ASHES OF FUN

"So, Tommy, you wish to be excused from school this afternoon?" "Yes'm."
 "Is your excuse a good one or is it baseball?" "Both, ma'am."
 "Why did you have the sun-dial moved, Amy?" "I wanted it where the moonlight would shine on it, so we could tell the time of night."—Life.

Knicker—Strange they didn't name the baby after his rich uncle. Bocker—No; he looked at it, and said he'd give them $10,000 not to.—Harper's Bazar.

Stella—Professor Lee says candy is a cure for fatigue. Bella—That's true; a man who brings me chocolate never makes me as tired as a man who doesn't.

Mistress (soliloquizing)—I'm afraid this hat's rather out of date. Maid—Oh, no, mum. It's quite fashionable. Cook has just bought one exactly like it.—Punch.

Lawyer—My wife bought this rug in my office at an auction sale. Client—She paid a big price for it, too. Lawyer—How do you know? Client—I sold it to her.—Detroit Free Press.

A Georgia man lost a leg in an accident, and when they picked him up the first word he said was: "Thank the Lord, it was the leg with the rheumatism in it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

New Bookkeeper (to employer)—How shall I enter up the five thousand dollars that your old bookkeeper ran away with—profit and loss? Employer—No, charge it to running expenses.

New Dentist (in Frozen Dog)—Will you take gas? Bronco Bill—Will it hurt if I don't? Dentist—It will. Bronco Bill—Then, stranger, for your sake I think I'd better take it.—Life.

Lady Visitor—That new girl of yours seems very nice and quiet. Mistress of the House—Yes, she's very quiet. She doesn't even disturb the dust when she's cleaning the room.—Everybody's Journal.

As small Tommy was about to climb into his chair at the dinner table his mother said: "Are your hands clean, dear?" "Course they are," answered Tommy. "If you don't believe it, look at the towel."

"Where are we going to take lunch?" she asked her husband, while out in his touring car. "O, wherever we happen to stop," he replied. "Goodness! You're not going to eat 15 often as that, are you, dear?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Mr. City Boarder was being entertained by his rural sweetheart. "Do you play and sing 'When the Cows Are in the Corn,' Miss Millyweigh?" "Lord bless you, no!" she ejaculated. "I get the dogs and chase 'em out!"—Harper's Weekly.

Balty Moore—The meanest man has been again discovered. Calvert, Jr.—Where this time? Balty Moore—In Ohio, as usual. This chap is making money by selling the weather predictions furnished by his father's rheumatism.—Baltimore American.

A physician started a model insane asylum with a special ward for crazy chauffeurs and motorists. "But I don't see any patients," said a visitor to whom the automobile ward was shown. "Oh," the physician replied, "they're all under the cots fixing the slats."—Clipping.

"I'll take that," said the man, indicating a silver-mounted handglass, "and I want you to engrave on it, 'From J. B. to Phyllis.'" "Very well," replied the salesman, "we'll put it on the back here—" "Oh, no; put it around the edge on the front. I want her to see it."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"Mamma," asked the little girl, "has Mr. Brown got heart disease?" "I don't know, my child. Why do you ask?" "Well, it says in my new book that fat heart never won fair lady, and when I saw Mrs. Brown I made up my mind that something must be wrong with his."—Toledo Blade.

"I understand," began Mrs. Galley, sternly, "that you have been seen at the theater with my husband—" "Well," interrupted the pretty governess, defiantly, "what of that?" "Well, Miss Reeder, if you wish to remain in my employ you'll have to keep better company."—Philadelphia Press.

Oh, the Whale Dairy Maids!
 "Do you keep a whale?" some fair visitor may inquire next century as she pours the cream over some newly concocted breakfast food. A practical minded professor up along the Canadian coast has learned the art of milking the whale and declares this dairy product to be as nutritious and as palatable as the milk of the reflective cow, and further to possess medicinal qualities quite like those of cod liver oil. How romantic it will be when every dweller along the coast will possess his own whale, all properly tagged and registered, and when at dusk the milkmaids, chanting their whale-calling songs, will row out beyond the surf to drive in the water mammals from their sea pasture.—Buffalo News.

Not Long Unattached.
 "The last time I passed through here," said the traveling man, "she was grieving for her husband, who had just died. I suppose she's resigned now."
 "Resigned," echoed the native.
 "That's a new way of expressing it. Yes, she's married again."—Philadelphia Press.
