The State Republican, 1862-03-20

TO THE EDITOR—A few days ago the Steamer City returned to this place, taking the Venetian Telegraph to the bench being rather imminent with the idea of leaving tomorrow for St. Louis. We understand that only one or two of the officers of the Telegraph have arrived here, and that the principal agent, Mr. A. B. H. D. HD., is in St. Louis, where the papers will be printed and shipped to this place in order to reach us in time to be published.

Our first impression is that the Telegraph will tell us the events in a much more accurate and correct manner than any other medium of communication. We must see that the paper is published and read, for it will undoubtedly give us more information than any other source of information.

It is a matter of some interest to note that the Telegraph will be printed on the same paper as the Steamer City, the printer being the same. The Telegraph will be published weekly, and will contain news from various parts of the country.

The Telegraph will be published at the Steamer City, and will be available for sale at the Steamer City office. The price of the Telegraph will be $1 per year.

In conclusion, we wish to express our hope that the Telegraph will be a success, and that it will continue to publish news in a correct and accurate manner.

Yours truly,

[Signatures]

LATEST EDITIONS.

Thursday, May 5—A copy of the New York Times is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Friday, May 6—A copy of the New York Herald is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Saturday, May 7—A copy of the New York Tribune is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Sunday, May 8—A copy of the New York Daily News is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Monday, May 9—A copy of the New York Sun is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Tuesday, May 10—A copy of the New York Post is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Wednesday, May 11—A copy of the New York American is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Thursday, May 12—A copy of the New York Evening Post is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Friday, May 13—A copy of the New York Evening Star is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Saturday, May 14—A copy of the New York Daily Independent is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Sunday, May 15—A copy of the New York Daily Times is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Monday, May 16—A copy of the New York Commercial Advertiser is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Tuesday, May 17—A copy of the New York Tribune is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Wednesday, May 18—A copy of the New York Daily Mercury is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Thursday, May 19—A copy of the New York Daily News is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Friday, May 20—A copy of the New York Daily Post is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Saturday, May 21—A copy of the New York Daily American is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Sunday, May 22—A copy of the New York Daily Sun is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Monday, May 23—A copy of the New York Daily Evening Post is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Tuesday, May 24—A copy of the New York Daily Star is published on this day, containing many important news items.

Wednesday, May 25—A copy of the New York Daily Independent is published on this day, containing many important news items.