I had written thus far when I heard the noise of drum and fife, and looking out of my window, saw a band of 15 or 20 old men marching up the street behind an old tattered silk flag. I went out and followed them. They were all soldiers of 1812. The flag they bore was in the battle of Trenton, in 1778. They were members of the Soldiers' Association of 1812, of Harrisburg, and went in a body to tender their services to the Governor. It was an inspiring sight. They were mostly hale, hearty old men, a little feeble and tottering in their walk, but far from having lost their energy or patriotism.— They kept perfect step to the music, and marched up to the Governor's room, where the Captain, in a few appropriate words, announced that they were ready to go into the trenches and fight, and would go farther if required. Not one of these men is less than sixty-eight years of age, and the oldest is seventy six.

MATTERS IN ARIZONA .- A correspondent of the Union writing from Tucson, July 15th, has the following account of mines in Arizona Territory :

I beg leave to make known through your columns the mines that have lately en discovered in this Territory. have just seen some of the gold, and I must say it is the prettiest I ever beheld, being of coarse, pure gold, in pieces ranging from the value of fifty cents to The diggings were discovered by Captain Walker, well known in Upper California. He has been prospecting for two years, and has, in his opinion, found mines to equal those found in California in '49. They lie in about a northwesterly direction from the Pimos Villages, and about 225 miles from this place, in a splendidly watered and timbered country; there is plenty of grass, and it is a good country to locate in. The miners have determined not to allow Sonorians to work, and have established mining laws satisfactory to all white persons desirous to mine. So far as I can learn, there is great wealth to be procured, and they are the best mines in the Territory, or in Sonora. Parties are coming to mine, and with goods, from Santa Fe (N. M.,) and El Paso, Texas. A number of Americans passed through here from Texas a few days ago, en route, and every personresident of this place has dropped everything and gone to the mines. Teamsters, mechanics and laborers have left the Government employ, in high fever.

The news from the Rio Grande is that an extensive expedition is on foot, under Kit Carson's command, against the Navajo Indians. His command will be about a thousand strong. Under date of July 1st, from El Paso, we learn that Lieut. Bargie and two of his Mexican soldiers were killed, and three soldiers wounded on the "Journalle." Lieut. Bargie's head was cut off, his body cut opens his heart taken out, and the flesh cut from his back, by Indians. They murdered the mail rider, Fitzgerald, and then attacked Fort McRea, which was garrisoned by Captain Pheiffers company of Mexican volunteers, killed the Captain's wife and her servant girl, and thirteen soldiers .t. Pheiffer was dangerously wounded. Captain Tuttle's detachment of sharpshooters and Indian spy party returned on the 1st instant, after an absence of about a month in pursuit of secessionists en route to supply the rebels in Texas with horses and mules. The Captain succeeded in thwarting their plans, completely breaking up their organization, driving them through Sonora, only four of them escaping, en route to rebeldom; a portion of their animals and some of their prisoners were brought in to this place .-- One of the party, who was formerly one of Dan Showalter's party, named Ed-wards, died on the Desert, en route to Alta Sonora; he had murdered two U. S. soldiers at La Paz mines, and met a just punishment of his crime, having died for want of water, upon a sandy desert, and no person to hear his last words.

The "Fourth" passed off very pleasantly indeed; the troops being without artillery, resorted to the use of anvils, and gave us a good salute. I am happy to say that there was not a drunken man in town.

We are having from day to day some very pleasant showers of rain. Occa-sionally we have green corn, watermelons, etc.; they are very nice and acceptable; but a copy of the Sacramento Union at least once in two months would be very gratifying indeed.

WEALTH OF GREAT MEN OF ANriquiry .- Crosus had an estate equal to £1,700,000 besides a scarcely less amount in money, slaves and furniture.— The philosopher Seneca had a property valued at £3,000,000, and Lentulus, the friend of Cicero, was said to be worth £8,500,000. The Emperor Tiberius left at his death above £23,500,000 which Caligula, his successor, succeeded in squandering in less than a year. Casar, before he had been premoted to any high office, owned nearly £3,000,000. Apicius spent, in dissipation, £500,000, and finding on looking into his affairs that he had only £800,000, he poisoned himself, regarding the sum as not sufficient for his maintenance. Cleopatra gave to Antony a diamond worth £800,000. Caligula spent on one dinner £80,000. The ordinary expense for a dinner of Lucullus was £20,000. Messala bought a h use of Antony for £400,00. The fishes in the fish pond of Lucullus were sold for £85,000.

GEN. GILMORE'S ENGINEERING .- The following, from the New York Tribune, is interesting at this time, when we are about to receive the result of the operations near Charleston:

The nearest guns to Fort Pulaski were exactly 1,620 yards distant. They were ive 80-pounder Parrots, one 24-pounder, five 80-pounder Parrots, one 24 pounder, two 82-pounders and two 42-pounder James guns. With these, and three teninch Columbiads, 1,677 yards distant, the whole work of the reduction was accomplished in eighteen and a half hours cannot be supplied in the remaining batteries were all morters, and totally ineffective. The canocptica and execution of the plan of the Mexican News.

Steamer St. Louis brings private advices from city of Mexico, via Acapulo, to the 22d of July. There is not much war news of any Papers are loud spoken in regard to recognition of the Southern Confederacy, and are filled with extracts from Southern papers, of the success of the rebels in be United States.

Everything looks as if the present Government in the City of Mexico in-tended to recognize the South rn Confederacy at no distant day. The journals state that France will likewise recognize LARGE AND WELL-SELECTED STOCK the Confederacy [?].

There has been considerable guerrilla fighting on the roads leading to the City of Mexico.

The Franco-Mexican papers teem with parratives of barbarities practiced by Mexicans upon French prisoners. The Mexicans are putting all their prisoners to death, sparing not one of them.
