For many years Trinity Church, New York, was the most conspicuous feature of the lower part of Manhattan Island. Its lofty spire was the first point that attracted the eye of the incoming foreigner and convinced him at once that architecture was not a thing unknown in America. Now, however, the noble old structure lies buried in a group of skyscrapers, above which the pinnacle of its beautiful spire peers regretfully. As shown in the picture, the back of the church occupies the foreground, the elevated railroad close up to the churchyard wall. There is a station of the subway in front of the church property on the Broadway side.

AN EMINENT RED MAN.

The Late Dr. Oronhyatekha, Canada's Most Remarkable Indian. Canada's most remarkable Indian and in many respects the most eminent red man the American continent has produced has been gathered to his fathers. There have been many Indians whose names will go down in history, but as a rule they were celebrated for their prowess in savage warfare rather than for their attainments in the arts of peace and civilization. Pontiac, King Philip, Theyedenaga (Brant), Red Cloud, Sitting Bull, Geronimo—these are names which from early colonial times to the very recent past struck terror to the hearts of hardy colonists or frontier settlers. They are names of men great as savage chieftains, as barbarous war lords, and every schoolboy is familiar with them. But the splendid abilities of these men, unfortunately for them and for the aboriginal races they commanded, were expended in the theater of war. The walks of peace have been illuminated by few men of the Indian race. One of the most striking of these is United States Senator Curtis of Kansas—and he is but a quarter-blood. All things considered, therefore, perhaps it is not too much to say that in the death of Oronhyatekha there has passed from earth the American Indian most distinguished in the ways of civilization.

Dr. Oronhyatekha was supreme chief ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters. Oronhyatekha was a man of marvelous gifts as an organizer, and the Independent Order of Foresters under his magic touch has grown to be one of the greatest and most powerful organizations in the world, having hundreds of thousands of members in the leading English-speaking countries and a surplus of many millions in its treasury. This giant work is admitted to be due mainly to the great foresight, splendid judgment and magnificent organizing ability of the great Mohawk chief.

Oronhyatekha was of pure Indian blood and was born Aug. 10, 1841, at the Six Nations Reservation near Brantford, Ont. His English education began in the industrial school connected with the reservation near that town. Afterward he entered the Wesleyan Academy at Wilbraham, Mass., where he made a brilliant course. Notwithstanding the fact that he had to work after school hours to support himself, he generally stood at the head of his class, and at his final examination took the maximum number of marks in various subjects of study. For a year after leaving this institution he taught school among his own people near Brantford. He then entered Kenyon College, Ohio, where he remained for three years, afterward studying medicine at Toronto University.

While he was at the latter institution in 1890 the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII., visited Canada and young Oronhyatekha was selected by the chiefs of the Six Nations to present an address to his royal highness. The impression he made on the Prince and his party was so favorable that the young Indian was invited to continue his studies at Oxford, Eng., which he did under the care of the Prince's physician, Sir Henry Acland. Returning to America, Oronhyatekha began the practice of his profession at Frankfort, Ont., near Belleville, and was elected first secretary of the Hastings County Medical Association. He afterwards practiced at Nanapanee, Stratford and London, Ont. While in the latter city he was initiated into the Foresters and he rose rapidly to the position of chief executive, and at the time of the separation in 1881 was elected to the office of supreme chief ranger, which he has held ever since. He took up his official residence in Toronto when the executive offices of the order were established in that city in 1880. The growth of the order has been phenomenal under his guiding hand.

He was a Free Mason, a Good Templar and an Orangeman, and in all these organizations he held very high rank. He was president of the Union Trust Company and the Farmers' Operative Machine Company, Limited, and had traveled extensively over the leading countries of the world, establishing courts of the I. O. F. He was admired everywhere for his ability and generalship. His loss to the I. O. F. will be almost irreparable.

New Kind of Initiation Stunt.

Many are the absurd tasks that the candidates for initiation into certain college fraternities are compelled to perform before they are entitled to full membership. Miss Nancy Shykes, an elderly spinster, whose home was in a college town, was surprised one morning by a visit from a young man in fantastic garb.

"Good morning, madam," he said, lifting his jaunty little straw hat—it was in the dead of winter. "This is Miss Shykes, is it not?"

"Yes, sir. What do you want of me?"

"I am sent here," he replied, with the utmost solemnity, "by the Eta Bitta Pie Society to sweep your kitchen, paint your house, attend to your stoves, milk your cow, or do anything else you may want me to do. I wait your orders, madam."

Miss Nancy, who was a woman of rare self-possession, reflected a moment.

"All those things have been attended to, young man," she said, rubbing her nose, "but you may pay off the mortgage on my house."

"How much is it?"

"Four hundred dollars."

"It shall be done, madam," he said, without the slightest change in his countenance. "I wish you good morning."

He lifted his straw hat again, bowed profoundly and was gone.

It only remains to add that the young man, who was the only son of rich parents, and could well afford the sum out of his allowance, was as good as his word.—The Baptist Commonwealth.

Why the Lecture Ended.

A certain professor was giving his pupils a lecture on "Scotland and the Scots." "These hard men," he said, "think nothing of swimming across the Tay three times every morning before breakfast."

Suddenly a loud burst of laughter came from the center of the hall, and the professor, amazed at the idea of any one daring to interrupt him in the middle of his lecture, angrily asked the offender what he meant by such conduct.

"I was just thinking, sir," replied the lad, "that the poor Scotch chaps would find themselves on the wrong side for their clothes when they landed."—Lippincott's.

Wanted a Signal.

Madam (to the new cook)—When I ring once it's for you; when I ring twice it's for the maid.

Cook—How many times do I have to ring when I want to talk to you?—Fleegende Blaetter.

Then Changes Her Mind.

"Woman's a queer creature," said the bachelor. "When she will she will and that's all there is about it."

"But," remarked the youth who was once engaged, "sometimes she merely says she will."—Philadelphia Press.

The pessimist derives a lot of pleasure from his efforts to spoil the pleasure of others.
