's carcass in the way, that did only stop men and make them gaze, but did not ways profit or edify them. It is better to present truth in her native plainness than to hang her ears with counterfeit pearls,

THE BIRLE,-Out of it have come all pure moralities. Forth from it have sprung all sweet charities. It has been the motive power of regeneration and reformation to millions of men. It has comforted the humble, consoled the mourning, sustained the suffering, and given trust and triumph to the dying. The wise old man hath fallen asleep with it folded to his breast. The simple cottager has used it for his dying pillow; and even the innocent child has breathed his last happy sigh with his fingers between its promise-freighted leaves .- Timothy Titcomb.

Tills is simply the fermented juice and the distilled juice of the California grape, judionsly medicated with Peravion Bark, rhubarb, juniper berries, and other vegetable remedial agents, skilighly combined, and in such minute and exact quantities as to constitute a small or homeopathic dose of each remedy; which when combined form an innocut, harmless, yet active, tonic, alterative, anti-dyspeptic diurefic, anti-febr le, and sedative beverage, pleasant to the taste.

The inventor, is calling the attention of the public (especially the Californians who know the executence of the California grape) to these preparations, does so with pride and confidence; pride in proving the excellence of our native grape, and confidence in their remedial virtues, adapted for the following diseases:

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite., Haintrial Countripation, Acidity of, or Sour Stowards, Diseases of the Kidney, Gravet, Disorders of the Urinary Organo, Remittent and Inter-mittent Perers, Forer &
