MONUMENT TO COMMODORE PERRY.
VICTORY MONUMENT AT PUT-IN-BAY.
 Put-in-Bay, nature's beauty spot, will be made more beautiful and attractive than ever by a monument which is being erected in recognition of Commodore Perry's great victory near the island. The monument is being put up at an expense of more than $2,000, most of which has already been raised by popular subscription.
 The statue is of the Goddess of Victory and is a reproduction of Alphonse Telzer's masterpiece. It will be made of copper bronze with the antique oxidized finish. The statue alone is ten feet high and is mounted on a twelve-foot pedestal of the beautiful and peculiar natural stone of the island. The pedestal will bear inscriptions telling of the victory. The wings of the goddess are two feet high and have a spread of seven feet from tip to tip. The entire statue is mounted on a battlement wall foundation and parapet arrangement, the parapet being twenty-six and a half feet square. It is enclosed by a stone balustrade with stone abutments or posts at regular intervals. A grass line surrounds the pedestal in which will be planted flowers and green sod.
 The approach to the monument is in peristyle effect. It is hedged with six pillars with tops surmounted by large glass globes with which to illuminate the spot at night. The columns are graduated in height, the tallest being nine feet and ranging from that down to the six-foot pedestals which will be surmounted with stone jardiniere for flowers. These are all connected by the balustrades.
 The approach is twenty feet deep and thirty feet across the front with concave sides and a convex front. A five-foot walk on the parapet encircles the statue so that it may be viewed from all sides.

BALLOONING ACROSS THE ALPS.
 Two Italian aeronauts, Signori Uselli and Crespi, crossed the Alps in a balloon called "Milano." They started from Milan and descended at Aix-les-Bains, having passed across Mont Blanc. The photograph was reconstructed from materials supplied by the voyagers. Recently Mr. Leslie Bucknall left the Wandsworth gas works and in sixteen hours descended on the River Loop near the Lake of Geneva, a distance of over 420 miles. In the darkness the aeronaut located the proximity of the Alps by the echo. Had he had a reserve of gas he would have crossed the mountains.

FIRE IN THE SKYSCRAPER.
 Chief Danger is the Inflammable Office Furniture.
 The construction of the new Singer building in New York, a lofty tower of forty-two stories, 612 feet high, leads the Journal of Fire to speculate on the consequences of a fire in this structure or in any very high steel frame building. It concludes that the average skyscraper is too high for adequate fire protection and that when such a building begins to burn the people in the upper stories will have to sit down with such calmness as they can muster and wait for it to be put out—or for the alternative.
 "The danger is not so much to property as it is to life and for this reason the matter deserves careful consideration," says the paper named above. "The modern office building contains a small army of occupants, both men and women, and the endangering of these is a great responsibility."
 "The skyscraper as a fire risk has not been sufficiently tested to justify any conclusion as to its fire safety, but judging by present knowledge and experience it represents a serious fire possibility. The question of safety for the occupants may be passed by in the belief in the 'fireproof' capacity of the building, but this belief is a delusion and a dependence on it is likely to result disastrously. The results of the Baltimore and San Francisco conflagrations were not needed to demonstrate the falsity of the 'fireproof' idea, for New York's fire experience was amply sufficient for this."
 "The so-called fireproof building is fire proof only as regards the structure itself and this only to a limited extent. The building, as such, does not assure the safety of the inmates nor the security of the contents and as regards fire danger to life it is the part of prudence to consider it from the standpoint of an ordinary building. It must be conceded that in an office building it is possible for fire to start and the smoke, heat and flames to spread throughout, making it impossible to use the stairways and elevator as exits. Under the circumstances it is to be expected that a number of persons will be imprisoned above the fire and their safety dependent upon circumstances."
 "The possibility of a serious fire in an office building is generally discounted on the ground that office buildings do not contain enough fuel for a considerable fire, but whoever entertains this notion should look about and estimate the quantity of combustible materials contained in an office in the shape of desks, cabinets, rugs, papers, etc. It is true that the usual office occupancy is not such as results in frequent fires, but there are the hazards due to the heat, light and power and in many instances offices are used for comparatively hazardous purposes. At the same time among thousands of offices it is reasonable to expect a certain proportion of fires and among these some that will get headway and result in a considerable fire."—Translation in Literary Digest.
