

THE DRAFT IN THE NORTHERN PART OF NEW YORK.—The draft for the Sixteenth Congressional District, including Clinton, Essex, and Warren counties, was made at Plattsburg on the 7th instant, by George Clendon, Jr., Provost Marshal. The conscripts were all served with their "Tickets of Leave" on Saturday and Monday, and with hardly an exception, responded cheerfully to the call thus made upon their patriotism, being quite as good humored and jocular about the prices they had drawn as their more fortunate neighbors, who indulged in general witticisms at their expense.

In some towns the billets dox of the Provost Marshal fell "as thick as leaves in Vallambrosa," but there was a general acquiescence in the necessity for the draft, and no complaint was made that it had not been conducted fairly. In the village of Schroon, Essex county, out of ninety-three names enrolled by the enrolling officer, 33 were conscripted. In Minerva, Crown Point, Port Henry, and other large towns, the draft fell with similar heaviness, taking, for example, 22 men from one creel in the Adirondack.

In Glens Falls, 255 men were drafted, including the cashier of the Glens Falls Bank, and the editor of the "Copperhead" evening nine journal in that place. In Chester, Warren county, the draft happened to strike several leading Copperheads. The conscripts were all furnished with transportation to Plattsburg, the place of rendezvous, where they will be assembled before the 15th instant. Drafting also commenced yesterday in Fort Edward and other towns in the Fifteenth Congressional District, of which Charles Hughes, ex-member of Congress, is the Provost Marshal. The citizens accepted the draft quite as a matter of course, and made no complaint. The Ticket Agent at Fort Edward has recently sold a large number of tickets to temporary residents, mostly laborers, whom he thinks are bound to Canada.

Several of the conscripts, learning that they had been drafted, immediately enlisted, in order to secure the bounty. — N. Y. Tribune, July 15th.

PARTICULARS OF THE SURRENDER OF PORT HUDSON.—We have at length some particulars of the capitulation of Port Hudson. On the evening of July 7th, Gen. Gardner sent out a flag of truce; he had heard of the capitulation of Vicksburg, and desired Gen. Banks to give him such information as he might have concerning the truth or falsity of the rumor. Gen. Banks sent him a copy of Gen. Grant's dispatch, giving the full particulars of the capitulation of Vicksburg. Gen. Gardner then expressed his willingness to surrender upon the same terms. General Banks declined, and announced that he would accept nothing but an unconditional surrender.

Disheartened and discouraged by the news he had received, Gen. Gardner surrendered his forces unconditionally on the morning of July 8th. The garrison consisted of 6,000 effective men, in excellent condition. There were 60 pieces of artillery in the various batteries along the river and in the rear, many of them of very large calibre. The magazine contained an abundant supply of powder, but a small quantity of shot and shell. There was no beef in possession of the rebels at the time of the surrender. The flesh of mules had been dealt out for some time—short rations—to supply the want of beef. There were quite a number of mules inside the rebel works, and an abundance of corn, sufficient to have lasted the garrison a week longer.

GREAT TELEGRAPHIC FEAT.—The London News publishes the following: "The following messages, one of which left San Francisco June 24, 20 minutes past 9 o'clock, p. m., were brought by the China, which sailed from New York on the morning of the 31st, and arrived at Queenstown last night. The substance of these messages was dispatched to St. Petersburg this morning (13th). These messages have been sent from San Francisco, on the Pacific, to St. Petersburg, on the Neva, in ten days and a half, nine and a half of which were consumed traversing the Atlantic by steamer.

The messages demonstrate that when the Atlantic cable is successfully laid, St. Petersburg and the great telegraphic system of Russia, reaching almost to the frontiers of China, will be able to communicate with San Francisco and the British possessions on the Pacific within twenty-four hours. — C. F. Varley.

THE DROUGHT IN THE WEST.—The drought in Minnesota is terrible. For six weeks there has been no rain. Spring wheat is every where shriveled and yellowed by the burning sun, and is prematurely heading out a few inches above the desiccated soil. Grass on the prairies is parched to an autumnal hue. Indian corn, alone, holds up its head against the drought, and has a vigorous and thrifty look. Winter wheat also looks well. The rivers are lower than ever known before. Even the wells are getting dry. The same drought extends throughout Iowa and over the whole region west of Missouri. So intense has it been in Minnesota that Gen. Sibley's expedition cannot move. The country between Fort Abernethy and Pembina has been burned over by prairie fires, and it would be impossible to subvert animals, or find sufficient water for an emigrant train.

A LOYAL WOMAN.—The Alta says: "One of the proudest instances of true, loyal, disinterested patriotism we have ever heard of, recently occurred in Marysville. A married lady of that city was about starting for the Atlantic States, contemplating a visit to her native place in Maine, when she learned that her father was Copperhead. The information came direct from headquarters, and the daughter refused to go East until fully satisfied on the subject. So she wrote to her father, who replied that he did favor the cause of the South. The Union daughter of the rebel sire is still in Marysville, and utterly refuses to visit the place of her nativity.

George E. Cole	1,572
J. O. Raynor	1,287
L. J. S. Turner	98
L. C. Kinney	17

—Chicago, which was lately claimed by the Copperheads, gave a Union majority of over 600, at a recent special election for Circuit Judge. E. S. Williams, the Union nominee, received about 2,000 majority in the whole district.

The Capacity of Generals.
EDUCER CITY, AUG. 21, 1863.
ED. ARBUTHNOT: It is very common to hear men talking and speculating on what they are pleased to term the capacity of Generals; and it is in any degree capable of commanding our armies, and wishing we had a Washington, a Taylor, or even a Scott. These glib talkers certainly regard the magnitude of our military force, when compared with any previous military ever marshalled on the American Continent. — Why, the finest army that Washington ever saw in his long and noble life would hardly make a picket guard for Meade's army. That Washington did masterly, and in his day, unparalleled fighting, none can deny, nor wish to deny. But to contend that he ever did either such marching or fighting as has been done by our armies is as preposterous as to compare his military force with ours; and more, Washington fought foreign hirelings, men who had no interest at stake other than their wages, while we are fighting Americans, men who know what they are doing, and who have a purpose. To argue that there is not a genius now capable of controlling our affairs is to deny the agency of a great and all-wise God, for it is perfectly self-evident to my mind that there is a superlative intelligence (and I verily believe there is) that intelligence shapes the destiny of nations, and that there will ever be the necessary agents, or instruments, by and through which any great and needed work of reformation or civilization can be performed. And that the American nation is now passing through a fiery trial of reformation from the greatest and most hideous wrong ever committed by a people who pretended to be civilized. — As the ordeal through which we are now passing is the most trying to which man has been subjected, we require a greater military and administrative genius than the nation has yet known, and I contend that no such genius has yet been displayed as is now daily being developed by our leaders. The remark is often made that Gen. Lee, of the rebel army, is the General of the age. This is false. That Lee is a good general none can or will dispute, but that he is better than many of our generals is positively untrue. We have never met Lee on fair or half fair ground but we have defeated him. It does not require any extraordinary amount of military skill to repulse an army of equal number, when the one is entrenched and fully prepared, and the other is on open and exposed ground making the attack, and Lee has always been entrenched when he was even partially successful. The National armies are fighting under a disadvantage of about four to one, being compelled to invade the enemy's country and there attack and take their strongholds. I do hope that men who are either too heedless to care, or not posted on the great importance of rendering every possible aid to our country, will stop their eternal clamor about the "inecapacity of our general."

Future historians will record our general as far in advance of any previous ones as is their work greater than that of any previous age. — Ce Empe.

THE FIGHTING METHODIST.—The 24th Iowa regiment, called the Methodist regiment, was in the terrible conflict at Vicksburg, on 22d May. The colonel and several of the captains are Methodist preachers, and a majority of the soldiers are members of the Methodist church. — They did some of the best fighting of the day. They went into the battle full of enthusiasm, and not one of them flinched during the engagement. Their major was wounded late in the day, and while walking from the field, and on his way to the hospital, captured a stalwart rebel and compelled him to carry him on his back to the Provost Marshal's headquarters. — A correspondent says it was a laughable sight to see Major Wright riding his captive into camp. The casualty list of the Methodists is very large, and shows that they stood up to the work like true soldiers. On returning from the battlefield in the evening, they held a religious meeting, at which the exercises were very impressive.

NO OPPOSITION BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND NEW YORK UNTIL OCTOBER 30.—The People's Opposition Steamship Line via Nicaragua, give notice under date of August 1st that no steamer will be dispatched by this line till the 31st of October. In the meantime the steamer Moses Taylor will be thoroughly overhauled, repainted, and re-fitted throughout, her staterooms enlarged and decks extended both forward and aft, thus affording increased accommodations for the comfort of the traveling public, and making her unequalled by any steamer on this coast. The Central American Transit Company have their arrangements perfected for increased facilities for the transportation of both freight and passengers across Nicaragua.

THE TRAITOR'S RECORD.—It is contemplated to publish a weekly record of the names of all the unconstitutional peace men and secession sympathizers in the North, to be compiled subsequently in alphabetical order for easy reference, after the war for the Union is over. The loyal people of the North intend that the present infamous pro-secession and monarchial rebellion shall be put down, and they will want some handy means of knowing when the country is restored to peace and prosperity through the extripation of the rebels, who the home traitors were. The first number of this important record will probably be issued soon. — Wilkes' Spirit.

THEIR NATURE.—When the rebels entered Pennsylvania, numerous copperheads volunteered to show them where to find the horses of the Union men. In so doing they manifested their real nature and the strength of their love for the "Constitution as it is." The right to help rebels find the horses of Union men is undoubtedly one of the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, and is therefore "reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

ARKENT OF THE DAYTON INDEMNITY.—Stockton, who set the office of the Dayton (O.) Journal on fire, on the occasion of the arrest of Vallandigham, was arrested at the Spencer House, in Indianapolis, lately. He was handcuffed, and immediately burst into a passion of weeping, acknowledging his guilt. On him were found letters from Vallandigham and other Ohio traitors. He said that his brother and other persons had agreed to stand by him in this matter, but that they had falsified their word.
