

large force of rebels and capturing the Captain. Cairo, June 5.—The bombardment of Fort Wright was again commenced on the morning of the 3d, and continued all day. It was renewed again yesterday morning, and was going on at the time the steamer left. The rebels occasionally replied. Their shells were accurately aimed but have failed thus far to do any damage.

A party of guerrillas came down from Hickman, Ky., and gave themselves up, and said they were tired of serving Jeff Davis, and anxious to return to their allegiance to the Federal Government.

New York, June 4.—The steamer Philadelphia, from Pensacola on the 25th, and Key West on the 30th, has arrived. General Arnold and the troops still occupy Pensacola. A quantity of stores have been moved from Fort Pickens to that place. Rebel deserters were constantly coming in. They represented that there was great destitution among the poorer classes. Gen. Arnold was feeding them. About 800 rebel cavalry still remained in the vicinity, who occasionally capture some of our pickets. The Navy Yard was completely destroyed. Six thousand tons of coal were still burning.

Pocahontas, Ark., June 5.—A rebel gunboat came to Jacksonville yesterday and destroyed all the cotton and sugar there. For a time there was much excitement at this place, as it was reported that she was coming here. We have since learned that she returned down the river, destroying all the cotton and sugar she could find.

Congressional.

Washington, May 26.—In the House an amendment to the Confiscation bill, that the property of all persons who have accepted office under the Confederate Government, since the date of the pretended ordinance of secession, or taken the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government, or now or hereafter holding office in the Confederate States, should be confiscated, was adopted. The bill was passed 82 to 62. Slaves are not confiscated by this bill, an amendment giving freedom to them received only 32 votes.

June 3.—F. F. Low was qualified and took his seat as Representative from California in the House to-day.

The House bill punishing polygamy in the Territories in the United States, and annulling certain Acts of the Territory of Utah, passed the Senate to-day—37 to 2—Latham and McDougal voting no.

June 4.—The Senate passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for raising sunken vessels for the use of the Navy.

The bill recognizing Hayti and Liberia, passed the House, 86 to 37.

The polygamy bill imposes a penalty of $500 and imprisonment for not less than five years.

June 5.—The vote by which the Emancipation bill was rejected last week was reconsidered yesterday, and the bill and certain amendments proposed were referred to the Select Committee on Confiscation. They will be reported back for action in the House in a few days.

St. Louis, June 5.—In a skirmish a few days since, in Southwest Missouri, between four hundred guerrillas and one hundred and fifty State militia, the latter were defeated. Col. Richardson was mortally wounded, and sixty Federals were taken prisoners.

Washington, June 5.—No dispatch has been received to-day from the Army of the Potomac, the military telegraph between Fortress Monroe and headquarters being down.

No intelligence of public interest has been received from the valley of the Shenandoah. The rise in the Shenandoah river embarrases military movements.

Chicago, June 5.—A dispatch from Halleck says: A man who left Grand Junction, Tenn., on the morning of the 4th, reports that Memphis and Fort Wright had surrendered to our forces. [Doubtful.]

Louisville, June 5.—A dispatch from the army at Corinth says: After the evacuation, several regiments from Mississippi disbanded and went home.

A sudden overflow of the Delaware and Libbig rivers is causing considerable damage in Pennsylvania.

Chicago, June 5.—The New York Times' account of the battle before Richmond says but eight pieces of artillery were lost, including a battery of 12-pounders. The telegraph probably made an error in reporting the loss as "twelve batteries."

THOSE LOVELY FLOWERS.—Incomparably the finest treat we have received this season, is that exquisite vase of flowers, for which we are indebted to the kindness of Mrs. Dr. Hanchett. We truly pity the soul that is not thrilled with poetic emotion on becoming the possessor of such a rich and tastefully arranged group of those "dear emblems of immortality."

Oh, let this vase of odors lay,
With beauty crowned on learning's shrine,
So sweet that love comes every day
To banquet on its breath divine.
Being weary of love, I flow to the grove,
And there sit a tree of the forest;
Saying "Pretty Rose Tree,
Thou my mistress shalt be,
And I'll worship each bud thou bearest—
For the hearts of this world are hollow;
And fickle the smiles we follow;
And 'tis sweet when all their witcheries pall
To have a pure love to fly to—
So, my pretty Rose Tree,
Thou my mistress shalt be,
And the only one I shall sigh to."
—Thomas Moore.

POLYGAMY.—We see by the telegraphic dispatches that the bill to punish polygamy in the Territories has become a law. We are not well assured as to the expediency of this law, yet we do not hesitate to admit its justness. Its object is a good one; to purge the disgusting and barbarian custom from Utah, where it is shamelessly practiced by a large portion of the community, but its enforcement we fear will be very difficult, and in many instances it will at once become a mere dead letter. For this custom it seems to us interwoven with the Mormon's religious doctrines—which embody a large portion of the superstitions of the past ages interblended with the fanaticisms of the present age—that it will stir up their religious frenzy and make them seek for "martyrdom" in the violation of law.

"CONFISCATION."—It is a matter of some surprise that many citizens and even members of Congress, should oppose a measure that is designed to so completely cripple the rebellion as the proposed confiscation bill, especially when we consider that it is not in any particular exceeding the usual manner of civil warfare. It will be hard to admit that it is right and just to shoot the rebels and yet argue that it would be wrong to take their property to pay the expenses incurred by their bloody rebellion.

The National Republican, in a criticism on an article in the Baltimore American, makes the following sensible remarks:

The question of the confiscation of the property of the leaders of the rebellion, now pending in Congress, involves the whole question whether any penalty shall be exacted for their crimes. It is idle folly to talk of hanging them, if propositions to deprive them of their estates are defeated by puerile whining over the consequences to their families. If humanity will not permit their reduction to poverty, still less will it permit their imprisonment, or their capital execution. Liberty and life are of more value than property, and if there is not vigor enough in the Government to deprive the leaders of the rebellion of their land and chattels, nothing remains but an indiscriminate amnesty.

This question whether a false clemency is to step in between these leaders and offended justice and this horrible nightmare of attempted revolution be thus treated as but a harmless game for power, is not to be settled in an indefinite future but here and now, before the present session of Congress terminates, and upon the bills for the confiscation of the property of those who shall persist in deceiving, wronging and sending to bloody graves those who can be duped into supporting their mad and wicked attempt to overthrow the purest and best Government on earth. If Congress sets the example of a false clemency, nobody can expect that the President will not follow it. If Congress is too tender to take property, would it not, in fact, be in contravention of the public will, as expressed through its legislative representation, for the President to take life?

DR. FREDONTER.—We see by California exchanges that A. Fredonter who practiced medicine in this place a short time in 1859, has been sentenced to six years imprisonment at San Quentin for an attempted outrage on his own daughter. It is thought to be a trick of the secessionists to persecute the Doctor, who has always been an uncompromising enemy to secessionism. His case is appealed to the Supreme Court.

THE ROUTE OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD, as provided for by the bill that has passed the House, runs gradually directly north and west from St. Joseph to the Southwest Pass, near the forty-third parallel, and thence deflects southwest to Great Salt Lake, from which point it describes a circular course in a northerly direction and enters California above Sacramento.

BROOKLYN HOTEL SAN FRANCISCO.—This Hotel situated on Broadway in commanding view and in sight of the landing of river boats—has an unequal popularity under the ownership of that Prince of Hosts John Kelley Jr. J. Miners, farmers, and travelers generally will find this a pleasant and agreeable House. See advertisement in another column.

MUSEUM! MUSEUM!

AN INSTITUTION is being formed in this place to be exclusively devoted to the advancement of science in this country, and especially of the physical or natural sciences—which requires, as a basis, a MUSEUM, or collection of specimens in the various departments, such as Botany, Geology, Zoology, Oology, etc. In order that all persons are invited to assist by collecting and sending us such specimens as they may be able to obtain.

Skins of all kinds of animals, wanted, whether common or rare, whether feathery or hairy. If person do not wish to spend their time in removing the skin, send us the bird or animal as it is, with its feet, claws, and tail. In skinning, the bones of the head and legs should be left, after dissecting the skin sufficiently to remove the flesh, eyes, etc. As the skull is also a fair index to the structure, nature and habits of animals, a collection of them, of all kinds, whether they be of things which walk, crawl, fly or swim, are wanted. Entire skeletons would be preferred.

10 BUSHELS of birds eggs wanted, this coming spring and summer, to assist in the perfection and study of the new science of Oology—eggs of even the most common kinds of birds. A description of the nest, its position and structure, also of the kind of bird which laid them, when it lays its eggs, are necessary, and should be accompanied by the head and wing of the bird.

Roots of all kinds wanted, especially those containing fossils, the different kinds of metals, etc.

Plants of all kinds, with their flowers, collected and preserved in herbariums, whether described or not, are also wanted.

Those interested in the progress of science in this country will find this a favorable opportunity for rendering their assistance; and to the young especially, we would say, you cannot engage in a more interesting and laudable enterprise than making collections of the desired specimens.

Specimens of all kinds designed for the Museum may be left at the office of the STATE REPUBLICAN, and all addresses should be to HENRY CUMMINS, Eugene City, Oregon.
