 the Times
 But few men would insure if they were sure.
 Did you ever know a man to perform all he promised?
 Happy is the man who enjoys the work that he must do.
 Lots of people are interested in the man whose principle is for sale.
 Even officeholders have their trials—and some of them have indictments.
 A man feels like kicking himself every time he is found in the act of offering an apology.
 Many a man's dyspepsia is due to a mistaken belief on the part of his wife that she can cook.
 A widow always pretends she isn't trying to help a man when he tries to kiss her—but she is, just the same.
 Russia can sympathize with the man whose automobile backed down hill when the power gave out. It knows the feeling.
 The two Krupp girls are going to get married at the same time, but not for the purpose of cutting down expenses.
 Wishing to show himself fully abreast of the latest styles in monarchical circles, King Alfonso has just had a cabinet crisis.
 Until President Roosevelt becomes a grandfather, Emperor William may claim that he is a better man than the great American.
 There is evidently no truth in the rumor that the Czar is timid. He has been known to play dangerous games like chess and bridge whist.
 John D. Rockefeller says Americans spend too much. He certainly couldn't have been thinking of Aunt Hetty Green when he incubated that idea.
 Of course you have often remarked that, while you are compelled to work eighteen hours a day, others slouch and loaf and seem to get along all right.
 It is understood that Diamond King Belt left the bulk of his great fortune for the advancement of the cause of education. This will be good news to school book publishers.
 The dispatches state that a chauffeur was almost killed by a cocoanut pie. We are left in wonder whether he ate the pie or whether it was thrown at him by some infuriated pedestrian.
 A Kansas statesman suggests a law making it a criminal offense to give away campaign cigars. Move to amend by making it a criminal offense to give away 5-cent cigars for campaign purposes.
 William Pinkney Whyte, the new Senator from Maryland, was eighty-two years old in August. He has for colleagues Edmund W. Pettus, eighty-five years old, and John T. Morgan, eighty-two, the two from Alabama. These three men are Senators indeed, in the original sense of the word.
 Surgery is not a popular thing anyway, but it must give people an additional horror of it to read so frequently of cases in which surgeons sew up people's bodies before they have taken their tools and dressings out of them.
 There have been several cases in which surgeons sewed up their forearms in the abdomens of patients and now there is another case in which a man is suing a surgeon who operated on him for sewing up in his body three yards of gauze packing. To laymen such things, if true, look inexcusable.
 The Panama Canal is likely to be a bond of union not only between the United States and the countries of South and Central America, but also between the little States of Central America, which have been several times divided, reunited and redivided. The canal will increase the importance of Central America, help build the industries and the railroads, and so give economic unity to States artificially separated. At present there are five countries in an area a little larger than California. The people, in number about four millions, are racially homogeneous, and there is no permanent obstacle to a peaceful union.
 Last year forest fires in this country burned over an area of a hundred and fifty thousand acres. This area is great, yet it is less than half of that which was swept by fire the year before. One reason for the difference is the increased efficiency of the fire patrol under the United States forest service. Its jurisdiction is limited to national reservations, but the influence of the forestry service extends to many private wooded tracts. The professional foresters are teaching the people how to care for the trees. One simple rule, which the owner of a few trees can easily follow and the owner of many trees cannot afford to neglect, is to keep the underbrush cleared. Most forest fires start in brush. A wood clear of brush has, so to speak, no kindling in which a fire can start.
 If it were possible to make a complete list of all the casualties of a whole vacation season—say from the first of July to the first of October—the showing would be so alarming as to shock careful parents and to call into existence a host of reform societies. The fact that summer accidents are reported as they occur, singly and in widely separated places, accounts in large measure for the slight and transitory impression they make on the public mind. The old meaning of the word accident, as something that "just happens," and could not have been prevented, still clings to it. Most of those who read these words may hold that view of it, and some of them are almost certain to find out by experience, before the summer is over, whether it is true or not. The purpose of this article is to change their minds. Accidents do not "just happen," nor is any one justified in calling them "dispensations of Providence," planned and foreordained by the Creator for some good but in-scrutable purpose. Accidents are due to definite, material and usually preventable causes. The Creator does not deliberately decree that a certain canoe shall glide out from under a certain man and drown him, but He does establish immutable laws which the canoe obeys, and which the canoeist also must obey, if he would live. On sea or land, in yacht, automobile, mountain camp or on foot the inmitigable laws hold good.

 Study the rules of the game, then obey them.
 If anything could add a deeper shade to the railway horror at Salisbury, England, it would be the presentiments that some of the victims had of their approaching doom, such as were expressed by the Santell family as they parted with their friends at the wharf in New York. What is the explanation of such experiences? Almost every one classifies them with clairvoyance and telepathy as simply inexplicable mysteries and leaves them there. It is only now and then that any one is philosophical enough to take a more rational view of them, and that is that they are coincidental. If everybody knew of all the cases in which presentiments of death had proved delusive no one would be in the least astonished at those which are realized. No doubt there are thousands of the delusive kind to one that proves correct. The wonder is not that one in many thousands are realized, but that any are. The same is true of dreams, and a remarkable case of pre-sentiment by dreams occurred several years ago in Connecticut. A woman whose husband was a traveling salesman dreamed three nights in succession that he had been killed in a railroad accident, and the fourth morning he came home in excellent health, having met with no mishap whatever. It so happened that this got into the newspapers, but it was only because it was an extreme case. If all delusive pre-sentiments were published in the same way realized presentiments would attract no attention. It is said that it hardly ever happens that a steamer sails for Europe without some passenger having a presentiment of death and abandoning the voyage at the last minute.
Might Have Shot an Angel.
 A Richmond (Va.) Judge tells a story which illustrates the difficulty met with in trying to stop the carrying of pistols.
 A tough youth was brought before the Judge, charged with firing a revolver in the street. The testimony in the case was to the effect that the young hoodlum had filled himself with whisky and had discharged his weapon in a crowded street.
 "Twenty dollars and costs," said the magistrate.
 "But, your honor," interposed counsel for the prisoner, "my client did not hit anybody."
 "Why you admit that he fired the gun?"
 "Yes, but he fired into the air," explained the lawyer.
 "Twenty dollars and costs," repeated the Judge. "He might have shot an angel."
 And the riotous fellow went to jail, not having the money to pay his fine.
Not So Much.
 King Leopold of Belgium, while at Biarritz, taking a vacation from the worries of kingship in general and Congoand troubles in particular, was the central figure in an amusing incident which set that fashionable French watering place laughing.
 The democratic monarch bathed there, as did every other man, privately and unostentatiously. One morning, as he came out of the water, he chanced to collide with a portly man, who evidently did not know the king in a bathing suit.
 "What do you mean, sir?" he snorted savagely. "Be more careful! I would have you to know that I am a member of the Paris city council!"
 "Then I offer a thousand apologies," replied Leopold at once. "I am only the king of the Belgians."—Cleveland Leader.
Interrupted.
 Not a great while ago Love was engaged in robbing some honest people of their peace of mind, when a loud knock sounded at the door.
 "Poverty, of course!" cried Love, in the utmost vexation, and flew out of the window, leaving his booty behind him.—Puck.
Simply Awful.
 Grace—It's awful, isn't it, the way the price of necessities has gone up?
 Helen—Terrible! Why, husbands are twice as much as they were.—New York Life.
 It is noticeable that bunches of firecrackers, like everything else, grow smaller every year.
