As the sweet flower that seems the morn,
But withers in the rising day.—
Thus lovely seems the infant's early dawn;
Thus swiftly ded his life away.
Ere sin could blight, or sorrow fade,
Death timely came with friendly care;
The opening bud to heaven e inveyed,
Ana make it bloom leaver there.

Dust, to its narrow home beneath; Soul, to its place on high! They that have seen thy look in death, No more may fear to die.

Path nonrest A January 17th, 1882.

To the Editors of the Paritic Medical Journal—Gentlemen: My attention has been called to an article in the December marker of your journal, in regard to the all curden degree granted by the Philadelphia College of Medicine to Dr. L. J. Canskay. When the application for the degree was made to the faculty, it was accompanied by atlidax its and restimentals to the effect that Dr. Czapkay, was a regular graduate M. D. of the University of Pesth, had served as a surgeon in the Hongarian army, and was a regular practitioner of medicine. On the strength of these the degree was granted. The ad-emident degree, as its mane implies, is conferred on graduates only, and gives as new privileges. Had there been the slightest suspicion of tree gularity, the application would have been refused. Be inserting this in your journal you will do an act of justice to the college, and confer a favor on,

Yours, very respectfully. H. RAND,
