A FRIGHTFUL HUMAN SACRIFICE .- A British war steamer recently arrived at Liverpoel, from the west coast of Africa. The King of Dahomey was about to make as immense sacrifice of human life, to the memory of the late king, his father. The West Africa Herald, referring to this intention, says: "His Majesty, Badahung, King of Dahomey, is about to make the 'Grand Custom' in honor of the late king, Gezo. Determined to surpass all former menarchs in the magnitude of the ceremosies to be performed on this occasion. Badabung has made the most extensive preparation for the celebration of the Grand Custom. A great pit has been dag, which is to contain human blood energh to float a canoe. Two thousand persons will be sacrificed on the occasion. The expedition to A beakouta is postponed, but the King has set his army to make some excursions at the expense of some weaker tribes, and has succeeded in capturing many unfortunate creatures. The young people among these prisoners will be sold into slavery, and the old persons will be killed at the Grand Custom."
