Bills for Alaska Lighthouses and Lightship-Indian War Pensions-The Charges Against Clarkson,

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.-There is little change in the situation regarding the col-lectorship of Alaska. Senator Foster saw the president today, and made a saw the president today, and mase a recommendation of a Washington man for the place. This recommendation was ladorsed by both Representatives Cushman and Jones. Senator Foster had quite a conversation with the president regarding the place, and while he does not say what the president toid him, he told The Oregonian correspondent that he believed that Tunnium would be appointed. Duniway would be appointed.

Senator McBride today authorized the statement that he had not made any recommendation regarding the collectorrecommendation regarding the collector-ship, and whether he should do so or not depended upon future events. The infor-mation that Senator McBride had a can-didate came from reliable sources, and it is probable, should the senator make any recommendation, Ira Smith would be the man, although Senator McBride does not give any intimation as to his choice.

The Charges Against Clarkson. There were no charges against Clarkson.

There were no charges against James S. Cherkson before any of the caucuses in the semate. Quite a number of senators have made the statement that he was very objectionable to them, and that they would not support him if he was nominated. These objections, it was found, dated back to the time when Clarkson was in the postoffice department, and also related to other features concerning the campaign, with which he has been intimately connected. There were also intimately connected. There were also intimations that Clarkson was interested in various business enterprises which would various business enterprises which would make his selection as secretary undesir-able. All of this was talk among sentors, but mone of it was brought out in Pertnining to Alaska. Senator McMillan today reported the bill appropriating $300,000 for lighthouses and fog signal stations at the following points in Alaska: Ralston Island, Point Re-treat, Point Gardner, Cape Crumaney, Point Stanhope, Fairway Island, Guard Island, Mary Island, Cape Fox, Cape Fan-shaw, and the entrance to Unimak pass. The senate committee on commerce today favorably reported Senator McBride's bill appropriating $500 for the purchase of a launch for the use of the customs ofcials at Astoria. Pavorable report was also made on Senator Perkins' bill appropriating $80,000 for an additional lightship for the Pacific Indian War Pension Bill. Senator McBride's Indian war pension bill, favorably reported today, extends the privileges of the pension system to the veterans of the Cayuse Indian war of 847-48, and of the wars in Oregon and Washington from 1852 to 1856, us well as the surviving widows of such veterans, Populist Plans.

The selection of Bryan's home, Lincoln, Neb., for the meeting of the populist national committee would indicate that the populist committee is resolved, as it was four years ago, to support Bryan, and to nominate him if the populist convention is held before the democrats meet. It is well known that Allen of Nebraska is very anxious to have Bryan nominated. Allen knows that he could not be a presidential candidate, although he might win the But he could not get the democratic support necessary. He pre-fers to have Bryan's assistance to keep him in the senate, rather than antagonize the Nebraska demo-populists for the pres-

Ross' Appointment Confirmed. James Ross, formerly a captain in the First Washington regiment, after meeting severe charges made against him by Hazgard of Tacoma, was today confirmed as captain in the Forty-fifth infantry with-out a dissenting voice. The senate mili-tary committee made an exhaustive investigation of the charges filed, and found them to be without just cause.

Bills by Congressman Jones. Congressman Jones today introduced Senator Foster's Alaska lighthouse bill and Senator Turner's travel-pay bill for soldiers serving in the Spanish-American war. He also introduced a bill to pre-vent further extension of the forest reserves without act of congress. If this bill is not hastily enacted, further exten-sions of forest reserves will be made in the Cascade mountains.

Another of Jones' bills provides for a return of $1 25 per acre to settlers where double the minimum price ($2 50) was paid with the understanding that a railroad was to be built, but where railroad managers falled to construct a road, as in tac of the Northern Pacific along the north shore of the Columbia river.

NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE Committee Reports Submitted and Resolutions Adopted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 .- The first bust ness which came before the National Board of Trade today was a report from the committee in regard to additional cable service to Cuba, presented by E. C. Preston, of Boston. He stated that the vice is now exclusively in the hands of the Western Union, and additional facilities are needed, and reported a resolution urging upon congress the passage of legislation which will allow the laying of United States. The report was adopted. A report from the committee on railroad transportation was submitted by P. B. Thurber, of New York, in which it was ated out an adjustment of rates advantageous to shippers and to railroads could be made if the law permitted the raffronds to make agreements under the supervision of the interstate commerce Mr. Thurber asked that the action of the board last year on this sub-ject be reaffirmed. This was agreed to. He also submitted a report indersing senate bill 1639, introduced by Mr. Cullom, to go to the Paris exposition, and some with an amendment allowing railroads to them number as many as 600 persons, have associations for the maintenance of the transport of the paris o fair rates for the transportation of per-sons and property, said rates to be filed with the interstate commerce commission, After a long discussion, the report was adopted. Chandler-I intend to wait, but I want the senior senator from Alabama, who is absent; I want the junior sensior from Alabama, who is now here, and I want the senators from the Southern states, who have reopened this question, which I supposed was forever dead, in the senate, to tell me whether the North is to be expected to allow a charge made upon this floor to go unanswered, that the war for the Union, which was a war growing out of a Northern determination to prevent the extension of slavery into free terri-tory, was a war of ambitious politicians with a cruel design to put negro slaves on a political and social footing or equality with the Southern whites. He presented resolutions dopted by the American Federation of Labor opposing all subsidies, and stating that the shipping industry was able to take care of itself and specifically opposing this bill until the shipping interests withdrew opposition to the eighthour measure. He presented also a general measure to amend the laws relating to American seamen and to improve the personnel of the merchant marine. He will be heard further at the next meeting.

PARTING WORDS FROM THE EX-CONGRESSMAN-ELECT FROM UTAHL

Roberts Says He Will Obey the Laws of the Mormon Church Rather Than Those of United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.-Brigham H. Roberts gave out the following statement tonight in relation to his exclusion: "Our griefs are past when remedies are ended, By seeing the worst which late on hope de-pended."

"I was elected by the people of Utah as their representative by the substantial plurality of 5655 votes. An effort was made by what I believe to be an unconstitutional and unprecedented process to exclude me from the house of representatives. In behalf of myself and my constituents, com-prising the entire population of the state of Utah, I did all I could to maintain the osition to which they had elected me; but the house of representatives, under the whip and spur of popular sentiment, has decided to exclude me from the house. I have contended for my rights and the rights of my constituents, single-handed and alone, to the best of my ability, but have been overwhelmed by force of num-

"Notwithstanding all that has been said, the people of Utah are not a lawless peo-ple. Those of them who have been in-volved in the past in the plural marriage system-one taught and sanctioned by the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints-are not wanton violators of the laws; but, finding themselves in the posi-tion where the laws command them to do one thing, and moral obligations, sa-credly entered into under the sanction of the Mormon church, command them to do another, they are placed in a very trying situation, and some of them, including the member from Utah, may have found it necessary to regard their moral obligations as more binding upon their consciences than their technical obedience to statutory law. Such a positon, however, is but tran-sitory in Utah, and comes down to the Mormon people from conditions growing out of the plural marriage system of the past. The condition here referred to, however, is rapidly passing away. From au-thoritative figures officially collected recently by the Mormon church, it has been ascertained that at the time of the discon-tinuance of plural marriages, under the authority of the late President Woodruff's manifesto, in September, 1890, there were 2451 polygamous families throughout the whole Mormon church. Since then it has been ascertained that 908 of these families have ceased to exist through death, divorce or abandonment, leaving at the pres-ent time but 1543 polygamous families in the church throughout the world; and as most of these are well advanced in years and all beyond middle life, the system will soon be obliterated from the earth; and under these circumstances there has been little excuse for the extraordinary efforts put forth throughout the country to crush a system of marriage already practically dead and abandoned.
"The election of the member from Utah to the house of representatives was no effort on the part of the Mormon church to fort on the part of the Mormon church to revive polygamy or stuff it down the throat of the American congress or people, Nothing of the kind was contemplated in either his nomination or election, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The alleged statement often quoted to the effect that Brigham Young, July 22, 1855, or at any other time declared that he would have the American people follow Mormonism, polygamy and all, and that the election of the present member-elect from Utah was an effort to fulfill that Pritish positions.

It had been reiterated substantially, in Chandler's opinion, by other senators, he declared he did not purpose to permit it to go unrefuted. The charge was made that the civil war had been precipitated speech in which the Alabama senator by designing politicions of the North for the Alabama senator to form Utah was an effort to fulfill that prediction is absolutely untrue. He made no such utterance, and the recent agitation respecting Mormonism and its being a menace to the purity of the American Chandler read that paragraph of Morgan's believe, however, that such was the intention of Mormonism, or, at least, has been the civil war had been precipitated speech in which the Alabama senator to of Mormonism, or, at least, has been to award into acquiescence that such was its

After citing the member from Utah to a speech delivered by the Hon. James G. Blaine in 1872, with reference to polygamy, he says: 'I regret that I am not at liberty to vote as my conscience dictates on this question (the Rob-erts case), for reasons which you fully understand. President McKinley and Speak-er Henderson have made the support of the Tayler resolution the test of republican orthodoxy, and I am obliged to wear

"So far as this matter is a personal affair, I may say that, whatever happens, the member from Utah can congratulate himself that from obscure birth and the conditions of iron fortune, and in spite of having espoused an unpopular faith, he has fought his way upward until he reached a sufficient prominence to be the decided choice of the people of a sovereign state to represent them in the American house of representatives. From that summit he was hurled down by the house un-der a spasm of prejudice, arising from misrepresentation and faisehood as to conditions existing in Utah. That action will not ruin him. Conscious of the rectitude of his own intentions, he will face the future undiscouraged by this incident in his career, and will weave again his fortunes. He will face the future with a light heart and a determination to succeed.

"No, he will not stand for re-election as No, he will not stant for re-election as a vindication to himself, even should his people desire it; he will ask that his exclusion shall be permitted to close, for the present, this incident in Utah's history."

Grey. His face wore an almost benevolent expression, and I thought I detected the embryo of a smile ipon his thin lips as we ranged ourselves before him.

What struck me most was that his evelids were darkened with kohl just under the lashes, his cheeks were painted like those of some old Jezebel of the streets at home, and the tips of his nails were stained brown with henna. His dress was superior to anything I had yet seen in the country; his jelaba was of cashmere of the finest possible texture, having almost the appearance of white silk, ornamented with a broad olive-green scarf, over which he wore a sulham of dark-blue metten. On his bald or shaven head, of course, he wore a large white turban. Such was Kaid Said El Gifult.
