MEDALS DECIDED UPON

SPANISH WAR VETERANS AGREE ON A DESIGN.

Governor Geer Meets the Ex-Volun. teers at the Residence of General Summers.

At the home of General Summers last evening the delegates assembled in Portevening the delegates assembled in Port-iand to organize a state veteran associa-tion of volunteers finished the work com-menced the evening before, and adjourned aline die. Four or five resolutions bearing on work to be done were passed, and a design for the medal to be presented to the soldiers by the state was agreed upon. Governor Geer was present to take part in the festivities of the occasion, and to complete arrangements for the manufac-ture of the medals, regarding which he

state, and on the other the relief of a spidler in field uniform, carrying a Spring-field rifle. Above the disc will be two hars, to which it will be connected. The inscription used for those who went to the Philippines will differ from that for the members of the batteries who were called out but were so unfortunate as not to cross the water. For the former the incrops the water. For the confict the scription will specify, "For gallant services in the Philippine Islands, from the state of Oregon," and for the latter the service will be changed simply to the Spanish war. This difference arose from the desire on the part of the governor to the confice the regiment in the field compething. give the regiment in the field something specifying their service, as is being done by most all other states of the West who had volunteer regiments in the Eighth army corps. All the volunteers called out could not receive this, and there was no disposition to slight the good purpose of those who were ready and anxious to take the field. To cover the case fully and correctly, both inscriptions were decided upon. The design is now in the hands of firm who will execute a model shortly

A resolution was adopted declaring it the sense of the state association that annual encampments be held, of not less than a week duration, the time and place to be chosen by the council of adminis-tration inter on. A committee of three members, W. C. North, Captain Sanford Whiting, and Guy Jennings, and of which General Summers is ex-officio chairman, was appointed to take up the matter of the return of the remains of de-ceased comrades to America, and also to secure a suitable plot of ground as a common cemetery for the seldiers, where the dead should be interred if the approval of parents was given. A motion concerning funds for the erection of a monument to the fallen empowered the council of administration to appoint committees to confer with the citizens' committee on this subject, and to take such action as should be deemed necessary in the premises. General Sum-mers, commanding the state organization, was authorized to appoint a judge-advo-cate and an inspector for the entire regi-ment. The matter of employment was left to a committee, which shall be ap-pointed in each camp by the major com-manding the battalion in which the camp

The evening was passed very enjoyably by all the members attending the social and business meeting. General Summers and wife provided refreshment and various entertainment for all those visiting the house, and until a late hour the boys talked over times that are not yet very old, yet are of great interest.

MR. ALISKY FOUND GUILTY

Judge Hennessy Pines Him $10 for Violating Ordinance 11,112.

Judge Hennessy yesterday afternoon decided that C. A. Alisky was guilty of viotaling the ordinance forbidding the open-ing of trapdoors from beneath, and fined him 210, but saw fit to remit the fine, "In view of the fact that this is the first violation of this ord was unintentional." Following is the text "Defendant is charged by the complain with violating ordinance No. 11,112. This ordinance was passed for the purpose of protecting pedestrians from accidents which might happen should gratings of buildings over the cellarways thereof be suddenly raised from beneath without warning to pedestrians. The provision under which the defendant was arrested is that no person shall allow any cellarway or entrance in the sifewalks of the city to from beneath the sidewalk, and all such doors or doorways shall only be opened from the surface of the sidewalk. Other portions of the ordinance provide for the as I construe it, the intention is to make anybody who has any authority over the building responsible for accidents. The owner, in particular, is the party who ordinance, for it is in his power so to construct the doorways leading to the cel-lar as to render it impossible for any person or persons to violate the ordin words, he can so construct the doors as to make it necessary for either his tenants or strangers to open the doors from the outside. Should the ordinance be otherwise construed all that would be ensary for an owner of a building to do would be to let his building to some person, whether responsible or not, and thereupon the public would have no protection, especially when in a case like this it is claimed that a total stranger opened

"It is the duty of this court so to co strue ordinances as to make them protec tive and to follow as nearly as possible the intention of the law-makers in framing them. My understanding of the matter is that the council intended that unleading into basements be opened other-wise than as provided by the ordinance, and as I have said, the owner is fully empowered to protect himself by so con-structing the doors as to prevent a recurrence of the accident which happe the defendant violated the ordinance, and must therefore find him guilty."

surmising that there will be a demand for more streets lights before the year is past. There has been but very little de-mand for street lights for some time, for has been well understood that under the present contract with the electric com-pany there were to be no new lights erected. A few petitions have been received for changes of lights and for lights ces where they were needed, under the idea that a light might be move from some place where it was not so bad-ly needed. This is a difficult question to decide, for if it is proposed to change a lamp to any new position it is at once shown that it is indispensable where it is The city has 713 are lamps and 635 in-candescents, and it is the opinion of some city officials that this number of lamps is auflicient to furnish all the street lighting really necessary for the city, if they are properly distributed. The trouble is that it is a problem whether a lamp is mos

needed where it is or in some other place, and then to get it moved if desirable.

There is more than likely to be trouble between the city and the electric company about the lighting for this year. Th tract last year to light the city for a sum equal to an apportionment of 1½ mills out of the 8-mill tax levy, amounting to about $55,000. Now the assessed valuation of property has been cut down ten millions, and the 1½ mills for lighting purposes is not likely to amount to nearly so much. Some would have it understood that the electric company is bound to accept the proceeds of the 14-mill apportionment in full for the year's lighting, but the company is likely to take another view of the matter. As the 11/2-mill apportionment appears to be all the funds available for paying for lights, it seems hardly worth while to begin worrying at present about additional lights which may be asked for before the end of the year.

UNSATISFACTORY, OF COURSE

Druggists Get the Best End of New Liquor License.

The new liquor license ordinance is not giving universal satisfaction. It is not on record that any ordinance of the kind and a committee from the soldiers had ever did. In this case, however, it is albeen conferring.

The design of the medal for the volunteers is a disc, about the size of a silver dollar, bearing on one side the seal of the state, and on the other the relief of a show cases and windows filled with liquors of all kinds in bottles, pint and half-pint, or even smaller flasks, the grocers and restaurant men are required to pay a li-cense of $400 for selling in quantities of less than one gallon. While two restaurant men, Brandes and Richards, have taken out licenses, and two Chinese grocers have done the same, none of the white grocers have yet taken out a license, and some of them yet have hopes that the ordinance may be repealed. The wholesale liquor dealers are not exactly satisfied with the new law, as it has been held to require them, if they sell liquors in quantities less than one gallon, to take out a retailer's license, in addition to their wholesale license, and they say that they have goods, such as benedictine, vermouth and various kinds of bitters, which they never sell a gallon of at a time, as a bot-tle or two of these is sufficient to supply most saloonkeepers for a long time. As the law now stands, saloonkeepers will be likely to purchase supplies of such articles from druggists, who have no limits placed on their sales.

As an official remarked yesterday, the council does not legislate in the interests of the general public. What should be general ordinances are passed in the in-terests of some special class, as has been the case in this change in the liquor license. The Liquor Dealers' Association started the agitation. They had an ordinance drawn up and presented with the idea of being released from what they considered unfair competition on the part of grocers, restaurant men and druggists. They have succeeded in "doing up" the grocers and restaurant men; but by some shrewd manipulation the druggists have come out away ahead in the matter, and a number of retail liquor dealers who have been supplying wines to families by the gallon have been hurt in the deal. It is suggested that an ordinance of one paragraph, providing that all persons sell-ing liquors in the city of Portland shall pay a license of $400 per year, and pro-viding a penalty, would have filled the bill, would have been more equitable and more beneficial to the city, than the need-lessly long ordinance which gave opportunity for sculduggery in the way of amendments. Such an ordinance would not suit all who deal in liquor. No license ordinance that can be drawn would, but this ordinance would at least make no discrimination.

CLANS ARE GATHERING.

All Democrats Are Going to Attend Meeting Monday Night.

Tremendous efforts are being put forth to make the meeting of democrats at Turn halle Monday right, in honor of A. Jackson, an affair which will be unprec edented in the local history of the party in Portland. All the old-timers, in cluding S. Pennoyer and E. Killfeather, will be urged to attend, and all past or present leanings toward gold or expansion will be forgiven. What is wanted is a crowd; given that, and nothing will be lacking to the glittering succe occasion. The list of speakers, while de-cided upon, has not yet been given out. It is the intention to spring a series of dazzling and overwheiming surprises on the assemblage, that shall have the effect of uniting them like burrs for the present campaign, and send them out rooting for the cause till the welkin shall ring as it has never rung before.

The affair will be in the hands of the democratic county committee, which has now buried the chestful of hatchets with which its members were formerly wont to carve each other, and is working with the harmony of an infant Sunday school class. It is considered that such utterances wou distracteful to the men who voted for

DEMAND FOR WOODCHOPPERS

Southern Oregon Man Hires 150 of Them in Portland.

J. T. Tuffs, of Wolf Creek, who was in Portland yesterday, left orders for 150 woodehoppers at a city employment office. He is manager of the Sugar Pine Door der no circumstances should doorways & Lumber Company's interests in that leading into basements be opened other-part of Southern Oregon, and the men are needed to fill a contract for 30,000 cords of wood, to be cut for the Southern Pacille railroad. Mr. Tuffs said woodchoppers were scarce in that section of the state this winter, though usually more I am constrained to think men present themselves than are needed. Men are paid $1 15 a cord for cutting and pilling the wood "at the stump," 'the wood eing hauled to Wolf Creek station on sep arate contracts. Choppers camp out, fur-nishing their own supplies, which can be ought at the Sugar Pine Door & Lumber Company's stores, near by. Men usu-ally go in pairs, building their own cabins and having a regular picule in the resinous timber, where sunshine is much more prevalent than in the northern part of the state, as the climate of Josephine resembles that of California, rather than of Oregon. The contract, it is thought, will take two years to fill. The advance in prices of both wood-cutting and the finished product show that prosperity has gathered this industry into it benign folds, as it has swept over the country. Three years ago, woodchoppers were paid 20 cents a cord in the same woods, while men were tager to get he work. Now the price has advan the work and the contractors pay the most of the men's fare from Portland. The Southern Pacific railroad could get all the wood it wanted in 1897 for $2 a ny makes no complaint about

JUSTICE VREELAND WRESTLES WITH BUILDING LITIGATION.

Sunnyside Firemen May Connect With the Town Bell-Obstructions Left in Burnside Street.

Justice Vreeland, of the East Side court, nas under advisement his decision regarding the suit of Charles Lohkamp against Mrs. Katle Salchenberger, of Bridgeport, for $170, alleged to be due for the erection of a dwelling on the place of the latter. Mrs. Salchenberger set up in her answer that she did not owe the defendant a cent, inasmuch as the house —or rather the something he calls a house —was not put up according to contract, and that as it stands it is an eyesore to her and the neighborhood. She, therefore, set up that, instead of owing Lohkamp anything, he owes her $200 for damages alleged to have been sustained by the erection of the shack which disgraces her premises. The trial continued almost all day yesterday, and there were about 30 eople present from the neighborhood, ost of whom were witnesses on one side or the other. There was also a mass of complaints, answers, other complaints and more answers and a long list of articles bought by Lohkamp when con-structing the dwelling, until the justice might have decided the case by weighing appear that his claim is just and ought to be paid, and that the house was built according to contract. On the part of eron, William Christianson, Louis E. Sauthe defense, however, there was another story. It was asserted that the house was not constructed according to contract, that damp lumber was used, so that it shrunk up, leaving cracks wide enough for a cat to creep through with comfort; that for the ceiling ship lathing was used instead of first-class ceiling, and sixnch flooring instead of four-inch stuff. But that was not the worst feature. The roof has sagged down in the center so that it looks very much like a swayback horse. It was asserted that the rafters nad not been "tied" together, and that a fall of snow would cave the roof in. For this and other reasons, Mrs. Salchen-berger declined to pay the claim of the defendant and demanded $200 damages in-Just how long Justice Vreeland will have to ruminate before he gives his decision it is not known, but he may have to visit the house first. Pleasant Home Notes.

J. R. Strauss will move his sawmill in a few days one mile south of its present location, where he will have a very fine and large body of timber. He has cut all the timber that will make lumber where it now stands, and he is compelled to move to another place. There is talk of another sawmill coming into the neigh-borhood to cut out more railway ties. Mrs. Wabill, who has been very sick for the past two weeks, is considered some better, and the chances are favorable for her recovery.

Thompson Van Fleet, who has been sick for some time, is very low and growing weaker daily. It is thought that he can live but a few days. He is an old soldier, having served in the civil war. He came to this coast from Nebraska. For several years he has been making his home in Pleasant Home district. The old soldiers are looking after him. The installation and annual campfire of the M. A. May Connect the Tower Bell. The Sunnyside volunteer firemen have started a movement for the purpose of getting the tower bell over the hosehouse on Belmont street, connected with the electric fire alarm system. They propose to raise most of the money themselves to meet the expenses of making the con-nection by giving dances in the upper portion of their building, where there is a considerable hall. It is thought that the expense of making this connection will be about $150. There is a 300-pound bell in the tower which can be heard over the Sunnyside district, and with it connected with the fire alarm system it would repeat the strokes of the down-town bell and thus give the alarms out there. Being so far away, the residents at Sunnyside cannot always hear the general alarms. If the connection be made, it will probably have to be largely paid for by the volunteers themselves, owing to the condition of finances, with such help as the commissioners may feel justified in giving them. It is thought by the volun-teers that they would have no great difficulty in raising the money themselves with dances and entertainments at their hall.

East Side Notes.

Rev. G. A. Blair, pastor of the Cumber-and Presbyterian church, has been sick the past week, but has about recovered, and will be able to occupy his pulpit tomorrow.

The launch Katie Weir, the property of Captain Weir, which has just been rebuilt in Supple's boatyard, was launched yesterday. The little craft will soon be ready for business. In the recent freshet the boat was severely handled and sunk, but is now almost as good as new

The health officer put in a portion of yesterday giving notices to families to desist from throwing garbage into the streets and back yards. There were many places where this has been done, and it will have to cease. Fair notice is given, and further notifications will not be made, but prosecutions may follow.

The following officers of the Sunday school of the First United Evangelical church were chosen at the annual elec-tion: Superintendent, George Ormsby, assistant superintendent, Mrs. E. Molden-hauer; secretary, Miss Beatrice Kern; treasurer, Mrs. C. D. Ott; librarians, Miss Ethel Kern and Lloyd Painter; organist, Miss Elsie Small; chorister, C. D. Ott. The ladies of the Sellwood Methodist church are giving a series of entertainnents during January and February, which are proving very successful. Rev H. W. Kellogg, under their auspices, gave an illustrated lecture the first of the month, and it proved highly interesting will also be illustrate dwith stereoptican

District Engineer Holden has taken the meless truck in charge that had been stationed at Woodlawn. The volunteer fire company there, in whose hands it had been left, has disbanded, and the old truck was left without shelter or care. It is a relic of the past, and it will be preserved. Woodlawn people think that the chemical engine at Highland affords them sufficient protection, and do not care to maintain a volunteer company. Perhaps too much should not be ex

VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.

De Pachmann, the great Russian plan-st, will give a plane recital at the Maruam Grand on Monday evening, January . De Pachmann will play the Steinway iano. Go and hear the great master and ee the indescribable beauty of his touch and the exquisite finish of his runs and ornaments, and hear the defined rhythm and poetry of his phrasing; such tech-nique, such tones, can be produced on only one plane, and that's the Steinway. Listen to the Steinway tone, then come and see us, and we will show you our full have remained for months in the street line of Steinways in granes and uprights. SHERMAN, CLAY & CO.

A COFFEE SLAVE

Released by Postum Food Coffee. "To my surprise I discovered that the ooked forward to the beverage at meals

I felt that I would rather do without the balance of the meal than the coffee, and became impressed with the fact that my free, independent manhood was prac-"My heart gradually became weaker and weaker until it was so crippled that my feet and hands were always coid, except immediately after drinking coffeet and after the effect of the coffee wore off. I had that horrible, relaxed, rung-out-like e-dish-rag feeling that made me feel like an old, decrepit man at the age of 35, "When I awakened to my condition, I quit the coffee, and took up Postum Cereal Food Coffee, finding it a most palatable and perfect beverage. My heart has recovered its normal strength, and I am again a young and healthy man.

It is very plain to me now that coffee was robbing me of my strength and vigor. Postum helped me quit and build up my ervous system. "My wife, also, has been wonderfully benefited by the use of Postum Food Coffee, and we have been engaged in an Postum solely on account of not making notive crusade in its behalf. Have found many people who had turned down it properly. It is easy to make if one will use four heaping tenspoons to the pint of water, and allow it to bell long enough. We always use good, rich cream, and sweeten the cup to taste. It is a delicious "The following persons were affected very much as I was, and have recovered their health by the use of Postum Food Coffee: Dr. J. A. Schuelke, of the United States army, also Mr. John Corcoran, of South Omaha, with the Cudahy Packing
