EDWARD FAILING'S WILL

PART OF ESTATE GOES TO BROTH. ER'S DAUGHTERS.

After Providing for His Widow and Children, He Returns About Half His Inheritance.

The will of Edward Falling, deceased, was admitted to probate in the county court yesterday. James Palling was appointed executor, and Olivia Henderson Falling executrix, as provided in the in-Palling executrix, as provided in the instrument, without bonds. The petition accompanying the will states that the estate is valued at about $150,000. Tyler Woodward, W. C. Alvord and A. L. Maxweil were appointed appraisers. The will provides equitably for the wife and children, and also makes special provisions for the disposition of the interest of the testator in the estate of Henry Pailing, deceased, in a manner which the testator deemed just and proper, the three daughters of the late Henry Pailing being included among the devisees of this interest. The will is as follows: The will is as follows:

I give and bequenth to my daughters, etta Henderson Falling, Locy Deady Palling, Alice Clementine Palling, Emma Corbett Pall-ing, Ratherine Frederika Failing, Rhoda Duval Failing, Brossine Falling and Olivia Failing, in equal proportions all the interest in my fath-er the late Jostah Failing's eletate, the enthe to be distributed to them upon the final distribution of the state of my father. Any par-tial distribution of income from said estate shall be by the surviving executor paid to my wifes. Only in Henderson Pailing, for the use and beneat of the children according to their respective interests.

Officially this government should not, at least not under present conditions, take any but a strictly neutral stand touching the Transvaal war; and this should be the Transvaal war; and this should be neutral in fact as well as in name. We should not put it on the ground that we are engaged in the same sort of business in the Philippines, for however much truth there may be in that, it is hardly-necessary to put noninterference in the light of reciprocity with England, However much our sympathies may be with VALENTINES

RATES TO CAPE NOME.

Steamship Men Say It Is a Mistake to Start Too Early.

Steamship men predict that few steamers advertised to sail for Cape Nome on dates earlier than May 5 will make the voyage without interruption. That trans-portation companies in San Francisco and uget sound realize this, is shown by the fact that the rate from those points to the cape on steamers advertised for April departures is $50 to $75 in excess of the rate charged on steamers leaving Portland in the first two weeks of May.

That Portland steamers will leave on their designated dates of departure and reach the cape in ample time to discharge their passengers and freight at least as advantageously as those steamers taking earlier departure is apparent. San Francisco and Puget sound agents, in antici-pation of their early steamers being icebound for possibly two weeks, are pro-tected by their increased rate over the rate from Portland. It gives them a mar-gin on which to board their passengers in case of such interruption.

The probability of the path traversed by steamers from Portland to Cape Nome being open, and admitting of a quick and direct passage, is favorable to those sailing from this port. That and a cheaper rate of $100, with accommodations equal to those offered from other coast points, makes Portland a very advantageous port to sail from.
