PLANS FOR GENERALS

OPPOSITION TO SWELLING THE RE THED LIST OF THE ARMY.

Wood Will Probably Succeed Miles in 1903, and MacArthur Will Follow Wood in 1907.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.-Thernomination of the three new brigadier-generals dis-poses of the proposition to make Fitzhugh Lee, Joe Wheeler and James H. Wilson, now brigadier-generals, retired officers of that mank. This proposition was first given to the Carbier of the intentions by Carbin as one of the intentions of the president, as a feeler, to see how it would take. Considerable opposition developed because of the fact that it would swell the retired list of the army and would not give a number of deservant olders, who have served 40 years and more, an opportunity to go on the retired list at the same rank. The president wift now walt until congress authorizes him to place these men on the retired list wift the rank of brigadier. In that event, congress will assume the personnel.

care to take. At preent, there is no vacancy for Gen-eras Ludlow, who has jumped from a place ir, the engineer corps as lieutenant-colonel to the high office. He will get his com-anand when General Anderson shall retire, January II. Another interesting feature of the appointments is that Macarthur, now a lieutenant-colonel in the adjutant-general's department, will become the senior major-general and commanderin-chief of the army, ewen if no more general officers are created by some army bill yet to pass. Under the present condi-tions, it is intended to make General Otis a major-general upon the retirement of General Merritt next summer. The retirement in the rank of major-general after Merritt will be Otis in March, 1862, followed by Brooke in July, 1862, and Miles in 1862. When Otis is made majoreneral, Wood will be the ranking briga-ier, and is almost sure to succeed to the mext vacancy in the major-general's corps, and will be the symior major-general when Miles retires, which will give him com-mand of the army from 1968 to 1907, unless, for other reasons, the president whould determine that some other officer shall be necessary for the command. In 1907, MacArthur, who will then have be Some the senior major-general, will be come the commander-in-chief of the arm; and hold that position for two years. These estimates are based upon the fact that the usual course will be followed in major-generals, and that the senior ma-jor-generals will be assigned to the command of the army.

It is also believed that an early vacancy in the briggdier-generals will be filled by the appointment of Leonard Wood, now major-general of volunteers, and communding the division of Cuba promoting senior brigadier-generals to be
