

An officer of the Massachusetts... writes from New Orleans as follows: "Last night the officer of the guard at the St. Charles was accosted by a gentleman whom he found to be Boulogne, one of the last Representatives whom Louisiana sent to Congress, and who held out for the Union long after his State seceded. Since that time that man has fought no less than seven duels—nearly one a month—solely on account of his Union sentiments. He is now a maimed man, his left hand shattered and paralyzed, and one or both of his feet injured. That is literally "standing up for the Union," and he says he is still as strong a Union man as ever. All honor to him and all like him! May they be many."

Soap.—Some time since, we received through Messrs. Charman, Warner & Co. a box of soap from the manufactory of W. B. Mead & Co., Portland, and after trial we feel free to recommend the same quality to those who wish a good article. Patronize home industry, has always been good American doctrine, but unfortunately too little acted upon. The factory of W. B. Mead & Co. is ready to furnish the country with an excellent article of soap for household purposes.

We are indebted to Chester N. Terry, Esq., Corresponding Sec'y of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, for a copy of the premium list for second annual fair.

We are under obligations to Senator Nesmith for valuable public documents, with which he has favored us from time to time.

The editor of the Richmond (Va.) Whig confesses that, whenever he sees it announced that the whole Federal army has been annihilated, he feels very sure of hearing of a great Confederate defeat the next day.

Notice.—A J. CHAPMAN, late of the Island and Premium Flouring Mills, is again on hand, and would say to Mill proprietors that he will be found at Oregon City for three months, if any one wishes his services. July 26, 1862.

Music.—Having opened a school in this city for teaching VIOLIN and VOCAL MUSIC, and also giving lessons in the GERMANY and FRENCH LANGUAGES, I respectfully solicit the patronage of the public. Private lessons in either branch will be given, if desired. Terms reasonable. Inquire at the Oregon House, of J. S. MOMMERS. July 19, 1862.

Dentistry.—Dr. D. D. STEPHENSON will be in town two weeks, during which time those who want his services will please call on him. Office at his residence.

Wm. B. PASTOR has opened a stand for what was lately the Barber shop, where he keeps on hand and for sale every variety of vegetables, besides fruits, flour, &c., &c., and respectfully asks a share of the patronage of the public.

San Francisco, April 28, 1862. Messrs. REDINGTON & CO.

I take pleasure in informing you that I have been using your excellent Yeast Powders for some time, and unhesitatingly pronounce them unequalled by any similar preparation that I have examined. Every housekeeper may rely upon it, that when used according to directions they never fail to produce that most desirable of all articles of food, good, sweet, and nutritious bread.—Having now proved how superior they are to all others, I could not on account be without them. May 17, 1862. Mrs. N. MILLS.
