A LITTLE LESSON IN PATRIOTISM.

Josiah Bartlett had consistently opposed the policy of England toward the United States from his first entrance into the Legislature of New Hampshire in 1765. to which he had been elected a delegate. Governor Wentworth, hopfng to gain his support. appointed Bartlett a magistrate and in 1770 placed him in command of a milltia regiment. He continued a zealous JOSIAH BARTLETT. Whig, however, in spite of all the attempts to swerve his allegiance. In February, 1775, Bartlett was deprived of both the offices that he had held under the Tory govern-

In the same year Bartlett was made a member of the committee of safety. and in September accepted a commission as colonel of an American regi

Dr. Bartlett was chosen to represent

New Hampshire in the Continental

Congress. He was the first man to give his vote for the Declaration of Independence and the second man to sign it. During the progress of the Revolution Bartlett divided his time between the council and the front, giving services equally valuable in both. At the close of the Revolution he was chosen chief justice of the Court of Common Pleas and later chief justice. In 1793 he was chosen the first Governor of the State of New Hampshire, an honor bestowed by grateful people.

IN THE LANDS OF SNOW.

Keeping Warm Is the Main Busines of the People.

With the big, restless, energetic world outside of this tropical belt, however, the matter of keeping warm is ever present, troublesome and expensive, throughout half of each passing year, says the National Magazine.

As a matter of fact, the world of humanity dwelling in stoveland never has been, in all the ages, really and comfortably warm in winter. It is largely our own fault. Mankind is the only animal which employs fire in the effort to survive the cold of the winters. The hardy lower animals do not need it however much their luxuriously enervated representatives, the dog and the cat, may enjoy it, when they have chance.

Ancient man only got himself rid of his provident coat of hair and his sufficient latent heat when he began to loaf round the family cooking stove and absorb the intoxicating comfort of artificial warmth. This far-away ancestor is responsible for the fact that the present-day human being, cutside of the belt aforesaid, is obliged to keep close to a thermometer registering nearly or quite 70 degrees Fahrenhelt from October to May, besides which he must needs wear extra clothing. This, also, is an inher ited habit.

A traveler west once asked a halfnaked Indian in midwinter how he man aged to stand the weather. The Indian replied: "Your face no got a coat. It no cold. Indian face all over."

of the Beaten Track.

The old captain whose seafaring days were over looked from the easel to the artist and back to the easel again with a tolerant smile.

"Hanging round the wharf as I do. I see a good many o' your kind," he said, in a friendly tone. "Going to paint the sea, I take it. Well, I'm glad to see you getting down to it "

"Don't the others sit down?" asked the artist. "Most of 'em do." said the captain.

"but there was one woman kep' walkin' round, holdin' up a pencil an' squintin' her eyes. Finally she get where the view seemed to please her, but she kep' steppin' back'ard an' steppin' back'ard, till at last she stepped

"No great harm done," added the captain, stooping to look more closely at the picture on the easel. "We fished her out, an' I guess after that she was content to paint common."

First Sign of Consumption.

A rise of temperature of from onehalf to one degree at some period of greater or less duration every twentyfour hours may be regarded as the first symptom of pulmonary tuberculosis, occurring previous to every other symptom and before the general health of the individual is influenced to a noticeable degree. The temperature will be most elevated following bodily fatigue. Excluding other morbid conditions that would cause a similar elevation of temperature, it is safe to diagnose the case as one of pulmoffary (or laryngeal) tuberculosis when this temperature has persisted for a period of two weeks and is associated with loss of weight and vitality, even though there has been no accompanying cough or expectoration and though physical examination gives negative results.

Turning the Tables.

"What," said the man who always worries, "is to be done with all the doctors and lawyers we turn out?" "Don't fret," answered the cynic, "they take us in."—Baltimore Ameri-

Make Salesmen Of Your Windows After Dark

A store may shut its doors at sunset, but if its show windows are Electric Lighted and attractively dressed they are doing as effective soliciting for the next day's business as a corps of sales

Up-to-date stores nowadays consider window lighting a necessity, whether they remain open after dark or not. Competition forces "SHUT UP" after sunset in the old style or in the new?

There is no known illuminant which will light a shop window as effectively, hand-omely and satisfactorily as Electric Light. Fabrics are shown in their true colors and every little detail is brought out in true proportion to its surround n .

If your window is not Electrically lighted you are throwing away chances for increasing your business only measured by the number of people that pass your store after dark. Based on our new scale of Reduced Rates for current on Meter basis, Electric Light is not an expense-it is an ECONOMY. For information call MAIN 6688
