Details of the Capture of Charleston. The City Blown up by the Rebels

Great Bestruction of Life and Property.

WILMINGTON OURS. New York Feb. 7L—Steamer Fulton has arrived from Charleston harbor. Tribuac's correspondent 18th says: Early last evening Gen. Schimmellenning, commanding northern district Department of the South, discovered indications that rebels were about to exacute Charleston. Accordingly he ordered the pickets to keep a lookout all right and report immediately any movement of the enemy. At half past three in the merning a territic explosion took place, which shook every ship in the harbor and off the bar. Almost simultaneously flames broke out in different portions of the city. First explosion took place at Wilmington depot, fire from which caused general conflagration all dwelling houses in the vicinity. Second explosion which took place resulted very disastronsly, causing terrible loss of life among women and children, who are represented having been horribly motilated. At six o'clock Schimmellenning occupied city and its defences. Formidable carthworks on James Island were found abandoned and guas spiked. Eight o'clock a detachment was sent to take possession of Fort Sunter and rules the flag which Anderson hauled down nearly four years ago. As fast as the forces coull be thrown into the city they were set to work to put outthe fire hat was raging ferricly in different parts of the city. Old men, women and children were rushing frantically to and fire in sgony of despair at loss of homes and the killing and autilation of triends.

In all probability two-thirds of the city will be destroyed before the fire is extinguished. The left or rear guard of rebels left Charleston at 4 this morning. Several hundred rebels who accreted themselves in different parts of the city when the main ecdumn were retreating, have given themselves up. Another account says Charleston was evacousted on the tight of the 17th, leaving the fortifications uniqued, besides three hundred guas which were spiked. The evacuation was first discovered at Fort Moultrie in the morning. Part of the trongs stationed on James Island crossed over in boats and New York, Feb. 21.-Steamer Fulton has arrived

A fearful explosion occurred at Wilmington depot y which several hundred citizens were killed. Ad hiral Dahlgren was first to run to the city, where he rrived about two o'clock. Gen. Gilmore followed, and had an interview with Schimmelfenning in the city, for the present in command.
