FLORENCE SEWING MACHINES

Copy of the Report of the Committee of Awards at the Fair of the

AMERICAN INSTITUTE To the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE CO. for the Best Family Sewing Machine. Highest Premium --- Gold Medal.

IRCASONS:
1st. Its Simplicity and great range of work
2d. The Reversible Feed Motion.
3d. The perfect finish and Substantial manand the perfect inish and Substantial man-ner in which the machine is made. 4th. The rapidity of its working and the quality of the work done. 5th. The Self-adjusting Tension.

The FLORENCE was awarded the First and Highest Premium at the State Fair of Cali-fornia, the only Fair on the Pacific coast at which any two double thread Sew-ing Machines were exhibited in competition in 1865.

THE FLORENCE received the only premium awarded by the Mechanic's Institute of San Francisco, in 1864 and 1865, to any Sewing Machine, Sewing Machine Company or Ag.mt. The claim of a competitor to a medal is without any foundation whatever.

Wherever the FLORENCE has been brought in competition with other Sewing Machines, it has always been declared the best. It is the most simple, the most substantial, the most efficient, and its use is easily learned. Every Machine sold is warranted in the full sense of the word.

A Performance not in the Bill.—A rather startling incident occurred day before yesterday, at the afternoon delivery of Dr. Benton's lecture on memerism, psychology, etc., at Platt's Hall. It was arranged that this performance should be for ladies only, and but a few privileged males attended. Everything was going on swimmingly, and the Doctor was becoming more elequent and amusing as he watched the fair faces of his audience light up at his jokes, when a rending crash was heard from the direction of the ceiling, and a shower of plaster suddenly descended upon the frightened and retonialed faces that were upturned to discover the cause of this peculiar phenomenon. At fast earthquakes suggested itself, but then it was well reasoned by the more cool among the ladies that earthquakes generally begin at the bottom, and this affair evidently came from the top. But stay! Why, there is something sticking out of the ceiling. Look! It seems like—surely it can't be—indeed it must be—it is a woman's leg! And so it was, and a very pretty one, too: as all the ladies agreed, criticising its centour through their ginsses, while some of the men ran up stairs to see if there was not a body belonging to it. The leg did not seem to enjoy its position, but wriggled and twisted as if it would like to get out, though the only apparent effect of flades. On going up, the men found an autor-tunate damsel, sure enough, on the upper side of the ceiling, and after some trouble they extricated her. It seems that she was curious, after the manner of her sex, to see what the doctor was dofing, and in trying to reach the skylight to look down, had inadvertently stepped on one of the ventilators, and thus introduced a feature into the performance which Dr. Bentyn would never have dreamed of, even under the influence of mesmerism.—Son Francisco Examiner, Jane Sth.

Corvallis.—A glance at our quiet city at the foot of the hills, will convince the most skeptical that we are progressing, and that Corvallis is not behind our sister cities in steady, healthy growth. The nent and tasty residences of our citizens are surrounded with beautiful shade trees, and well-arranged flower gardens. Without ostentation or display, every appointment and appliance seem designed for ease and comfort. New fences, white wash, paint, etc., have also added much to the conceliness of the place. With good water, pure atmosphere, a lovely site. DEMOCRATIC Row AT BOISE CITY.—We learn from a gentleman just down from Idaho, that the democracy of that Territory had a pretty general row in their convention on the 18th of June. At Boise City—a sort of knock-down and drag out arrangement. The row entimated in a shooting spree, in which mest of the coppery magnates took a lively interest. Theodore Burnester and D. William Douthit, old Oregonians, took shares in it, and the latter, in a playful mood, fired a revelver point-blank at Street, the editor of the fight, who was only saved from a trip to the other world, by the intervention of a pocket-book in his breast pocket. Street at the same time gave vent to his hilarity and good feeling by firing a shot at Douthit, which, however, overshot the mark and lodged in the ceiling. GEN. GRANT'S VISIT TO RICHMOND.—Gen Grant's visit to Richmond was marked with many pleasing incidents and gratifying results. People flocked to see him in large numbers, from curiodity, no doubt, but during his stay be was called upon respectfully by such persons as Robert Ould, ex-rebel Commissioner for Ex-change of Prisoners; Gen. VIEWS OF GEN. GRANT.

New York, May 25.—The Lewiston (Maine) Journal gives the report of an hour's conversation between the cilitor and General Grant, in which, if the report is correctly given, the General appears to have spoken out more freely than he commonly does. He is reported to have said there were some parts of the country where our armies had never trod, particularly in Texas, which needed to feel the blighting effects of war to bring their people to a realizing sense of the country of the orime and the necessity of a thorough repenting. He found that those parts of the South which have not felt the war, and particularly those which have been within our lines, and have therefore escaped the rehel conscription, are much less disposed new to bring themselves to the proper frame of mind than they were one year since. A year ago, said he, they were willing to do anything; now they regard themselves as maters of the situation. Some of the rebel Generals, he added, are behaving nobly, and doing all they can to induce the people to throw aside their old prejudices and conform their course to the changed condition of things. Johnston and Dick Taylor, particularly, are exercising a good influence; but, he added, Lee is behaving badly. He is conducting himself very different from what he had reason, from what he said at the time of surrender, to suppose he would. No man as the South is capable of exercising a tenth part of the influence for good that he is; but instead of such, he is setting an example of forced acquiescence so gradging and permicious in its effects as to be hardly realized. New York, May 25 .- The Lewiston (Maine It will be recollected that a short time ago Secretary McCollosh, whilst on a visit to Fart-ress Monroe, had an interview with Jeff Davis, and that the Secretary discovered from obser-vation, and the information he derived from

The men who were in the rebel armies, said Grant, acquiesce in the result much better than those who stayed at home. The women are particularly bitter against the Union and Union men, of course. He added, there is some bitterness of feeling among all classes, but I am satisfied it would soon die out, if the leading men had not romehow got the iden that treason, after all was not very bad, and that the Southern cause as they phrase it, will yet triumph—not in war, but in politics.

In my judgment, said Grant, the tone of certain men and certain papers in the North is such as to do incalculable mischief in making the late rebels believe that they are just as much entitled to vote as ever; that if they will only stand by what they are pleased to call

FORTRESS MONROE (Va.) May 9, 1866.
Adjutant General United States Army, Washington, D. C:
Sir: In compliance with directions from the President of the United States to me, given through the office of the Adjutant General. I have made a special examination of the State prisoner, Jefferson Davis, now in confinement at this post, and report the following to be the result of said examination: He is considerably emaciated, the fatty tissure having slimest disappeared, leaving his skin much shriveled. His muscles are small, flaceid and very soft, and he has but little muscular strength. He is quite weak and debilitated. Consequently, his gait is becoming uneven and irregular. His diges.

TROUBLE AMONG THE ASORIGINES .- It is TROUBLE AMONO THE ABORIGINES.—It is currently reported that the Snake and Pinte cusses have made an attack on the Brunos, located on a river of the same name. It is stated that the cause assigned is, the Brunos, a short time since, made a treaty with the whites, through our late (Tovernor, Lyon of Lyonsdale, to which the Snakes and Pintes object.

DISPRANCHISING THE REBELS.—The Legislature of Tennessee having passed an act more completely disfranchising rebels, a meeting of Union members was held on the evening of the 3d inst., to exchange congratulations thereupon; at which Gov. Brownlow spoke as follows:

Carolina.

"Upon this platform, however, for the first time since the rebellion was begun so have all got together—radicale, conservatives, copperheads, weak kneed union then, and rebels.—We radicale are all for the franchise law; the other classee named are all for Johnson. It is not to be presumed that any weald be for Johnson who are not for his doctrines, and we know that he imangurated the doctrine in Tonnesso of disfrachising rebels. Among his last utteracces before he left here, some thirteen mouths ago, he declared that, if there were 5,000 key, all men in Tennessee, they should control the State; and all the time that this measure has been pending, he has been represented, by those who have had frequent interviews with him, as wanting the legislature to harry up the franchise law. We are, therefore, spon his platform, and hope to present, not only 5,000 lint ten times 5,000 loyal men to govern the State.

State.

"Let us, then, one and all, keep me plane the President's platform, of governing States with loyal men, making treason only and punishing traitors. Upon this platfort took my stand long since, and here I will stand upon this I will fight it rest, not only summer, but if it takes the remainder of natural life. In this I am encouraged, he ing that all good and true men already by me and all good and true men already cloding the most talented, patrions, and a Congress which ever assembled in Washing

The Idaho Index furnishes the follow The Idaho Index famishes the following items in relation to the Iudian outrages in the vicinity of the Owyhee mines, and then complacently adds, that there are noveral officitiess of Indian depredations in the vicinity, but not being well authenticated, they are not published. We should think the following list would make it sufficiently interesting for one week:

week:

Indian Attack.—On Monday night, the Hith instant, the evening before the Indians killed Gussett, Messra. Webster and Kingwere stopping In a tent near the base of Seeth Mountain. After they had gone to bed, their dog commenced barking and growling, which caused them to get up and prepare themselves. They, however, remained in the tent nutil the Indians, who had approached within a few feet, fired into the but once or twice, when, thinking discretion the better part of valor, they fer it, hearing the indians bursting caps at them or the tent. While they were getting away 22 fast as possible, the Indians continued firing at the tent, and yelling tremendously at each fire. This was kept up until King and Webster got out of hearing.

Indian Raid and Mudden.—On the morning of the 10th inet, about eight miles from this place, the Indians made an attack on the usum of Colombus Gareett, situated in Plint district, and about one mile from the new target of Oro. It appears that Mr. Gossett was alone, and no doubt askep. He was shot through the arm and in the body, his head split open with an axe, and from appearances they used a long handled shovel, beating his head and arms as he no doubt endeavored to ward the blows. On Taesday morning when his body was found, it was yet warm. It is supposed there were fifty or sixty Indians, from the great number of tracks and the large district they traveled over gathering up stock. They took about sixty head of turees and some cattle, but during the day. Taesday, the oattle came back and some of the horses. About 10 o'clock on Taesday, and within six hours after the killing of Gossett, fifteen armed and well mounted men started in pursuit.

well mounted men started in pursuit.

RUMOR.—It is reported that several days after the Indians made their onslaught on the Chinamen near Summit Spring, and killed and robbed many, a traveler coming up the read noticed a sack of rice. Picking it up and emptying out the contents, he discovered a package containing nine hendred dollars in coin. If Mr. Indian had hipped that, he never would let up on the Chinamen, for it is but seldom such a pile is found on a white man.

Overmier & Miller's saddle train to Flint, consisting of five horses and one mule, to-gether with all their rigging, was taken by the Indians on the night of the 12th. Indians on the ni. ht of the 12th.

INDIAN CONCENTRATION.—We have been under the impression that the Indians have, as a general thing, concentrated on the Upper Owyhee, and united together for the purpose of stealing and killing with greater success. This is confirmed not only by their frequent raids in this neighborhood in large bands, but by the expeditions of Capt. Collins and Col. St. Clair in the John Day, Malbour and Sach's Mountain country; without finding any in that region.

Horses Stolen.—On the 8th inst. near South Mountain, about twenty miles from Silver. Mr. R. H. Brown with three other persons were encamped near the ranch of Mr. Brown. They had three horses sied in camp, and after sourise they were let loose to graze. In about half an hour they missed the horses, and immediately started in pursuit. After going about two hundred yards they discovered where the Indians had caught them. It appears that three or four Indians with three horses had reconnoitered the camp, and concealing themselves behind a mound, lay in wait until the horses fed near them, when they caught them and made off in the direction of the Forks of the Owyhee.

We are informed that very recently, a comye are intermed that very recently, a company of soldiers passed up Burnt River to the head of John Days river, from there to the head of the Malheur, thence down to Snake river, and was not able to find one Indian or any late sign. We also learn that Col. St. Clair, who only a few days since left Camp Curry, near Horney Lake, traversed all the country of the Upper Malheur, thence to the Owyhee and down to Snake, and not finding an Indian. This goes to explain the desperate raids they are making in the opper Owyhee country, and why Maj. Marshall found such a large number of them together only forty miles from here. There is no question but they are concentrating for great mischief. Five hundres well armed Indians to make an attack on this town would wake up the most of the old Ingen killers.

But a short time since, I was visited by a Tennessee officerin an Arkansus regiment, who told me that the rebels had no right to complain of the franchise bill; that he submittee plain of the frauchise bill; that he submitted cheerfully, and it was within his personal knowledge that, if the Confederates achieved their independence, it was their purpose to disfranchise every Union man in the South. It is idle to talk about the act disfranchising rebels heing a radical measure, inaugurated by Summer and Stevens at Washington. It is the time honored doctrine and practice of the fathers of the revolution, who, at the close of that day, who answer to the rebels of our day, "Loud cheering! My recollection of the history of those times is that both signed hills disfranchising Tories. The same was done, if I mistake not, by the Legislature of Virginia and North Carolina, and even South Carolina.
