NEWS FROM YUKON BASIN

GAMBLING STOPPED AT EAGLE MILITARY RESERVATION. Dawson Fires, Water and Fire-Water—Alleged Theft of News-Survey for All-American Road.

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Jan. 8.—Advices from Eagle, by way of Dawson, state Major Ray, of the United States army, has stopped all gambling in the military reservation, embracing the city of Eagle. The soldiers were caught stealing from the commissary to get wherewithal to gamble. All liquor licenses expired in Dawson December 23, and 15 new liquor licenses were issued at Skagway. News of the Dawson had 18 fires in the first 20 days of December, at a total loss of $10,000. December 20, it was necessary to shut off all water from city main, because of the flimsy and leaky condition of the conduits. This throws the city back on the primitive, unwholesome river water, which has to be hauled. Overheated chimneys caused the numerous fires.

An ordinance to require all newspapers to register by name, with the name of the owners and all persons directly or indirectly interested in them, the name of the editor and the business manager, and their allegiance, and an account of what they were engaged at for 12 months prior to coming to the country, has been introduced before the city council. Major Ray, in charge of the United States forces at Eagle, makes public that he has recommended to the government the building of a line of telegraph to connect Dawson with the Dominion line from Skagway.

The Dawson City News prints a sensational story, claiming the Yukon Sun, of Dawson, has been printing stolen news telegrams sent from Skagway to the Dawson News. It offers specimens claimed to have been stolen, and says irrefutable evidence is secured, that the matter is in the hands of the authorities, and as soon as the derelict on the telegraph line is located, criminal prosecution will be begun.

Advices have just arrived from Sitka that much alarm is felt for the safety of Lieutenant Joseph S. Herron, of the United States army, who, with three Indian guides, went on an exploring expedition to the Sushana river last summer, and has not returned. The steamer Golden Gate recently arrived at Sitka with no news of the party. Lieutenant Herron was connected with the exploration expedition of Captain Arthur Wilson, the Norwegian vice-consul at Portland, and was endeavoring to reach the headwaters of the Tanana, and go down that river to the Yukon, mapping the country as he proceeded, and surveying the district for mail routes.

Captain Hovey, in command of the United States troops stationed here, has made a recommendation to the government that a company of 100 men be organized of one company be established at Skagway. The cost would be $35,000. Efforts are being made at Washington to have the post authorized for two companies which would be engaged to guard $40,000 company, under Captain Hovey, is now divided between Wrangell and Skagway, and the captain has made application to have a Federal detachment sent to reinforce the present Skagway force. He says troops are not needed at Wrangell, Skagway, says Captain Hovey, is the strategic point of this district, because of the fact that he was an emissary about the town and the central location.

Sylvester Widman, president of the Alaska Mining & Development company, of Eagle, has arrived from Seattle on his way to confer with Horace & Co., Dubuque, representatives of German capital, with regard to building a railroad between Yandley and Dardanelles, on the territory. The preliminary survey has been made.

THE NEZ PERCE INDIANS. Payments to Them of Last Installment on Their Lands. The Lewiston Tribune, of Monday, says: Indian Agent Stratton today made the payments yesterday from Washington to prepare the rolls for the last payment to the Nez Perce Indians. This payment, the principal of which is about $125,000, will give each Indian about $60. It takes about two months after the rolls are ordered to be made out until the treasury drafts reach the agency. The Indians have been clamoring for the money, and its receipt will be hailed with great delight, not only by them, but by the merchants and people generally.

This payment, which is the ninth received by the Indians, will complete the disbursement of $1,628,000, the sum paid for the reservation lands. The per capita amount disbursed and the date of the past payments are as follows:

August 15, 1885 $302.96
January 15, 1886 (interest) 38.96

A NEW COPPER STRIKE

AT HEADWATERS OF CATHERINE CREEK IN UNION COUNTY. Some of the Specimens Contain Pure Metal—Further Examination of the Ledge in Progress.

UNION, Or., Jan. 18.—A prospector arrived in this city today from the headwaters of Catherine creek, bringing with him samples of copper ore, taken from a new discovery, just made about 15 miles east of Union, which are remarkably rich in the metal. Always have not yet been made of the rock, but it has the appearance of being fully 75 per cent copper. Some of the specimens contain pure native copper.

Copper ore has been known to exist in that section for a long time, but until recently no prospecting had been done there. There is a well-defined ledge of the ore, if developed, would be valuable throughout the ledge generally to be as valuable as the specimens brought in, it will undoubtedly become one of the great properties in the Northwest.

The new find is about 20 miles north of the new Copper Butte district in Union county, and in the same general mineral formation. A number of prospectors have already gone to the scene of the new discovery, and it is reported that one has just made come from there, a rush for the headwaters of Catherine creek will take place.

GOLD IN SOUTHERN OREGON. Its "First Discovery" Attributed to Men Named Bills.

Correspondence of Ashland Tidings. It has been published and republished, iterated and reiterated, some thousands of times that James Clugage and James Pool in passing through the valley from the Willamette to California, in the fall of 1852, discovered gold in the hills of the present corporate limits of Jacksonville, and that while in camp Mr. Pool did some prospecting with a pan and made the discovery. Nobody is now prospecting in that section. The finding of gold, but was this the first discovery in Southern Oregon? The purpose of this paper is to show that it was not.

Two young men, named Wall and Spoonmore, have been arrested at Watsburg. Spoonmore surrendered only after an exciting chase. He is said to be the son of a Huntsville preacher.

The Anti-Salon League, of Whitman, is making another attempt to enforce the Sunday closing law. Since the league in September the saloons have kept their front doors closed, but it is thought to compel them to close their rear doors as well. Proceedings against the league are included in the present report.

FLAX FOR GRAIN SACKS

CAN BE MANUFACTURED WITH PLANT AT PENITENTIARY. Governor Rogers Gets Valuable Information From Warden Cameron—Will Save State Money.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 18.—Governor Rogers is much interested in the cultivation of flax in this state, and has written to L. H. Cameron, warden of the state penitentiary, concerning the condition and practicability of using flax fiber for the manufacture of grain sacks at the penitentiary flax mill. Mr. Cameron's reply contains valuable information on the subject of this new industry.

Among the facts touched upon, the letter shows that in 1899 there was a total of 2,000 acres of flax land cultivated in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The flax produced by the farmer at present is no more than a flax straw, the same having been run through thrashing machines, which does not wholly remove the woody substance; hence, more care would be necessary thoroughly to cleanse the product of all woody substance. The flax raised at present is raised almost entirely for seed, for the purpose of manufacturing oil.

The experimental test made at the state penitentiary last spring, proved beyond doubt that the flax fiber can be successfully manufactured into cloth, and a stronger and more satisfactory grain sack manufactured from flax than can be made from jute. Mr. Cameron's reply contains the opinion that the machinery in the penitentiary mill could be successfully used in the manufacture of flax fiber, and that the flax fiber, when properly broken and cleaned, and put upon the market as other fibers are, the producers would unquestionably find a ready demand for it.

The law at present states that grain bags at the penitentiary shall be manufactured from jute, but this will probably be amended at the next session of the state legislature that the particular fiber used in grain bags, etc., will be optional with the state authorities.

The state of Washington expends annually $200,000 for jute from California. Could this amount be expended within this state, it would create a new industry for 100,000 Northwest, and the recommendation is made that the production of flax receive proper legislative encouragement. In the year 1899 penitentiary jute bags sold for 14 cents each, while those made in California, and of inferior quality sold in Walla Walla valley and elsewhere throughout the state as high as 8 cents each. It has been demonstrated that the flax bags could be manufactured at the penitentiary and sold at about the same price as the jute bags.

The approximate annual demand in the state of Washington is 10,000,000 sacks, and the utmost capacity of the state mill is 2,250,000 sacks. At a fair estimate on this basis, this mill alone would consume 1,750,000 pounds of fiber per annum.

Governor invited to speak. SALEM, Or., Jan. 18.—Governor Geer today received telegraphic invitation, urging him to accept the invitation for the address at the Lincoln day banquet, which will be given by the Marquette Club, of Chicago, February 12. The governor cannot accept the invitation for the reason that he cannot spare the time to undertake so long a journey for the occasion.

150 Bales of Hops at 7 1/2 Cents. CHEHALIS, Jan. 18.—The sale of 150 bales of hops belonging to Mr. Pearson, of Oakville, is reported here, the price advanced to 7 1/2 cents. The hops will be shipped to London.

Exciting Basket-Ball. VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 18.—One of the most exciting games of basket-ball ever witnessed here was played at the Auditorium last night. The opposing teams were the first team of the Vancouver Amateur Athletic Club and the Vancouver volunteer firemen's team. The contest was a hot one from the start.

May Organize a Telephone Company. CHEHALIS, Jan. 18.—A plan is being considered by some of our business men to organize a local telephone company and put in a system here. The town has about 60 telephones in use, but the plan is owned by the Sunset company. It is believed that a local company could be organized on the tolls so that the service would be much greater and of larger benefit to the public. The council may be asked to grant a franchise at an early day.
