NEILL MAKES HIS BOW

FINE STOCK COMPANY OPENS AT THE MARQUAM. Great Hit Made by New Actors in "A Bachelor's Romance" Before a Big Audience.

Portland is not so often favored with a modern stock company of the caliber of the Neill players but that such an engagement becomes a large event in matters theatrical. If a consensus of opinion of the playgoers had allied the Marquam last evening had been taken, it would have resolved itself into a vote of thanks for the visit.

The story of "A Bachelor's Romance" deals with the fate of a few impetuous literary workmen of the pen. David Holmes, chronic bookworm and literary critic of the "Review," falls in love with his ward, Sylvia, and it takes four acts for him to find out that the girl loves him, and not the man with whom he is trying to match her.

A SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE. Energetic Youth Elected to Matrimony by a Unanimous Vote. The Dalles Times-Mountaineer. A gentleman from Prineville, whose integrity cannot be doubted, tells the reporter that a certain prominent citizen of that city recently wrote the following letter to a fair daughter of Oregon residing in one of the Willamette valley towns:

My Dear Miss: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for your hand, and I shall use all fair and honorable means to secure the nomination. I know there are many candidates in the field, and I hesitated long before entering the race; but now I am in to stay. My views on love and matrimony have often been expressed in your hearing, and I will not repeat them here.

Following Mr. Neill's part, the impersonation of Martin Beggs was the best character work in the show, and it was done by Emmet Shackelford. Benjamin Howard, as Gerald Holmes, pleasure-loving and good-hearted man of the world, was entirely natural and at ease.
