

Details of Eastern News.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The President yesterday went by special steambath to Aquia Creek, where he was met by Gen. Burnside. He returned this morning.

Nashville, Nov. 26.—Considerable bodies of cavalry have been hovering about our front. They were driven off by Col. Kennell's cavalry yesterday. The weight of military opinion continues favorable to the view that no great battle will be fought in this vicinity.

A body of 1,800 rebels who were at Nolinsville, retired to Murfreesboro last night. The rebels at that point are said to number 16,000, under Breckinridge, Cheatham, and Withers. Backer's corps is at and around Normandy. Hardee and Polk are posted from Tallahoma to Winchester. Gen. Negley estimates the enemy in Middle Tennessee to be 50,000 strong. Other testimony fixes their number at 40,000.

New Orleans, Nov. 15.—Gen. Butler has issued orders that the property within the district recently possessed by our forces under Weitzel, is to be known as the Lafourche District, sequestered. All sales and transfers of it are forbidden. This district comprises all the territory of Louisiana lying west of the Mississippi, except Plaquemines, Jefferson Parish, and a commission is appointed to take possession of the district. The plantations are to be worked by the owners. All property belonging to disloyal persons will be invariably sold for the benefit of the Government, under the President's Confiscation Act.

Another order by Gen. Butler suppresses distilleries and other manufactories of strong drinks. Another order announces that any officers found drinking intoxicating liquor in any of the public drinking places, will be recommended to the President for dismissal from service. Among the property confiscated as above noted is Gen. Bragg's plantation.

FOREIGN. Nov. 15.—The English Government dis- sented from the French proposition for mediation in American affairs. The London Gazette publishes Earl Russell's official reply, dated October 30th. It recapitulates the circular of De L'Haye, proposing mediation; recognizes the humane views and benevolent intentions of the Emperor, but observes that the concurrence of Russia would be expressly desirable; but up to the present time the Russian Government has not agreed to co-operate, although it may support the policy of England and France.

The London Morning Herald bitterly denounces the non-intervention policy of the British Government, and says Earl Russell's dispatch mocks the hopes and mortifies the sufferings of half a million of starving laboring men. The Herald then charges the British Cabinet with dastardly submission, in hopes to retain the Parliamentary support of the Bright and Golden party.

The Daily News thinks Russell's answer the best that could have been made, without entering unnecessarily upon a discussion of the merits of the case, and rejoices at having escaped from entangling diplomatic associations with France.

A movement is on foot for despatching two or three ship loads of provisions to England, for the relief of the starving operatives in Lancashire. Eminent shipping men and merchants have taken the matter in hand. It is proposed to subscribe a sufficient amount and send one vessel immediately.

The question, "What shall be done with the blacks?" is beginning to answer itself. It is reported from New Orleans that recently a "delegation" of slaves from the plantation of a Mr. Mansell White, one of the oldest and wealthiest planters in a river county below New Orleans, applied to Gen. Shepley for advice, in his character as Military Governor of the State. The correspondent of the New York Times says:

"These men informed the General that they came for freedom; they said their fellow servants in other places were all leaving their masters, and that they wished also to improve their condition, but that it was not clear to their minds how was the best way to do so. They emphatically said, however, that they did not intend to labor much, if they could help it, without remuneration, and they concluded their requests and protests by asking that if they remain peacefully at home, they might have fair wages secured to them for their services. Gen. Shepley treated the matter with great consideration, and after conferring with Gen. Butler, permission was granted to these men to make terms with their master, who consented to have a partner in the transaction, and these men have gone to work, not as slaves, but as hired men."

THE BRITISH REPUBLICANS.—A family can have no more wholesome books on their table than the four Reviews, the London Quarterly, the Westminster, the Edinburgh, the North British, and Blackwood's monthly. These give the cream of all sound literature, with able discussions on all public topics. It may be remarked that this class of literature has signally improved in the last few years, both in tone and quality, and reviewing really takes rank as a science.

We do certainly recommend to our readers these publications of Scott & Co., as worthy of a place in their families. And as the volumes of all commence with January, 1863, that would be a good time to date from. The terms are as follows, viz—

Per ann. For any one of the four Reviews, $3 00 For any two of the four Reviews, 5 00 For any three of the four Reviews, 7 00 For all four of the Reviews, 8 00 For Blackwood's Magazine, 3 00 For Blackwood and three Reviews, 9 00 For Blackwood and the four Reviews, 10 00

A Birdling's Evening Twilight Aspirations. (Such are generally asleep in the morning twilight.)

Come some bard of the olden time, And teach my numbers how to flow, Ill-formed, unmetrical, They will not rhyme, O, no.

Would that Homer or Milton's muse Might teach the lyre to tune anew, My tongue but dissonant brings, The notes are all untrue.

Have I not too the gift divine, And feel I not it stir my soul? Why will no strains sublime Then with my stanzas roll!

My wishes grant, ye much-sought Nine, I to Parnassus' heights would soar; What if undug my wings, No have been birds' before.

Who, though with laurel never crowned, Yet to their friends seemed very green, And were by rhyming saved From maddest words, I ween.

TEMPERANCE PLEDGE.—The following pledge has been handed us for publication. It has been signed by quite a number in town:

We, the undersigned, do agree that we will not use intoxicating liquors as a beverage, or traffic in them; that we will not provide them as an article of entertainment, or for persons in our employment; and that, in all suitable ways, we will discourage their use throughout the community.

At a regular meeting of Dallas Division No. 20 S. of T. the following preamble and resolutions, were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his wisdom, to suddenly remove from our midst, our beloved Brother Samuel Teal; Therefore,

Resolved, That we appreciate his labors among us in the great cause of Temperance, in which we all engaged; and that we sincerely deplore his loss, and will imitate his virtues.

Resolved, That we tender to his friends our sympathies in their bereavement.

What beautiful thought that word suggests, As deep in the mind it makes its impress; United two hearts, one purpose, one aim, In joy or sorrow the union's the same.

United the household in bonds of true love, Oh! 'tis a taste of the joys above, What joy on earth could we possess If we lacked the mainpring of happiness.

And that is our Union, undivided, complete, Teeming with freedom and liberty sweet; Then seek not to destroy it, ye rebellious of heart, For never again may you share the same part.

You shared with the loyal, the true, and the brave, Some of whom for your sin now lie in the grave. United we stand, divided we fall; Oh! what a watchword for each and for all.

For years our Union so proudly has stood, But now she is bathed in her own children's blood; But the hotter the flame, the purer the ore; And so with our Union when this struggle is o'er.

Why should not every man, woman, and child who has any degree of the system, caused by an impure state of the blood, have recourse to SCOVILLE'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP, that best of all purifiers?

Suffer no more, ye afflicted, but restore your health by using SCOVILLE'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP. It never fails to produce beneficial effects. REMONSON & Co., Agents, 416 and 418 Front st., San Francisco.

ANY ONE who professes to understand all the trades or sciences, assumes to impose an absurdity upon the public. On the same principle, any one medicine which professes to cure all diseases is unworthy the slightest confidence, and should at once be denounced as a quack nostrum.

The Graefenberg Family Medicines do not assume to cure all diseases with one remedy. They have eleven different medicines, each adapted to its peculiar disease, and time has proved the efficacy and certainty of these preparations. Their list comprises the following medicines:

Graefenberg Vegetable Pills; Marshall's Uterine Cathartic; Graefenberg Sarsaparilla; Graefenberg Pile Remedy; Graefenberg Dysentery Syrup; Green Mountain Ointment; Graefenberg Children's Panacea; Graefenberg Consumptive's Balm; Graefenberg Eye Lotion; Graefenberg Freer and Aque Remedy; Graefenberg Health Bitters; Graefenberg Manual of Health.
