THE PORTLAND LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—The library of the Portland Library Association has been deposited in New York, for the purchase of a library, the selections to be made by Messrs. Nelson and Hatt, the former an Oregon resident, the latter formerly of the firm of Nelson & Hatt.

WHY NOT IN SALEM?—The ladies of Portland are giving ice cream festivals for the benefit of the Portland Library Association. The first festival was held on Monday last, and the second on Tuesday. The ladies who were so kind as to stop at the Mission will find plenty of good things on their table.

EXTENDING.—Mr. Kronenberg, who was burned on in Salem on Saturday, has already commenced building a new market on the site of the old one.

THE OFFICE OF THE CALIFORNIA STAGE COMPANY in Salem has been removed to the Drifley House.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Lowry, late of the Mission House, was somewhat injured on Saturday last, when he fell from a wagon, and was killed by a horse.

SLOW TRAVELING.—We noticed a man riding a bicycle through town on Saturday afternoon. He was a novel sight of conveyance, we should say.

FIRE IN POLK COUNTY.—The barn of Green B. Smith, in Polk county, was on the 20th destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

SANITARY.—Mr. Holtz states that he has already received and sent to the Sanitary Commission over fifty thousand dollars.

REMOVAL.—C. G. Carter, a resident of Benton county, and one of last year's graduates of Willamette University, left for the East on the last steamer for the purpose of joining the National army.

THE LARGEST SHIPMENT.—It is estimated that 50,000 bushels of wheat were shipped on Saturday last, the largest shipment of produce made this year.

OREGON FLOUR.—Our State brands are in good demand in San Francisco. Sixty tons of Oregon flour were shipped on Saturday last.

THE FIRST.—The first immigrants from the Pacific coast passed through this place on Monday morning, their way to Lin county, where they have relatives. This is the first installment of a large increase to our population.

STUDENT DEATH.—Sam P. Strang, a private in the 1st Oregon Cavalry, died on the 17th inst. of cholera, after a short illness.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Special Dispatches to Oregon Statesman.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Dispatches received by government this afternoon announce that the rebel general, Joseph E. Johnston, has been captured by Gen. J. B. Hood, and a battle has taken place near the city of Raleigh, in which the rebels were defeated.

Dispatches have also been received dated Atlanta, but no official announcement of the occupation of that place by our forces, has come to hand.

LOUISVILLE, July 23.—To-day's Nashville Courier says that telegrams from Gen. Sherman say the enemy attacked Chattanooga on the 20th, but were not only repulsed, and roughly handled. The Union side, the armies are now on level ground, where the fighting will be more equal.

One hundred and fifty rebel women from Georgia arrived here to-night. Three hundred and fifty more are reported at Nashville, to be forwarded here, to be sent out of the limits of the Northern States.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Herald's Nashville dispatch says Gen. Rosecrank left Decatur on the 10th, on a most important raid, with a force of 20,000, well mounted, one thousand of whom are armed with Spencer's repeating rifle.

The route taken is one never before followed during the war, but is most identical with the route pursued by Jackson in the war with the Creek Indians. The first point of any importance is Blountsville, five miles beyond Coalinga river. Thence they move rapidly upon Tallapoosa, and the nearest bridge or ford over the Tallapoosa river. The route between these two streams is being rapidly pursued, and the bridges completely destroyed.

The passage of the Tallapoosa will probably be made at Tuckahoe. This will bring the force to Nashville mountain road, which will carry them to the railroad at several points. The work of destruction will then begin. There are eight bridges on the railroad between Montgomery and Opelika. Near Columbus on another route are three bridges. Returning after the destruction of the railroad, Rosecrank is to move by the west side of the Chattahoochee river, and to re-occupy the city of Columbus, Ga.

The rebel raid appears dividing into a comparatively small effort.

BALTIMORE, July 23.—A dispatch from Frederick says all Kelly's forces are concentrated at Martinsburg. No information of rebels crossing into Maryland.

Late intelligence says only a small body of rebels engaged in this expedition, and that the rebel army at Petersburg is as strong as ever.

[The telegraph gives us a lot more of stuff about this rebel raid, which is not worth the cost of putting it into type.]

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Times' correspondent with Butler says the rebels attacked the 11th Maine, holding Strawberry Plains; the regiment fell back before the assault, retiring to a farm house, where they were surrounded. The rebels are now in possession of the place.

A large cavalry force some time since left army for different points, and have doubtless cut the Macon and Columbus road in such a manner that if the enemy leaves the city to go South we will destroy his property.

The Memphis Bulletin of the 20th has a statement made before the President's cabinet, that Gen. Sherman's command, who departed and took the oath. He reports that S. D. Lee commands Polk's old Department—Richardson has been superseded by Neely, he having been charged with making $2,000,000 out of the conscript business. Allen confirms the previous report of wounding of Forrest at Tupelo. The rebels lost 1,500 men at the Gunter fight with Gen. Strong.

CHICAGO, July 23.—The Gazette correspondent, under Atlanta July 22, gives the following: Sherman commenced crossing the Chattahoochee on the morning of the 17th. His whole line advanced, Hooker taking position on extreme right and centre, Howard on right centre, Palmer on extreme right.

On the 18th, the advance reached Beech Tree creek, four miles from Atlanta. After considerable skirmishing, the enemy was dislodged, and a portion of Howard's corps crossed, our left winging around to the Atlanta and Augusta railroad, and on the evening of the 19th, tearing up several miles of the track.

On the morning of the 20th, Howard, Hooker and Palmer crossed with the balance of their corps, forming line along the south bank of the creek.

At 3 o'clock, p.m., the rebels made a desperate, sudden assault on Howard in great force; the attack was extended to Hooker's line first advanced before the terrible onset, but quickly rallied and stood firm. On his position, the morning of the 21st, the flower of the rebel army, both sides fighting for the first time on open fields. Before dark the rebels were entirely defeated, having failed to break our lines. They retreated in disorder, leaving most of their dead and wounded on the field.

Our loss will reach 2,000, principally Hooker's. The rebel killed, wounded and missing exceeded 6,000. Our loss in killed and wounded, in the left wing operations were entirely successful. McPherson drove the rebels several miles. Blair's corps advanced one and a half miles out of Augusta road. On the morning of the 21st the enemy were driven with a small loss to their works immediately around Atlanta. On the 22d they had withrawn entirely from Hooker's and Palmer's front. At 2 p.m., portions of the rebel army, which were in the city, have some fighting for full possession of the city, but the campaign is considered closed.

A report believed to be reliable announces the occupation of Montgomery by Rosecrank. Another dispatch says Rosecrank is at Poolsville, 120 miles south of Decatur. He had a short fight with a body of the enemy, dispersing them.

LOUISVILLE, July 24.—The Evansville Journal says Henderson, Ky., was attacked on Thursday by a band of rebels, who were going on. Gunboats have been sent to the assistance of the garrison.

This city is much excited by the general improvement of horses. The city is barricaded at all avenues leading out of it.

We have reports, not authenticated, of a conflict with guerrillas at Hopkinsville. Our loss is 20 killed, wounded and missing. A rebel force of five hundred, from Carroll county, entered crossing to Vevay, Indiana.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The Bulletin special Washington dispatch says Gen. Crook met the enemy on the 23d, at Winchester, and was repulsed and driven back to Williamsport, by way of Martinsburg; Gen. Crook commanded the militia.

Dispatches from Chambersburg says no sign of rebels advancing further than Martinsburg. The latter was placed hors de combat and somewhat shattered.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—The American has the following: The city last night was full of exciting rumors of rebel movements in the Shenandoah Valley, together with vague accounts of disasters to the force under Averill. The facts are ascertained to be that Averill, after successful encounter with Early's force, pressed them to the mountains beyond Winchester, where Early made a stand. After heavy fighting on Saturday and Sunday, Averill was compelled to fall back to Harper's Ferry, causing the evacuation of Martinsburg. The rebels pursued, and yesterday afternoon, the 25th instant, occupied Martinsburg, where they cut telegraph wire, and commenced destruction of track of Baltimore and Ohio R. R. Our forces were concentrating at Harper's Ferry. It is rumored, the rebels were in large force, under Early and Breckinridge. Object of rebels is doubtless to give time for their trains of plunder to get away, and to secure portion of crops in Shenandoah valley.

Probably they may again make a raid into Maryland for more plunder.

We have nothing authentic as to the extent of the destruction of property beyond Winchester, and no confirmation of the death of Averill, Kelly and Mulligan.

We learn that orders were sent for the removal of the army medical stores from Frederickburg last night. Gen. Wallace conveyed the loyal legations of Baltimore. It is reported that a heavy fight had taken place between Harper's Ferry and Winchester, and Hunter was repulsed, several pieces of artillery, and two batteries were captured by the rebels.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The Times' Baltimore correspondence says no apprehensions are entertained of rebel demonstrations toward Washington or Baltimore.

Crook says the force that attacked his rear Winchester on Sunday was greatly superior to his, and showed a front of 10,000 men, enveloping him on both sides, and could have easily annihilated him if he hadn't retreated. Col. Mulligan was killed in battle on Sunday.

The Baltimore American to-day says no confirmation of report of the rebels having re-occupied Martinsburg by way of Sharpsburg and Shepherdstown. Hardly possible that Early could count on this, as he is now in the hands of the Union army, and no different troops from the broken-down columns of Hunter.

The Commercial says a gentleman from Frederickburg reports much excitement there on Monday and Tuesday. The Government removed the stores and wounded, and the inhabitants were preparing to leave. The enemy was known to be south of Fox Ridge, and it is feared would cross at Point of Rocks and push for Frederick.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Nothing of a definite character from rebel movements in the Shenandoah valley. It is positively known that serious battles occurred Saturday and Sunday. The Federal troops were overpowered and compelled to retreat. Ferry and Williamsport. Our forces held Harper's Ferry. No rebels seen in Maryland. The War Department says the raid is a humbug.

BALTIMORE, July 27.—No attack on Harper's Ferry yet. Heavy skirmishing reported between Crook's forces and rebels on Monday afternoon. Forces falling back this side the Potomac to Williamsport. The object of the rebels is said to be to reach the Shenandoah valley while they gather harvest.

Later reports say we have re-occupied Martinsburg. Gen. Wallace has issued orders for the immediate enrollment of all able-bodied colored men in this city.

The rebel raid appears dividing into a comparatively small effort.
