A weekly newspaper, devoted to the interests of the laboring classes, and advocating the side of Truth in every household.

Vol. VII. OREGON CITY, OREGON, APRIL 21, 1861. No. 5.

The Oregon Argus.

A correspondent of the Tribune says—A new republic has been formed in the State of Brazil. The new government is the result of a revolution in Brazil, and has taken place under the leadership of the Emperor. The revolution was precipitated by the unhappy condition of the country, and the desire of the people for a change. The new government is composed of a number of able and intelligent men, who are pledged to the welfare of the country. The constitution of the new republic is based on the principles of liberty and equality, and provides for a strong central government. The country is rich in resources, and has a favorable climate, which is expected to make it a prosperous nation. The Oregon Argus.

The Oregon Argus.

A correspondent of the Tribune says—The Confederate Congress has adopted a resolution expressing their appreciation of the services rendered by the late General Lee, who has been killed in battle. The resolution is as follows: "The Confederate Congress, in the name of the people of the Confederate States of America, hereby express their gratitude to General Lee, for his services in the war, and their admiration of his patriotism and courage. He has done his duty, and is gone to his reward. May his memory be a perpetual monument to the valor of the South." The Oregon Argus.

The Oregon Argus.

A correspondent of the Tribune says—The President of the United States has issued a proclamation declaring a national fast on the 23d of April, in memory of the late General Lee. The proclamation reads as follows: "The President of the United States, in the name of the people of the United States, do hereby proclaim a fast on the 23d of April, in memory of the late General Lee. May his memory be a perpetual monument to the valor of the South. Amen." The Oregon Argus.

The Oregon Argus.