If the proper remades were applied in season, they would save us from protracted illness severe and long continued pain shattered constitutions, and lest, but not least, a debit litted purse. Thousands are in the habit, on the approach of sensations which they recognize as the footsteps of some dreaded and well known disease, to resort to the patent medicines that are heralded to core averything. This is always a doubtful and sometimes a fatal course to pursue.

Taking this view of the matter we shall keep prepared, by request as well as permission, the following preparations, carefully prepated from prescriptions of some of our best physicians, whose indorsement is a sefficient guaranty of their value. We think it better to recommend these to those who do not consider themselves sufficiently ill to require a physician's attendance, than any article of the composition of which we are ignorant.

Horrible Discuses.

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are those, who are suffering out a miscrable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated, and disfigured fares and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the seeme.—Let parents, guardians, and friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life destroying maladis—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private discusses his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most investente cases, without necessity or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in caring all diseases in a few days, imposing up on the public by owing the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places.
