Four wagon roads-the Oregon Central Military Road, the Willam- Cler ette Valley and Cascade Mountain Road, the Yaquinna Bay Road, and the Salem and Deschutes Road-have been pushed out of the valley and well over the mountains surrounding it. Next year these roads will be finished. At the falls of the Willamette river important improvements have been constructed. The slackwater basin constructed by the People's Transportation Company, at a cost of $40,000. is not only valuable on account of the convenience in transhipping freight, but the wealth of water power created by it is a very large March 1st : addition to the progress of the State. Four new and additional steamboats have been placed upon the Willamette river during the past year-one by the P. T. Co., two by the Willamette Navigation Company, and one by the Independent Line. These four boats have cost in the aggregate about $60,000. Daring the past year the Oregon City Woolen Factory has gone into operation with the most flattering prospects, employing in buildings and machinery a capital of one hundred thousand dollars. The Brownsville Woolen Mill cannot be considered an additional improvement. The Ellendale Woolen Factory, with a capital of forty thousand dollars, has been erected during the past year, and is now about ready to make cloth. Within the year past new flouring mills

But the evidences of growth and improve-ment have nowhere been more marked than in the Willamette Valley. During the past year this valley has received an addition to its pop-ulation, by immigration, of not less than ten thousand persons. It is be-ved that an effect will be made to pass the amend-cut os early as possible.

Now, what is Doolittle's amendment? It is just exactly what President Johnson himself waited on him more than six weeks ago, and is telegraphed as news under date of Jan. 30th. The telegraphic dispatch for March 9th states Poolittle's amendment as follows : Mr. Doolittle's amendment provides that, after the

Mr. Doolithe's amendment provides that, after the sense of 1550, and each succeeding census, the repre-entatives shall be appointed by the several States which may be included within the Union, according to the number in each State of male electrons over tweaty-one cears of age, qualified by the laws thereof to choose nembers of the most numerous branch of the Legisla-wer; and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the everal States according to the real and taxable prop-rity in each.

If any of our readers will turn back to the States man of February 5th, they will find the same thing stated, under the heading of the " President's Views," ee weeks before the great raid was gotten up against the President. That amendment will doubtless pass. It comes from the President's friend in the Scante-a enator whom the Oregonical denounced two weeks go as " an unfaithful Senator." We call particular atation to it now, because after a while the Oregonian will claim it as a victory over the President. The Or mian will, however, hang on to Summer for a week cer, at farthest

H 1860 the population of the State was only fifty-two thousand (although Jo. Lane, to get a seat in the U. S. Senate, deplaced the State con-tained ninety-three thousand in 1855.) The State census taken last year shows our popula-tion to amount to sixty-five thousand—a gain of thirteen thousand in four years. This does not include the gain of ten thousand by the im-migration of last year. This may appear like a slow growth to Eastern people, who see the rapid development of the Western States ; but rapid development of the Western States ; but at Corvallis the same evening. they must bear in mind that Oregon is so far DR.
