ALLISON AND JONES Spoke For and Against the Financial Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The financial debate in the senate reached its climax today. Two great speeches, one in favor of the pending senate substitute measure and the other in opposition to it, were delivered, and both were listened to with great attention. The first was delivered by Allison of Iowa, the ranking member of the finance committee. He had been an attentive listener to the speeches delivered on the other side of the chamber, and in the course of his argument he presented his answers to the points raised against the pending senate bill. Jones of Nevada declared that the bill was a victory and unwarranted, conferring too great power upon national banks, and fastening the country to a gold standard. Tomorrow the senate will begin the consideration of the bill and amendments under the 10-minute rule.

THE DAY IN DETAIL.

Speeches of Allison and Jones in the senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The bill appropriating $150,000 for the enlargement of the postoffice building at Portland, Or., was passed in the senate. The financial bill was then held before the senate, and Allison (rep. Ia.) addressed the senate. He said he did not propose to enter upon a general discussion of financial questions which had been more or less considered during the last five years. In the pending measure he proposed to deal with the currency question in a large and general way. Allison referred to the senate substitute for the house bill and said there was no proposition to change the existing currency gold and silver certificates, greenbacks, treasury notes and national bank notes. "Under the bill," said Allison, "the greenback cannot be retired. I want to say that the retirement of the greenbacks or any other part of our money should never be attempted without the most careful scrutiny and the most careful consideration of the legislation providing for it."

Under the bill, said Allison, "the greenback cannot be retired. I want to say that the retirement of the greenbacks or any other part of our money should never be attempted without the most careful scrutiny and the most careful consideration of the legislation providing for it." "All patriotic men should denounce that standard. For there is no business so utterly dependent on the welfare of their fellowmen as the business of the bankers of the United States. Banks have but two sources of profit—interest and exchange. When times are good money is in demand, rates are high, exchange is brisk, and the banker prospers. When the country prospers, when times are good, when the rate of exchange is high, when the price for his wheat, exactly when the manufacturer sells most ware; exactly when the man who tells with his highest wages. When do bank dividends decrease and finally fail? Exactly when the merchant dare not buy because he cannot sell; when factory wheels are motionless and the smelter is idle; when the farmer burns his corn for fuel; when the miner starves at the mouth of the silent shaft; when hunger sits at the table of toil.

MILLER'S BIG PROFITS.

Made One Million Dollars Out of His Bunco Game.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The Evening World today says: "Cecil Miller, 'prent' agent and employe of the Leslie 500-per-cent swindle, has made a long confession to the Evening World. The Franklyn syndicate, Leslie says, was a bunco game. Some of the men interested in the concern were formerly managers of Lyons & Co., and the E. S. Dean Company, in this city; which was run on similar lines. Miller must have gathered at least $1,000,000 out of the scheme, probably more."

Repeal of the Horton Law.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—It is expected the bill repealing the Horton boxing law will pass the assembly tomorrow, and that it will pass the senate with equal facility. The bill, as amended, sets the date of its becoming a law as September 1. It is believed that immediately upon the passage of the bill the enemies of prizefighting will begin an agitation for the right enforcement of the Horton law during the remainder of its life, and thus seek to prevent its being repealed. Strict construction of the Horton law forbids prizefighting.

Shelving of the Subsidy Bill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The Washington correspondent of the World says there is a possibility of shelving the Payne shipping subsidy bill; that it is doubtful if it ever emerges from the house committee; that republican leaders, noting the protest against the bill, have decided that it would be good policy to shelve it.

Mrs. Catt Succeeds Miss Anthony.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The National Woman's Suffrage Association today elected Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York, president for the ensuing year, to succeed Miss Susan B. Anthony, who declined re-election.

Bryan Convinced Gold Democrats.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "Mr. Bryan did not confine his consultation while in Washington with the free-silver democrats, but talked with several of the advanced and most influential members of the gold standard wing of the party. It is known that he held a secret conference with ex-Senator Sherman, and it was after consulting Mr. Sherman that Mr. Bryan impressed upon his friends the importance of holding their convention at a date several weeks in advance of the republican convention. Notwithstanding the assertion by members of the democratic national committee that a recent communication from Chicago it was decided to hold the convention in Milwaukee, Wis., there seems to be a disposition to rescind that action. Missouri representatives declare Kansas chairman, and the prize from New York, Milwaukee, Chicago or any other city.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The senate committee on privilege and elections today concluded its hearing of Mr. Neill, in the Clark investigation, and also heard William McDermott, another of the close friends and staunch supporters of Senator Clark in his contest for the senate, before the Montana legislature last winter. Probably the most interesting testimony of the day was a statement made by McDermott to the effect that Mr. Clark had made him a present of $500 after his election to the senate in payment to McDermott for his services in the contest. He also testified that he had expended about $2,000 in the legislative and senatorial elections. The major portion of this money had been received from Mr. Clark's son, but the witness contended it was all spent for legitimate purposes. Mr. Neill asserted that he spent only a limited sum of money, and said that all he did spend was his own. The only other witness called by the senate was Charles Clark, the son of Senator Clark, who was called to the stand to testify that he had received $200 from his father after the election for his services in the contest. After the Clark hearing the committee adjourned until tomorrow.
