The Oregon Statesman.

FROM THE REBEL STATES.

(From the Richmond Whig, June 5.)
On account of the scarcity of the prestals, and the demand for exchange (metals, and the demand for exchange or its equivalent, the brokers have again raised the premium for gold. It is now held firmly at $6 premium, selling rate. The brokers offer $54 premium, or $13 in currency for $2 in gold—a fact which illustrates the scarcity of coin, and not the depreciation of our paper money. Silver is 50 cents below the rate of gold.

The War Popular at the North.

The War Popular at the North.

¡From the Eichmond Dispatch, June 5.]

A gentleman of this city, just returned from the manufacturing districts of the North, says the people have no wish to see the war ended. All are making money by contracts, working night and day, and are willing to pay $300 for substitutes out of their profits. Manufacturers make no complaint of their taxes. They do not feel any of the horrors of war, and care nothing about it. Several are engaged largely in making cotton cards and other necessary articles for na, which they ship to Nassan and

The iron on the scaboard railroad, erroneously reported a short time since as having been taken up by Geu. Longstreet's orders, and now being in our possession, has, in the last week, been seized by the Yankees and carried to Suffolk. Steps were taken whilst our army was investing that place which would have secured to us that much needed article had not circumstances rendered it necessary for Gen. Longstreet to withdraw his forces sooner than he pebbably anticipated. It is currently reported here, and generally believed, that the enemy are evacuating Suffolk, or at least about to do so. It is said they are throwing up heavy fortifications eight miles this side of Norfolk, and intend falling back on them. Movements here indicate that the greater part of Gen. Peck's army has been sent to Hooker, and that Leo is aware of it.

Blockade Running.

Blockade running has become a regular bus-less in the South. So great are the facilities iness in the South. So great are the facilities for running merchandise in and out of the Confederacy, and so enormous the profits realized from these ventures, that every one with money to invest wishes to take a hand in the game, and new companies are being established every day with that view. It is, therefore, high time that the attention of our legislators should be given to the subject; it is one which calls for an early and searching investigation.

There can be no earthly doubt that the business of blockade running, as at present conducted, is doing much permanent injury to our circulation; that the morals of our people are anything but benefitted by it, as it panders to their vices, instead of ministering to their real wants, and there is abundant evidence to show that most of the cotton and tobacco which finds its way out goes into the hands of the Yankee speculators, who flood our market in return with their poisonous drugs and trumpery no-tions.

the abuses of the present system, is incalcula-ble, and no time should be lost in devising proper measures for making it what it ought to be, a benefit to us, instead of a positive curse, which it bids fair to become should its present which it bids fair to become should its present operations be allowed to go on much longer unchecked. Nothing can be easier than this trade under such regulations and restrictions as will, to a great extent, prevent our enemies from deriving all its benefits, without the slightest compensating advantage to our people or government. The suicidal "let alone" policy has been tried long enough, and we can all perceive with what results. Let a new and well guarded result be inaugurated as speedily as possible; the statesman by whom such a reform shall be effected will deserve and receive the thanks of the nation.

From New Orleans.

From New Orleans.

The New Orleans papers pay high tributes of respect to Stonewall Jackson.

Persons from New Orleans represent the condition of the city as very gloomy and depressing. It is impossible to estimate the number of old residents who have abandoned the place under the recent order. They were leaving in all directions. Many of them had gone to Havana. There was no business.—The town seemed to be occupied by none but negro soldiers. Banks had concluded to garrison New Orleans with 18,000 negro troops. Banks' tyrauny threatens to be more than Butler's.

Banka tyranny threatens to be more than Dut-ler's.

About six thousand men women and chil-dren have lately been exiled from New Or-leans. Such a scene of wholesale exile has not been witnessed in modern times. It car-ries back the world to harbarous ages, and ex-hibits the Yankee nation in the light of one of the most cruel, unrelenting and brutal of the races of men that have flourished in any age. lyear] STATE STREET, SALEM. Exclusive News.

The old National Intelligencer newspaper office at Washington City has died out, and the office was recently sold at auction.

The Dispatch has a long editorial on the "Duration of the War," and says that "ninetynine out of every hundred Southern people are making up their minds to accept, with fortitude and resignation, war as their natural condition for the remainder of their earthly existence." It closes by saying: "Let us see how long he will want the war to last, when all the horror that the South has witnessed are transferred to Northern soil.

North Carolina and the Rebel Covern-

We fear that the same conflict between the State authorities and the Confederate Government which was witnessed in this State at the session of the last legislature, but which had seemed to die out for some time past, is about to be revived again, not as in the first instance by the direct representatives of the people, but by the action of the judiciary and the executive.

The only housest course for a State composing the Confederacy is to give herself to the non-test now raging or to quit the field at once.—
There can be no divided service compatible either with honor or safety.

But to return to the subject of our comments. It has become the established usage with the judiciary of the State to construct he acts of the Confederate Congress, and in this way to render the operation of a general law dependant upon the individual opinion of the Judges of the States. Probably this evil arises from the want of a Confederate tribunal in a great measure. Not only Judges, but the executives of the several States have become judicial tribunals, and every law of Congress most run the gauntlet of the interpretations of the authorities of the Confederate Government of the Governors of the different States, and of the several Judges of those States.

We have observed, with regret, a recent order of the Governor; by which he commands the officers of the State to resist by force the arrest of any person claimed as a conscript who has once heavy displayed by the decision.

claims of the general government and the rights of the citizen. But he has assumed the position of an avowed advocate of the aupremacy of the State Judges, and has in advance decided all cases against the claims of the Confederate Government.

We look with alarm upon these unsettled and conflicting claims. They present a state of things most grateful to mischief makers of every class; they offer opportunity for disaffection to rapidly undermine the strength and efficiency of the army, and they lead to just such a confusion of rights and uncertainty of duties which have ever tempted the ambittous to grasp at forbidden power, and the people to covet the quiet of despotism rather than enjoy a nominal liberty at the price of eternal alarms.

A public meeting was held in New York in May to protest against the arrest and banishment of Vallandigham, to which Gov. Seymour sent the following letter:
