Judge Penhody waited on the President tolay not asked a pardon for T. C. A. Dezter, late Treasurer at Mobile, (now under sentence of a court martial) or at least for some assurance that the habeas corpus might be invoked

Gen. Howard has written a long letter to Eliot, of the House Select Committee on the Preedmen's affairs, urging legislation with respect to the Freedmen's Bureau, to define its powars. He points out that the period for its continuance should be definitely fixed. It should be declared by law whether Maryland and Kentacky are or are not, included within the jeriadiction of the bureau. Lands should be set apart on favorable terms. Such an act, if signed by the President, would give great

Governor Hamilton, of Texas, made a peech recently, in which he opposed some of he ordinances passed by the convention as not eliog republican, or meeting the demands ade apon that body. They had pursed but he ordinance, which seconded fully with the resident's policy, and that was the one delaring the war debt null and void. He appealed from the action of the convention to President's policy, and that was the one declaring the war debt null and void. He appealed from the action of the convention to the people. The convention had passed an ordinance exempting all persons who, under anthority of civil or military power, had inflicted injury on persons during the war from being held accountable. Such action would not and should not shield them. He called upon the loyal people of the State to work together. He believed provision should be made to admit the negro to vote if he was educated. The accevention had refused this, and also refused to give the blacks any quota of the school fund or to make provision for their education. They had been taxed to assist in sending their children to school. He intended to denounce to the people, those who had worked against the interests of the State.

My regret is that Congress was not called together early last summer in order that Congress and the I resident might have acted together as they doubtless would have done in harmony; but the President deemed it inexpedient to couven Congress and went on alone.
