

DROWNED.—Capt. Welles, formerly a steam-boat man on the Willamette river, and Mr. Clymer of Albany, a son-in-law to Gabriel Johnson of Multnomah county, were drowned, on Shoal Water Bay, W. T., a few days ago. Mr. Clymer, who was on his way to Steilacoom to visit a brother, left Oysterville to cross the Bay in a boat with Capt. Welles. They intended to land at Capt. Welles' ranch, on the north side of the Bay, near the Light-House, distant from Oysterville about fifteen miles. The dangers of navigating Shoal Water Bay, with its shoals and sand-spits, its broad mouth exposing it to the heavy south west winds from the ocean, its heavy breaks and stormy tides, make it a hazardous undertaking to embark upon it in bad weather in the winter in a good boat, with a skillful boatman, without any liquor on board. The mail boat, in which these two gentlemen left Oysterville, was one of the best and safest in the bay, but is supposed to have struck a sand-spit, and been capsized by the heavy swells. The hat of Capt. Welles, which drifted on the beach near his residence, is the only evidence we have yet had of the loss of these men, as nothing at last accounted for been seen of them or the boat. Both left families to mourn their loss. Mr. Clymer, we are told, had about six hundred dollars in gold on his person.
