TEN REDUCED TO ONE

BOARD OF MANAGEMENT OF STATE INSTITUTIONS.

Three Persons to Have Charge of Washington's Educational, Penal and Reformatory Houses.

OLYMPIA, Wash, Feb. IL-Scobey introduced an important bill in the house this afternoon. It is to abolish the dif-ferent managing boards of the 19 educanal penal and reformatory institution of the state, and to provide, instead, a board of three persons, of which the lieu-tenant-governor shall be ex-officio presttenant-governor shall be ex-officio prodent. The other two members are to appointed by the governor. This board shall be known as the "board of man-agement of state institutions," and shall draw a salary of $1200 each per annum, and a stated sum, not to exceed $2000 per m for the entire board, for judicin expenses, which shall cover all mileage and hotel expenses. Scobey, in introduc-ing this bill, has followed certain matters referred to in the governor's message wherein it is shown that the managing boards of various institutions have cost the state, in mileage and expenses alone, during the past two years about $55,000. Scobey says this expense can reasonable he reduced to $11,000 for two years by th of his bill. The offices the bill ton; regents of the agricultural college crperimental station and School of Sci-ence; regents of the normal schools at Ellensburg and Cheney; trustees of the chool for defective youth; trustees of the Eastern and Western Washington hos-pitals for the insane; trustees of the Sol-diers' Home; trustees of the reform school and directors of the state penitentiary.

Both houses of the legislature convened this afternoon at 3 o'clock, after a recess since Saturday. The senate, after re-maining in session about one hour, ad-journed for the purpose of permitting the joint tide lands committee, having under consideration the Tacoma water-front matter, to occupy the senate chamber. The house was in session until 5 o'clock. There was nothing of special importance transacted in either house, although a good deal of accumulated routine matters were disposed of. Fourteen new bills were introduced in the senate and 25 in the house and referred. In the house the house and referred. umerous petitions were presented urr ing legislation for the protection of the livestock industry of the state and the building of a state road to connect Seattle and Tacoma, and through Snoqualmis pass to connect Eastern and Western Washington. Fully 30 minutes of valuable time of the house was consumed over the report of the committee on enrolled bills, recommending the employment of three additional clerks to enroll bills. Fol only one clerk was authorized to be em ployed, after a vigorous effort of the comittee to obtain three

In the house today Miles of Douglas moved to recomsider the vote by which the "barefoot" school measure passed the se Saturday. After a parliamentary rangie, which lasted for a half hour, the totion to reconsider was lost by a vote of to 38. The matter now is left entirely the senate, and it will arouse a great deal of interest there, owing to the in-terest stirred up all over the state, and especially in cities of the first-clars, by the unexpected passage of the bill by the

tion of $2700 for the publication of copies of the biennial report of the state board of horticulture and the distribution

Temple's bill to reduce the amount altaken up. It occasioned a lengthy disfinally passed to its third reading, with neveral amendments, and will probably be passed by the house tomorrow. The bil The bill provides that sheriffs shall not receive ore than 30 cents per day for the board each prisoner in countles from the first the eighth class, instead of 60 cents, as at present; and 40 cents in countles from the ninth to the 29th class, instead of 70, as at present. If the bill passes, it will cut down the income of sheriffs material-ly, for their profit in boarding prisoners is known to amount to a great deal.

There is a great deal of opposition to the Rogers school bill, which passed the house Saturday. It is known as the "Barsfoot" law. The opposition is com-lag from the larger cities in the state, it being urged that if it becomes a law Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane will have to pay $222,000 annually for the support of the state schools at large, in excess of the present tax in those cities. At present these cities are special school dis-tricts and levy a tax for their own main tenance. Under the "Barefoot' bill a gen eral state tax is levied to the extent of Sin per child in the state and the special districts are wiped out. This takes from the wealthier counties and gives to the er, and as a part of the tax paid in Scattle, Tacoma and Spokane would be taken for other districts in the state, the cities named would have to make a spe ial levy to keep up the present efficiency

Representative Tull, of Spokane, has introduced a bill to work a radical change in the manner of taking the vote in nominating conventions. The measure pro vides that in all nominating conventions held under the auspices of any political party, the delegates shall vote viva voce and any nomination made by secret bal-

The fate of the bill now pending in the Oregon logislature relative to the fishing interests of the Columbia river, the main features of which were agreed upon at the recent meeting at Tacoma of the joint legislative committees, is awaited here with interest, and some degree of impatience. When the committees met at Tacoma it was believed that the different legislatures would accept the provisions the bill to amend the present laws without opposition, and the information that the bill has created some contention and delay at Salem is received here with surprise. The special committee of the Washington legislature was composed of members of the standing committees of both houses on fisheries. This is not e in the Oregon legislature, it is and is believed to be the real ause of the present difficulty there. The bill growing out of the conference has not yet been presented here, as the committee, in order to conform with the measure passed in Oregon, believe it ad-visable to first bear of its disposition. The Washington legislature is in ression 3 days after that of Oregon adjourns, and, in consequence, this course can be pur-

Owing to the financial distress that has been felt seriously in this state during the past two years, and numerous fallures and foreclosures on mortgaged prop all matters before the legislature are, of course, watched with great interest. The general belief is that so thing should be done to help, if possible, the person who has lost property by inability to meet obligations made nef that the present depression is only temporary. The judiciary committees of both branches of the legislature have had seek to solve the problem. But few of these bills, however, are deemed worthy of consideration, and will be dealt with long the payments run, because the inmorordingly. The house committee is seriously considering a measure which provides that after a decree of foreclosure is cutered, that the sale shall not take were made in lump sums, the state would place until one year thereafter, and then be final, instead of allowing one year for redemption, as now. It is probable that the committee will report favorably such a measure. It is believed that a law of this nature would be just and equitable Another matter the committee is favora-bly considering provides that whenever there is a foreclosure proceeding the mort gagor shall ask the court for the appoin ment of an appraiser, who shall apprai the mortgaged property and if it is appraised for more than the debt there can be no deficiency judgment. It resembles somewhat the present proceedings in pro-bate in regard to the estates of decedents in real and personal property.

In compliance with a resolution of fered in the house, the state land commis-sion has furnished a report of the lands selected by the state under the land grant acis. It is: Chehalis county, 12,371 acres; Clallam

The 18,786; Okanogan, 11,372; Pacific, 12,679 total is 479,700 acres. The balance to be selected is 148,250 acres.

Baum's bill to regulate telephone tolls, which is now in the hands of the house committee on corporations other than municipal, makes some sweeping reduc-tions in the rates charged in this state. For the use of a single telephone in a private residence, the bill fixes the month rental at $2. The companies now sarge from $4 to $5. In business houses not more than $2.50 shall be charged for a single telephone, the present rate rang-ing from $5 to $6. The bill also regulates the charge for the transmission of messages from one city to another, and prevides that not more than 25 cents for the first 10 words shall be charged. It is generally believed that the reductions pro posed are unreasonable, but the temp of the legislature is such that the present rates imposed by the companies are al most certain to be cut down to some extent.

The senate committee on taxation is having a contest over the remission of penalties on taxes, and now these ques-tions will come up before the joint senate and house committees. The indication are that for the coming year it will be reduced to 12 per cent for delinquents, with a 25 per cent penalty. An attempt will be made to either rebate the penalty and interest on the taxes of 1802-1, pro-vided they are paid this year, or to rebate the penalty and reduce the interest from 30 to 10 per cent. There will be a provision to the general county law providing that penalties and interest collected be credted to the different funds pro rata, in stead of keeping it all in the general fund. The measure to put counties on a cash basis by abolishing contingent and other funds, and requiring the salaries of officers to be paid in warrants, payable from the same fund that all other war-rants are drawn against, is quite popular n the committee, and it is believed such a bill will be reported favorably. The present bills will perhaps be consolidated into a substitute bill, which will perhaps contain some conditions for the protec-tion of the present officers, withholding its operation for several months, for in stance, and putting a safety-guard around all present outstanding salary warrants. The opposition to the salary and conlingent fund system is that in nearly every county in the state all the avail able moneys are put into the funds against which salaries and preferred claims are drawn, while the general dealer with the county—the furnisher of supplies, the con-tractor, the juror, the witness—all are paid by warrants drawn on a fund that is barren of money, and is certain to be so, so long as there is any danger of the two funds referred to running dry.

The greatest disadvantage under which he state board of health has suffered in the prorecution of its labors is the inabil ity to secure reports from the various parts of the state. The present law em powers the county auditor to prosecut physicians who fail to make returns, but so far as that officer is concerned, the law has been a dead letter. There is now a bill in the house which provides that the members of any local board of health may prosecute such derelict physicians, and it will undoubtedly pass.

Another bill of interest to the medical fraternity, is that in relation to the printing of the report of the state board o health. The present law has been so con strucd as to limit the number of copie to be printed to 200. This the hoard con-sidered useless, and the report has con-sequently not yet been printed. A bill in the house provides for the printing of sufficient number of reports to meet the demand.

The bill by Biggs for the repeal of the territorial law, which makes the collection district of Puget sound a local health dis-trict, and which has already passed the house, is very certain to meet with the same favorable action in the senate. The old law created a local board of health to be appointed by the governor, which board elects a health officer. The health officer is the one who profits by the jot His income is anywhere from $5000 to $800 per year, and there is consequently strong pressure in favor of retaining the office. His duties consist in boarding every incoming and outgoing vessel to ascertain that no contagious disease prevalent. For each vessel boarded by nspection, the fee is $10. But there is also stationed at Por Fownsend an assistant United States surgeon at the marine hospital, whose luties are identical with those of the health officer. His salary is $1800 per year and there is consequently no object for his interference with the local office. The coneral authority of the state board of health extends to quarantine, but the re-peal of that portion of the law relating to the local board at Port Townsen was not specific. The same bill wa passed in the house last year, but it neve came to life in the senate, because on The same bill was of the senators carried it around in hi pocket, and refused to report upon it The Port Townsend people say it is the only state institution they have, and as t does not cost the state a cent, they laim to be entitled to it. Nelson's bill lets down the bars to th juacks and removes a much-needed safe mard. It gives every physician a licento practice, upon presentation of he diploma. Under the present requirement a physician must first pass examinatio by the state board of medical exam iners, and the result is that Washington now has a fine class of physicians, while the riff-raff, who could not pass an examination, shifted into Oregon and Idaho

Senator Hull's bill, extending payments on school land contracts, will meet with approval everywhere, and will not only afford relief for purchasers, but will b a good interest-bearing investment for the state. A bill precisely similar was intro-duced in the house by Johnston, and mesed, with an amendment extending the time of payment to 1939. Purchasers under the law of 1890 were required to pay for their lands in 10 annual install-The bill of 1599 was a little easier it called for the payment of one-tenth the first year, one-tenth the second year, and then gave the purchaser the privilege of paying the balance at any time within 16 years. The bill now up for considera-tion will especially help purchasers under the 1800 law, whose lands are liable to forfeiture because of the inability to meet the second payment. The argument advanced for the state in extending the time on these land con tracts is that it is simply immaterial how long the payments run, because the in-terest must be paid, the lands are being not profit, because the law forbids the use of any of the permanent school fund except the interest. The state would have to reinvest such receipts, and perhaps not to such advantage. Under the new bill interest must be paid regularly, and pur-chasers may secure title at any time by making payments in full at the purchase price on appraised value. Many of the contracts now delinquent are for lands purchased under boom prices, so that the state's investment could not possibly be mproved.

Senator Hutchinson returned to th apital today after his Sunday recess. He brought with him a bride, however, and became the senate bridegroom. The sen-ator was married at Cle-Elum noon, Sunday, to Miss Marguerite Hayes. When the senate convened Senator Dorr of-fered the following:

Streets Across Tide Lands. OLYMPIA, Feb. 11.—The joint municipal corporations committees of the house and senate met today, having under consideration senate bill No. 29, authorizing any city of the first class to lay out, impact of the constant of prove and maintain streets and alleys over and across tide lands. The bill is of gen-eral and particular interest to Taxoma eral and particular interest The original townsite of Tacoma was owned by the Tacoma Land Company, which company, in laying out the streets, did not lay them across the water front and tide lands owned by this company. City Attorney Wickersham, of Tacoma appeared before the committee with a large map in which the land company's holdings were painted black. He gave the history of the case, and said that lands in front of the areas owned by the land company could now be taken from them, for they had not taken advantage of the law to purchase them. He added

'Our principal street is Pacific avenue and yet the fact is that we are kept just 30 feet from the waters of Puget sound, and have no way of reaching them." He explained that an effort had been made to open Pacific avenue to tide water and the city was met with demands which amounted to $50,000. The local board of tide land appraisers had no authority in the matter, and if it had, the people, h said, had little confidence in it. The streets of Seattle opened by the local board, he further said, were merely strips of land owned by the state, and could only ecome city property by the enactment of this proposed law. He concluded:

"The time to act is at the present. If this legislature adjourns without enacting this law, the Tacoma Land Company will purchase the tide flats in front of their erties, and the state will henceforth

Attorney P. C. Sullivan, of Tacoma, ignored the reflections on the county and on the local board of tide land appraisers

The land company is interested in the tide lands in front of their properties, and also in the general welfare of the city, and is as much interested in having the streets in proper places as the of ficials, but it has also a desire to plat the streets so that the value of the lands to them shall not be destroyed. Under this bill Tacoma can lay out the whole of the water front in a street, as well as ab-solutely control the harbor area. The constitution is opposed to this as the state would lose control as soon as it was Tacoma can extend her streets across the Tacoma Land Company's property at any time by condemnation, and could have done so for five years. What the city wants is to appropriate free the uch as fillings, the trackage of Northern Pacific railroad, etc., and only pay for the buildings. Under ...e state constitution the city cannot maintain streets over harbor area. The local tide land appraisers have authority to lay out streets just as had been done at Scattle. The legislature should not give away the state's control of these areas, which would be the case if the bill under dis-cusion became a law." The committee adjourned to meet at

THE WEEK OPESS WITH BUT LIT-TLE INQUIRY FOR PRODUCE.

The Wheat Market-Reports by Telegraph-General Produce and Financial Advices.

Produce was in but little request yesterday Produce was in but hitle request yesterday, and prices were not materially changed from those in force Saturday. The egg market is almost hare, and it is difficult to get at the true quotation. Probably from 19812e represents the market value. The price today will depend upon receipts. There was no inquiry for poultry, and the green produce market was slow. Merchandlee, provisions and groceries are unchanged.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. Share Speculation Unsettled, With

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Share speculation to-day was irregular and unsettled throughout the day, on a small volume of business, and the final sales showed declines, compared with Sat-urday's closing digures, in most instances. The advance in sterling exchange exerted a decrease in the market, and a majority of the trader ook the bear side. Cordage stocks were among the heaviest of the list, and were sold largely on rumors of an impending receivership, this being denied by officers of the company. The greater part of the selling was credited to an ex-officer of the company. The common stock declined 1½ per cent to 2%, the preferred ½ to 3, and the guaranteed % to 12, these figures being the lowest ever touched, and being 20%, 36 and 50% per cent, respectively, below the highest prices made by the stocks, which were reached from 3 to 20%. the heaviest of the list, and were sold largely June 3 last year. A slight recovery was made in the common and preferred in the final trad-ing today, but the guaranteed closed at the bot-toon figure. There was a renewal of the belling in Northwestern, and a break of 1% per cent was effected, from which there was no rally, Shear of the same of the recovery Sugar, after an early advance of 1/2 per cent

Sugar, after an early advance of ½ per cent-sold down 1% on liquidation of a speculative account, closing at the lowest point. The trading during the morning on the bond market was listless. In the late session, deal-ings were more animated, and some material changes were recorded. The final quotations for the general list dealt in, however, are lower. The aggregate sales were $22,500.

London Financial News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The Evening Post's andon cablegram says: The markets were quiet oday, but disorganized by the American situ-tion and the uncertainty whether congress at the eleventh hour will authorize a gold loan. It is felt here that President Cleveland has wisely arranged the matter so as to arrest the wisely arranged the matter so as to arrest the attention of the American nation to the cur-rency problem. Business in American stocks was neglected today, but the market is keenly watched. Operators are even decreasing their commitments in other markets, to be ready at the right moment for Americans, no public an-nouncement of the exact nature of the Ameri-
