

THE LIGHT HOUSE BY THE SEA.

On the brow of the beetling crag, high, Stands the grim old tower, Watching the sweet-faced stars go by,
A golden ball upon the sky.

Thickly the tresses, green and grey,
Of the sea-weed, hid his feet;
And the voices of children stray Up and down the cliff.

Open their jaws, on the yellow bars,
And the spray foams in crystal air,
And the winds howl fierce anathemas,
High on its granite throne.

Open their jaws, on the yellow bars,
And the spray foams in crystal air,
And the winds howl fierce anathemas,
High on its granite throne.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:— On receipt of the returns of the admission of the State into the Union, I deemed it necessary that the Legislature should be convened.
Acting under the provisions of the Constitution, a proclamation was issued; and I now proceed to respectfully call your attention to some of the measures which will probably demand your attention.

Much business will doubtless press itself upon you—more than was contemplated by the framers of the Constitution should ever come before any called session of the Legislature. The Constitution provides that when the Legislature shall be convened by proclamation, the Governor shall state to both Houses when assembled the purpose for which they shall have been convened. In this case it will be impossible for me to state the purpose for which you are assembled; as the want of the State are many and various; but the measures which present themselves to my mind as demanding your early attention, may be enumerated under a few heads.

It is not for me to decide whether it would have been better to have held the September session for 1858. It would certainly have increased our State debt very much, though most of the business of the present session might have been transacted in September last, by providing for the use of the House—agreed to.
Mr. CORNELIUS moved that the House be informed that the Senate is now in session, and ready to hear from them. Agreed to.
Mr. CORNELIUS moved that the President appoint a committee of two, to act with a like committee of the Senate, to inform the excellency the Governor that the two Houses are now ready to receive any communication he may think proper to make—agreed to,
and Messrs. Cornelius and Bristow appointed said committee.

The committee reported a communication from the Governor, which was read, and 500 copies ordered printed. Adj.
HOUSE—Afternoon.—Mr. HANNAH moved that one hundred copies of the rules be printed for the use of the House—agreed to, with a like committee of the Senate.
Mr. SLATER moved that the Sergeant-at-arms be requested to furnish stationery for the immediate use of the House.

Mr. DRYER moved that a joint committee of two on the part of the House, with a like committee of the Senate, be appointed to wait upon his excellency the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses are now organized, and ready to receive any communication he may think proper to make—agreed to,
and Messrs. Dyer and Burch were appointed on the part of the House.

THE CONTINENTAL DRAFTS.

The continental drafts upon the capital of the people for many of the necessities of life, which are shipped to this country, is being felt by all classes of citizens.

It is true there is no capital brought to the country, except what comes from the mines of our own and neighboring States. And it is equally true that this source fails to keep up the supply for business transactions, under our present system of importing all we consume.
That we might be able to do without the mines of our own and neighboring States, and it is equally true that this source fails to keep up the supply for business transactions, under our
present system of importing all we consume.

LETTER FROM DOUGLASS.

LETTER FROM DOUGLASS.
ROUND PRATER, May 1, 1859.
A. Bush Easton Dear Sir, This question I have asked several times, and received as an answer, he is rather slippery and cannot be trusted. The Lane men seem to be divided on this question. Some are for Gen.
Chapman, and some for Mr. Grover, and some for Mr. N. C. ...
