TELEPHONES. Editorial Room, 106 Business Office, 107. PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 27. CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Parties desiring offices in the Oregonian building, may inquire of Portland Trust Company of Oregon, No. 125 First street, or the superintendent in the building.

RESERVOIR REPAIRS COMPLETED.—The work of repairing the defects in reservoir No. 2 has been completed, and it will be filled in a few days. Before this is done, however, the pipes connecting the reservoir with the waterworks on the East Side will be tested, to see if any leaks can be discovered. When this matter is disposed of, the reservoir will be filled, in readiness to supply the East Side. When there is a good supply of water, the six-inch jet will be turned on again, and the 15-foot column of spray will be visible from high points in the city. The force of such a column of water, falling from such a height, would heat the bottom out of the reservoir if it were not protected by a deep covering of water. There is a general impression that the council, at its next meeting, will water plant will turn over the East Side water plant to the water committee, and thus give the people there the benefit of Bull Run water, and also effect a considerable saving to the city.

YOUNG TEACHER SUICIDES AT WASHINGTON.—Passengers on the steamer Lone brought word to this city last evening of the suicide of Howard Crisler, a young schoolteacher at Washington, last Sunday. Crisler, who was but 22 years of age, came from Illinois last fall to seek a position in the public schools of Clarke county. Failing in his intention, and becoming financially embarrassed, he became despondent. Last Sunday the dwellers at the roof farm, two miles from Washington, where Crisler was staying, were startled by a single pistol shot, and, rushing to his room, they found the teacher still expiring with a bullet hole in his temple. Crisler is said to be well connected in Illinois. A sister, Miss Rose Crisler, has resided in Clarke county about five years, and is now teaching school at Washington. She was prostrated by her brother's rash act.

READY TO TAKE THE CENSUS.—Arrangements for taking the census of Multnomah county have been completed by Assessor Greenleaf, and it is probable that the enumerators will be out on the street by the middle of March. The county has been divided into 71 districts, according to the division made by the assessor. Last Sunday the dwellers at the roof farm, two miles from Washington, where Crisler was staying, were startled by a single pistol shot, and, rushing to his room, they found the teacher still expiring with a bullet hole in his temple. Crisler is said to be well connected in Illinois. A sister, Miss Rose Crisler, has resided in Clarke county about five years, and is now teaching school at Washington. She was prostrated by her brother's rash act.

THE DOG HAS DISAPPEARED.—City Treasurer Hinchey, who has been taken in and done for by a stranger in a dog transaction. A young man called at his office a few weeks since, bemoaning the fate of a beautiful dog named, which had been stolen from the dog-catcher, and was to be put to death, as he was unable to pay the license. To relieve his grief and save the beautiful dog from destruction, Mr. Hinchey agreed to pay the license and found the dog and take the dog home. He found himself out $100 by the transaction. A day or two since, while he was at the office, he noticed the dog disappeared, and it is believed that the original owner has him. Mr. Hinchey will not invest any more money in condemned dogs, but will keep a sharp lookout for the one stolen from him.

HE SAVED THE STATE MONEY.—Mr. George S. Downing, superintendent of the state penitentiary at Salem, was in the city yesterday, en route for Astoria with William Langford, a 15-year-old boy who wanted there as a witness in the criminal action of the state vs. John Peterson. Mr. Downing is very proud of his record during the past year. He has saved $15,000 of the general appropriation, when nearly all other state institutions ran behind, he thinks is something to be proud of. Not only was Mr. Downing highly complimented upon the condition of the penitentiary by the joint legislative committee, but by the Marion county grand jury also.

THE EVIL DAY PUT OFF.—Persons who have not made their income tax returns are feeling easy now that it is certain that the time for making such returns has been extended to April 15. Those who have hurried up, and got this painful business off their hands, are still more at ease, for the return will keep putting the thing off day after day, till the extension of time is coming to an end, and will then be in as great a rush as they have been for a long time or two. The collector of internal revenue expects to have a breathing spell for a while, but is certain there will be a rush when the wind-up comes, and he has to send in the returns.

WAITING FOR OFFICIAL NEWS.—The bridge commission is not quite certain what effect the passage of Long's bridge bill by the legislature is to have on it, but it is inclined to think that it is intended to put an end to its official existence. That's what other people know. Secretary Pittenger has sent for a certified copy of the act, in order that it may ascertain what its fate is to be. The commission has only forty days to get into new quarters in the City Hall, and, in anticipation of a short tenure of office, did not furnish the rooms very lavishly.

GETTING READY FOR ELECTION.—School Clerk Allen was out yesterday looking for rooms to lease as polling places for the election of school director, which is to take place on Monday, March 11. A meeting of the school board will be held on the evening of March 6, at 7:30 o'clock, to choose judges and clerks of election. General business will be transacted at this meeting, and there will be no regular meeting on the Friday after. At the election, the taxpayers will vote on the question of placing tolls on vehicles crossing the bridges which are now free.

THE CENTURY WAR BOOKS.—The Oregonian now has a nice supply of these books, bound in red cloth, for sale at the small price of 5c. If they are to be mailed to you, add 5c. cents for postage. This same history of the war, when sold in book form by the Century Company, sold for 25c. When the supply is exhausted, it will undoubtedly be the last opportunity to get them through the Oregonian. We also have a few of Napoleon bound in cloth, for sale at 25c; also 50c to be added for postage.

SENATOR DOLPH STAYS.—Senator Dolph seems to bear up very well under his late defeat. He is about town much as usual, and he always talks and acts as if nothing unusual had happened. He was seen yesterday, and asked if he were going back to Washington. He said: "No, I am not. There is no business to call me there. I am a citizen of Oregon, and am going to remain in the state and practice law."

THIS IS ASH WEDNESDAY.—At Trinity church today, the first day of Lent, commonly called Ash Wednesday, there will be, at 11 A. M., Lenten sermon and celebration of the Holy Eucharist, at 7:30, there will be evening and an address by the rector. All are cordially invited to the services.

Parties desiring offices in the Oregonian building, may inquire of Portland Trust Company of Oregon, No. 125 First street, or the superintendent in the building.

ARRESTED IN YAMHILL COUNTY.—J. T. Fryer and A. J. Edson, arrested yesterday at Carlton, Yamhill county, by Constable Corron, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, with having hearing today. Ira Allen, living at Beedville, is the prosecuting witness. When brought to Portland, both men were able to furnish $500 bail and thus escaped passing the night in jail.

FOR A DIVISION OF PROPERTY.—The taking of testimony in a suit for a division of the estate of Mrs. Philinda Terwilliger, between the Green heirs and the Richardson heirs, began yesterday before George H. Durham, master in chancery. The evidence submitted is mostly documentary, and the taking of it will, it is thought, not occupy more than three or four days.

THEY GOT CERTIFICATES.—In addition to the list of persons printed a few days ago as having successfully passed the late quarterly examination for teachers in the public schools, certificates were granted to Miss Clara Brown and Miss Gertrude Stribay.

EDITH L. PEAKE.—The meeting conducted by this gifted woman last night was one of great power. She preaches to the church, United Presbyterian church, Sixth and Montgomery, Come.

COLONEL H. B. BAKER, a veteran of the late war, died at the insane asylum at Salem last Saturday, and was buried at Forest Grove yesterday.

ASH WEDNESDAY.—Social religious service at the Unitarian chapel this evening; theme, "Symbolic and Real Repentance." PLANT NOW.—Roses, carnations, narcissi. Prices very low at Burkhardt Bros.

PHILIP WASSERMAN DEAD

Es-Mayor of Portland, and a Worthy and Honored Citizen. Mr. Philip Wasserman, a pioneer resident of this city, and one largely identified with the business interests of Portland for many years, died at his residence, 265 Davis street, yesterday morning, after a long illness. He was 62 years of age and had an operation performed for cancer on his tongue, and while it proved in a measure successful, his nervous system since then had been so badly affected that he finally brought about a complication of physical troubles. The immediate cause of death was heart failure. He had been ill about one month, and yesterday morning he experienced a severe attack of illness, from the effects of which he never rallied, his death taking place at 10 o'clock. Philip Wasserman was a native of Bavaria, born in December, 1830, and came to this country in his early youth. Attracted to the Pacific coast in the earlier days of the gold excitement, he first located in San Francisco, thence going to Sonora, where he lived for some time. Later he went to Oregon, and engaged in business. In 1855 he came to Portland, joining with his brother Herman in the tobacco and cigar business. He made this city his home ever since. The history of Mr. Wasserman in Portland is the record of a busy man. He was actively engaged in mercantile pursuits until 1882, when he retired from participation in affairs, and since has led a quiet life. He was a man of high respect and admiration of all who knew him. In public affairs he always took a deep interest, and he held several positions of trust and responsibility. In 1874 he was elected mayor of this city, serving with great credit his term of two years. He was also a member of the legislature of the state many years ago, and also faithfully served this district as a school director. The history of Mr. Wasserman as a friend to the children, particularly among those of his own sect, who delighted in calling him "Uncle Phil." On numerous occasions during the holiday season he would have a merry party at which the younger set of children he would give a profusion of toys. He leaves a widow and five children—Mrs. Alice Hausman, the eldest, the wife of Police Commissioner Henry Hausman; Milton, James, Gertrude and Edna—to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. His eldest son, Samuel, died a number of years ago, just as he was approaching manhood, and his loss was a sad bereavement to his parents. The funeral of Mr. Wasserman will take place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the family residence, and the body will be interred at the Beth Israel (Jewish) cemetery.

O. N. G. APPOINTMENTS.

Honors for Major Telfer and Mr. Dunne—Some Reappointments. Appointments on the general staff of the Oregon National Guard are pouring in, and Assistant-General Mitchell is kept busy filling out applications. The appointment of Major G. F. Telfer as inspector-general gives a great deal of satisfaction in this city, and particularly to Colonel Mitchell, who has long held the appointment from the governor. The major is an old first regiment man. He was elected second lieutenant of company A after serving faithfully in the ranks, in December, 1861, and in February of the following year he was elected first lieutenant and regimental adjutant. In July, 1862, Lieutenant Telfer was elected major of the first battalion, First regiment, and served in the capacity until about a year ago, when he resigned because of his removal to Albany. Colonel Telfer was formerly manager of the firm of Lewis & Dryden, in this city, but now has charge of Knapp, Burrell & Co.'s establishment at Albany.

Captain David M. Dunne, the new commissary-general, has never seen actual service, but he is a man of high standing, a great admirer of the organization, and has done much to further its interests. He was a member of the board of county commissioners at the time the present Army was built, and took an active interest in the work at the time. Captain Hiram E. Mitchell has been re-appointed brigade quartermaster, and will also act as assistant adjutant-general on the brigade staff. Captain L. E. Jones has also been re-appointed as inspector of small arms practice, and is already in possession of his commission. It is expected that Colonel P. B. Drake will be retained in his position as judge-advocate-general on the governor's staff. He has done efficient service, and National Guardsmen generally are desirous of seeing him retained.

SNAPSHOTS FROM KODAKS

Mr. H. Goldsmith Entertains the Oregon Camera Club. At the Oregon Camera Club held an enjoyable meeting in its rooms in the First National bank building last evening, and entertained a large number of friends and invited guests. The special feature of the evening was the display of Hawaiian photographs, made by Mr. H. Goldsmith, an enthusiastic amateur. The views had been transferred to lantern slides, and were magnified and projected upon a huge white canvas by means of a stereopticon. There is a freshness and novelty about these views that renders them far more attractive than stock pictures. Perhaps the perspective is not always exact, and there are occasional blurs, or "ghosts," on the plate, but an amateur's work without these natural signs would indeed be uninteresting. It must be said of the majority of Mr. Goldsmith's pictures, however, that they are exceptionally good, and show excellent taste, and those who saw them last evening were not slow in expressing their admiration. The club has now a membership of nearly 50, and they are nearly all enthusiastic amateurs. These occasional meetings, when photographs are exchanged, and discussions invited as to the best methods in "snap-shooting," are becoming very popular, and scarcely a month passes but that new recruits seek admission to the magic circle. Whenever a member absent himself on a trip, his return is eagerly awaited, for he is sure to bring some treasure that will add to the interest of the next meeting. While the club is still young, the rooms are already prettily decorated with flowers from almost every country on the globe, and they are all the work of amateurs.

A NEW MEDICAL BOARD

Law Regulating Practice of Medicine and Surgery. The bill for an act to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery in this state, and to license physicians and surgeons, which was passed by both branches of the legislature and signed by the governor, has become a law, as it entailed an emergency clause declaring that it shall be in full force and effect after its approval by the governor.

It provides that the governor shall appoint a board of six examiners, consisting of three from the school of regulars, two homeopaths, and one eclectic, who shall be known as the board of medical examiners, and who shall be learned and skilled in the theory and practice of medicine and surgery. At the request of the governor, the Portland Medical Society has nominated 12 allopaths, from whom he shall select three members of the board to represent the regulars. The nominees are as follows: J. D. Fenton, K. A. J. Mackenzie, W. H. Watts, W. H. Sayre, whether or not they are mentioned in the bill, and the others are: C. C. Smith, P. C. Cuthbert, C. H. Wheeler, O. S. Binewanger, A. J. Giesy, S. E. Joseph and Richard Kelly, of Portland, and I. D. Pruet, of Astoria.

The shining board shall hold meetings for examination on the first Tuesday of January and July of each year, alternately in Eastern and Western Oregon, provided that the first meeting be held at Portland within 20 days after the appointment and qualification of said board. The board shall keep a record of all its proceedings, and show a record of all applicants for license, together with their register whether or not they are mentioned in the bill, and the name and location of all institutions granting such applicants degrees, etc. Persons who have a license as practicing physicians under the act, and the only thing required of them is to make application to the secretary of the new board, including their license, before April 1. All other persons desiring to practice medicine or surgery in this state must make application and submit to examination, both scientific and practical, and of sufficient severity to test the candidates' virtues to practice medicine and surgery. If the board is satisfied, the board shall grant a license by the consent of not less than four members. The board may refuse or revoke a license for unprofessional or dishonorable conduct, or for a violation of the provisions of the act, or for a party aggrieved to appeal to the state circuit court and the supreme court. The words unprofessional or dishonorable conduct are declared by the act to mean:

First—The procuring, or aiding or abetting in procuring, a criminal abortion. Second—The employment of what are popularly known as "cappers" or "wretchers." Third—The obtaining of any fee on the assurance that a manifestly incurable disease can be permanently cured. Fourth—The willful betraying of a professional secret. Fifth—All advertising of medical business in which untruthful and improbable statements are made. Sixth—All advertising of any medicine, or of any means whereby the monthly periods of women can be regulated, or the uterus or ovaries stimulated or suppressed. Seventh—Conviction of any offense involving moral turpitude. Eighth—Habitual intemperance. Any person practicing medicine or surgery within this state after the first day of April, 1893, without first having obtained the license provided for by the act, or contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than 10 nor more than 30 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. All such fines shall be paid to the county treasury for the use and benefit of the common schools. Any person shall be regarded as practicing within the meaning of this act who shall accept the letters "M. D." or "M. B." to his name, or for a fee prescribe, direct or recommend the use of any person, any drug, or medicine or remedy of any kind, or for the relief of any wound, fracture or bodily injury, infirmity or disease, provide, however, the act shall not apply to the practice of dentistry, or to the practice of the dental profession. Justices of the peace and the respective municipal courts shall have jurisdiction of violations of the provisions of this act, in December, 1893, and in February of the following year. In cases of appeal to the circuit court, as hereinbefore provided, it shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county in which the appeal shall be tried to represent said board upon said appeal. And in all cases of appeal to the supreme court under the provisions of this act, the attorney-general shall represent said board upon such appeal.

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT

A Colored Veteran and His Unwarranted Arrest. Joseph Clark, a colored veteran soldier and member of the G. A. R., was for a second time acquitted of the charge of vagrancy in the municipal court yesterday. Clark is a cook by trade, but is now out of work on account of the hard times. There seems to be something beneath the paragon of the law, but he has not yet come to the surface, and Chief Mintz proposes to investigate the matter. Members of the Grand Army of the Republic have also interested themselves, and will demand strict attention to the arrest. It is probable that the police commissioners will have the matter also brought to their notice and an investigation asked. George Brookmiller, a youth employed in the tailoring establishment of Borquist & Reffling, is held on two charges of larceny preferred by his employer. He was arrested yesterday, and will have an examination today. Two young boys, Marshall and Robinson by name, are charged with the larceny of a lot of clothing belonging to members of the Willamette Rowing Club. They will have a hearing Thursday. The examination of Peter Dolan, for assaulting his brother with an ax, went over until tomorrow.

Union Meetings.

Rev. J. Sumnerfield Butler, who will conduct the revival meetings of the Methodist church union, is expected to arrive from Cleveland, O., Friday evening next and open the services Sunday in Centenary church. Committees on music, publication and general arrangements have been appointed from the pastors of the churches forming the union. A choir of 50 voices has been arranged for, which includes some of the best singers of the various churches, and will be under the leadership of W. E. Burke. The following are the churches and pastors who compose the union: Sellwood, Rev. A. S. Mulligan; Trinity, Rev. G. A. L. Baker; Tabernacle, Rev. J. W. Horn; Mount Taber, Rev. H. Harrington; Woodlawn, Rev. Dr. Hines; University, Rev. H. N. Rounds; Centenary, Rev. J. N. Denison; St. Paul's, Rev. J. M. McDonald; Grace, Rev. H. Rasmus; Clark, Rev. S. W. Striker. Rev. Dr. Gue, of Portland, will be chairman and general adviser. The meetings are expected to embrace the whole city. After holding services for some time in Centenary church, Rev. Butler will go to the other churches of the union. All the Epworth Leagues of the city are expected to take part in work among the young people. A meeting of the Centenary League was held Tuesday evening, and it was decided to call a meeting of the various leagues at the parlors of Centenary church for next Tuesday evening, when all the lines of work will be decided on.

THAT INSURANCE "AD."

Mr. Mulford Makes a Correction and Statement of Interest to Insurers. PORTLAND, Feb. 25.—(To The Oregonian.)—The Weekly Underwriter, an insurance newspaper of recognized standing, now in its 26th year, published in its issue of December 22 the following news item:

"Ten companies carrying lines on the life of the late James Dugan, of Salem, Mass., aggregating $30,000, have compromised. The other six cases, aggregating over $100,000, are not settled. Mr. Dugan died in June, 1882. It appeared that he had failed, and had taken most of the policies shortly before his death, and suicide was suspected."

"The amounts adjusted in the case of the late James Dugan, of Salem, Mass., mentioned in this paper last week, are: Mutual Life, $20,000 each; State Mutual Life, $30,000 each; Mutual Life of New York, $50,000; Home Life, $5,000; New England Mutual Life and Berkshire Life, $10,000 each. A policy of $10,000 was paid in full by the Manhattan Life.

"The amounts in litigation are: Equitable Life, $50,000; National Life of Vermont, $50,000; Mutual Life of New York, $25,000 each; Northwestern Mutual Life, $25,000 each; Aetna Life, $10,000. These companies allege fraud, the Equitable charging not only suicide, but also false representation in the application. Dugan, with no knowledge of the facts except the above clippings from a journal of established reputation, I inserted an article in The Oregonian, giving the list of the companies named in the advertisement, indicating which companies contested, compromised or paid in full. I was subsequently advised that the Mutual Benefit policy had lapsed prior to Mr. Dugan's death by the application of the Anson company, and that it was therefore not in force when Mr. Dugan died, and consequently payment was refused; this correction was promptly attested by me in your column. I am now making the Anson advertisement was on the same ground, and I am glad to make the same correction in this case.

In this connection, as considerable comment has been made from a number of companies named in my advertisement, I deem it proper here to state that when a life insurance company refuses to pay a claim, and accepts litigation, its action becomes public, and I see no propriety in publicly noticing it; but I had no desire to assail any of these companies, and if the statements of the Weekly Underwriter were inaccurate I regret any misconception which may have been caused by my advertisement.

The purpose of my advertisement was, of course, to show that the Manhattan had paid its claim in full where other companies did not, but more especially to demonstrate forcibly the desirability of a policy free from restrictions and conditions—such a policy as the Manhattan issues. Nearly all life insurance companies, in their insurance contracts, more or less of limitations as to residence, travel, occupation, habits or cause of death (including suicide); a violation of which—limiting clauses—furnishes opportunity for contest. I do not question the right of any company to insert as many restrictions in its insurance contracts as the insured will accept, but I believe that insurance should insure without any "ifs," "buts," and "I cannot myself," in representing the company that introduced the incontestable clause in American life insurance, and has eliminated from insurance contracts those restrictive clauses which may be the cause of possible grounds other than fraud or non-payment of premium.

True, the claims contested by reason of these restrictive clauses constitute a very small percentage of the total claims paid, but such a restriction brings little comfort to the heirs who suffer by these contests. I have full confidence that any good life insurance company will promptly and squarely pay what it contracts to pay. I submit, however, that a contract to pay, "provided" certain rules and regulations are complied with, introduces an element of doubt which cannot exist where the insurance contract is free from these conditions.

The insurance contract offered by the Manhattan Life Insurance Company is absolutely free from any of these conditions, and I am confident that the companies that retain these restrictive clauses, from which so many contested claims have arisen, I consider the Manhattan policy as, par excellence, insurance that insures.

S. E. MULFORD, Manager, Oregonian Building.

Mr. Stratton's Funeral. The funeral of Mr. Milton A. Stratton, of the East Portland Canning Bank, who died very suddenly Sunday afternoon, took place yesterday afternoon, from his residence at 22 East Tenth street. A brief and impressive service was conducted at the house by Rev. T. L. Elliot, of the Unitarian church, who spoke in appropriate terms of the high character of the deceased. Following the services the remains were conveyed to Riverview cemetery. The services were attended by the relatives and friends of the family. Numerous floral tributes were placed on the elegant casket containing the remains, and at the cemetery the grave was almost concealed beneath the flowers.

WE WANT TO SELL THE ONE But will sell the other. A party owns a very desirable residence site on Portland Heights, containing more than a block, which can be had for $1500. This we want to sell because the owner is unable to improve it as it should be. They also own a large residence site, 80x150 feet, on the very top of the most sightly portion of Hansen's addition, near the Sunnyside motor line. This we want to hold, but if we fail to sell the piece first described, then we will let it go for $1500. It is cheap—it is desirable. It will make a gem of a home, and if we do sell it the lucky buyer will find that it is so situated that he will experience little difficulty in disposing of it, in case he should wish to do so. For particulars see DeLASHMUTT & SON, 37 and 39 Stark Street.
