Dr. L. J. Czaptay .-- We would direct the especial at tention of invalids to a perusal of Dr. L. J. Craphay's adver-tisoment, to be found in another column of this paper, in or-der to place the acroices of a learned and experienced physidan within their reach. So much ill has been inflicted on the bounds family from the pernicious and ignorant practices of empirics, that it seems as if we were fainling a bounden duty to make known where relief can be obtained. To these unfortunate enough to suffer from the effects of sexual or private diseases, or their iff treatment, we cheerfully commend Dr. J. Czapkay as a man of rare scientific and medical acquirements, possessing all the requisites, from long experience and acknowledged skill, for the successful practice of his profession. Having made sexual complaints an especial study, like the celebrated Ricord, of Paris, he is enabled to guarantee a permanent and speedy cure in all cares of private or chronte diseases, whether the effects of contagion, self-abuse, or loss of virility; and in order that patients at a distance may avail themselves of his advice, free consultation is open to them. The knowledge that we have of the numerous cures he has effected, some of which were of long standing, leads us to place much faith in Dr. C.'s efficacy, and commend him to the confidence of those in fill health. Dr. Crapkay's office is on Sacramento street, below Montgomery, nearly opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co's Office, San Francisco.

It is made from the best barley that can be selected in Europe, with the essence of an aromatic Italian berry of acknowledged and extraordinary medicinal properties. It has long since acquired a bigher reputation, both in Europe and America, than any other diuretic beverage.

Analyzed, it is a perfectly furr liquon, in its effects a mild and wholesome tome. It is extensively used and approved by the medical faculty, the temperance people, heads of families, &c.

In Gravel, Gout, and Rheumatism, the obstructions of the bladder and kidneys, and in general debility, its effects are prompt, decided and invariably reliable; and it is not only a remedy for these maladies, but in all cases in which they are produced by drinking bad water, which is almost universally the cause of them, it acts as a sure preventative.

For Fever and Ague it is one of the most efficacious preventives that can be resorted to.

as well as by many in every community, where it has become known, on account of its various other remedial properties.

In all cases of a dropsical tendency, it is generally the only remedy required, when adopted in the early stage of the disease.

In dyspepsia maladies, when taken in proper quantities, as a diet drink, and especially at dinner, it is found by uniform experience to be eminently efficacious in the most obstimate cases, when even the best of the usual remedies have failed to afford more than temporary relief. In cases of flatulency, it is an immediate and invariable specific, and it may be administered in diluted and proportionate quantities, even to young infants, in all those paroxysms of griping pain in the stomach and bowels to which they are especially subject, as well as the cholic of grown persons.

Its judicious adoption in connection with the principal meals, or when a sense of exhaustion dictates its use, never fails to relieve the debility attendant upon protracted chronic maladies, low temperament and exhausted vital energy, by whatever cause induced.—

These are facts to which many of the most eminent medical men, both in England and the United States, have borne testimony, and which are corroborated by the highest written authorities.
