Republican Nominations.

For President, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, OF ILLINOIS. For Vice President, HANNIBAL HAMLIN, OF MAINE.

For Presidential Electors, T. J. DYER, B. J. PENROE, W. H. WATKINS.

Lincoln's Nomination

Has been received all over Oregon with probably more enthusiasm than that of any other man would have been. The satisfaction of all Republicans is not 'loud, but deep'.

In the name, and on behalf, of every noble Republican in Oregon, we send back greeting to our Eastern brethren, and say, 'Well done, good and faithful delegates.'

The article in the Argus to which Delusion refers was not penned by us nor by any of Dr. McBride's connections.

Must not be.—We hear that since the election the sectional organs at Albany and Corvallis are rapidly sinking.

We are an ox-driver ourselves.—Delusion's Medium. We thought that you were a hog-driver, and that Linn county had elected you to follow your old profession.

He was the best, as well as the most available man that could have been selected from the thousands of good and great men now in the ranks of the Republican party.

quint speech. He said, that as a matter of expediency and availability, he had favored the nomination of Mr. Bates, as a distinguished gentleman from Illinois, who was at his house last winter, would bear him witness; but that so far as the man and his principles were concerned, Mr. Lincoln was his favorite above any other man that had been named.

J. R. McBRIDE, Esq., being called for, came forward and said that he endorsed the proceedings of the Chicago Convention cordially and heartily.

He said he wished here to meet the charge of "negro equality," that argument of ignorance and weapon of vulgarity, so often used against the Republican party.

While I was at the hotel to-day an elderly gentleman called upon me to know whether I was really in favor of producing a perfect equality between the negroes and white people.

Mr. McBride continued—Mr. Lincoln had the endorsement of the highest democratic authority as to both his integrity and capacity,—that of Mr. Douglas.

Mr. McBride spoke farther—showing that the special interests of the Pacific coast,—the Homestead Bill and Pacific Railroad measures,—required, that whether we endorsed the platform and principles of the party, on the question of slavery, or not, we ought to sustain its nominees, because of their being pledged to these great interests, which were of vital and paramount importance to us.

Mr. McBride spoke about thirty minutes, and his speech was received with attention and approbation.

Mr. W. L. ADAMS was loudly called for, and made a most excellent and elo-

Court in the Dred Scott case had undertaken the control of the political questions of the day, it was fashionable to claim for Courts all rights, and that the other branches of the government—the legislative and executive—were being swallowed up by the irresponsible judicial monster.

Ma. G. L. WOODS being loudly called for, responded, and said that the law, and not politics, was his field; that he had desired that others whose habits and inclinations better befitted them for addressing such meetings would occupy the time.

He thought that if there ever was a time when men should come up and battle for their country, and labor as became freemen, that time was at hand.

Mr. Woods then referred to the charge of "Sectionalism," and said that it was a calumny and baseless falsehood.

After a few more stirring remarks, Mr. Woods closed, pledging his cordial and hearty support to Messrs. Lincoln and Hamlin, at the November election; and asking all who held the good of their country at heart, to come out and give them their votes.

Judge SKINNER, and others, made stirring and eloquent speeches, pledging themselves to sustain the nominations.

Resolved, That the Republicans of Yamhill county, agreeing in all essential particulars with the principles laid down in the platform of the National Convention recently assembled at Chicago, and having the fullest confidence in the capability of the nominees of that Convention—Messrs. Lincoln and Hamlin—do pledge to them our hearty and cordial support at the November election.

On motion of W. L. Adams, the Central County Committee was instructed to receive contributions and to procure public documents for gratuitous distribution, and to distribute the same.

eminent abilities, point him out as the man we need in the Presidential chair after the 4th of March next. That he will be triumphantly elected, we believe; and if he is elected, he will take his seat, unless assassinated, and rule this Government in spite of all the Union threatening Democratic traitors this side of the lake of fire and brimstone.

Intelligence and Morality of the Republican Party. "The lying blackguard who edits the Oregon City Airgoose arrogates all the morality, decency, intelligence and religion to the Black Republican party."

Now, Delusion, why do you, an Oberlin parson, talk so naughtily about our arrogating to the Republican party most of the intelligence, morality, and virtue of the country, when we are assured by leading Democrats that we are right in doing so?

Have you also forgotten that in making the canvass of 1858, you said that Bush called every country Democrat you stayed with an illiterate Pike, his wife nasty, his children filthy, and his food intolerable, while you of course assented to the whole of it, and then added a stumpy speech on the bed-bugs?

Have you forgotten that your leading organ in Oregon (Coon's Express) lately asserted that "the very nature of the tenets held by the Republican party proved them to be the most intelligent and observing of our citizens"?

Have you also forgotten that Judge Olney, a leader of the Democracy, said that "the Republican party embraced the talent, the literature, and the morality of the country, and that Republican principles were as much superior to Democratic principles as Republicans were on an average superior to Democrats"?

Now, Delusion, when we have the testimony of Coon and Olney to the fact that our party possesses the intelligence, the morality, and the talent of the country—as also the testimony of Bush, Delusion, and Scranton that your party has the 'nasty, illiterate, buggy Pikeites,' and 'drives' best where 'ignorance and whisky are abundant, why do you blame us for asserting to the correctness of such eminent Democratic authority?

Dr. McBride.—The Oberlin wool-grower tells us in his 'medium of self-defense' that "lying Billy Adams of the Airgoose is out in the last issue of his dingy sheet in favor of his father-in-law, Dr. James McBride, for the U. S. Senate."

It will be news to most people that we are a 'son-in-law' of Dr. McBride. We are related to him just as we are to Abe Lincoln, and no more, and the Oberlin amalgamationist knows it.

Address to the Jews. I propose to deliver an address on politics, at the COURT-HOUSE in Oregon City, on Saturday, July 14, 1860, at 1 o'clock p. m., showing how the Jews have been oppressed for the last 1800 years—showing the cause of their oppression now to be in the Democratic Party. I want all to hear me. C. A. CANTOWINE.

Sand's Sarsaparilla.—This purely vegetable remedy combines in itself the properties of an Analeptic, a mild cathartic, and a tonic. It quickly removes from the blood, and other fluids of the body, the impurities of unhealthily secretions, engendered and fed disease, thus striking at the root of the malady.

Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, 100 Fulton st. New York. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5.

Wistar's Life Pills.—The high and exalted celebrity which this pre-eminent medicine has acquired for its invariable efficacy in all the diseases which it professes to cure, has rendered the most practiced of ostentatious puffing not only unnecessary but unworthy of them.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—The only pure and genuine Balsam is, and for the last twenty years has been, prepared by Wm. W. Fowler & Co., of Boston; and their printed name, as well as the written signature of L. Wistar, appear on the outer wrapper.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—This invaluable remedy is the best on earth for the cold, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, pleurisy, pneumonia, croup, whooping cough, bleeding of the lungs, pain in the breast or side, and in fact every form of throat, chest, and lung complaint, as well as CONSUMPTION itself.

This household remedy should be in the hands of every family and individual, as a timely application of it to a slight cold will cause immediate relief; while cases of long standing, obstinate, and apparently incurable character, will yield to its wonderful curative powers, and its great adaptation to the wants of man when afflicted.

For sale in California by Redington & Co., Henry Johnson & Co., Charles Merrill, San Francisco; R. H. McDonald & Co., Sacramento; Rice, Coffin & Co., Marysville; Smith & Davis, Portland, Oregon. July 1860.
