CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

WENT ASHORE AGAIN.—The little 35-ton schooner "Foxy" will have no introduction ashore in the Neahcovec River some time ago, was purchased by John Klerman, of Portland. He employed a man to get her off and bring her to Portland, but after expending a week or two in waiting for a favorable chance to get the schooner about, this man gave up the job. Mr. Klerman then agreed to pay another man $100 for getting the craft ashore and bringing her here. He succeeded in getting her ashore and started to sea. He got safely through two lines of breakers, but in attempting to pass the last line he lost control of the schooner and she ran ashore about 300 feet out of the channel. Mr. Klerman has received notice of the mishap, but has no particulars, and does not know what the prospects are for getting her ashore again. Mr. Klerman seems to have a fancy for speculating on stranded vessels. He purchased the Geomorpher, which went ashore near Ocean Park, and sailing the schooner of the same name, steamed last and finally sold the iron hull to the Portland Rolling Mills Company, who have torn it to pieces, and brought the plates here to be worked over in their mills.

CAN HENNESSY BEAT A FINE?—Whether Judge Hennessy has the power to remit a fine, or any portion thereof, after once being a violator of law, is a question which Deputy Attorney General Davis has determined to have settled. A few weeks ago Lee Ming Gow, a Chinese restaurant-keeper, was convicted of selling liquor without a license, and Judge Hennessy fined him the amount of one Chinaman's ball on deposit with the Chief of Police. Yesterday Gow's attorney appeared before Judge Hennessy and asked that the fine be reduced to $10, and that the other conditions be retained. Judge Hennessy assented, but Davis strongly objected, and a battle of words was at once precipitated between the City Attorney and the judge. At last, Judge Davis favoring the latter, Davis agreed that he will at once proceed to protect the city treasury against this reduction, even if he has to take the matter to the Circuit Court.

REVIVAL NEXT WEEK.
Taylor-Street Church Will Continue Its Revival Work.
Taylor-Street Methodist Church is in the midst of a gracious revival of religion. Not for years has there been such an interest shown by the members. The work has grown steadily from a small beginning until now large congregations are in attendance. Every night persons are asking for the way of life and earnestly seeking salvation. It was the plan that these meetings should be closed the 1st of March. The interest now manifests seems to indicate that this cannot be done. It is thought best to continue the work. As usual, there will be no meetings on Tuesday and Saturday nights. But all the other nights, meetings will be conducted. Dr. Kellogg will continue his evening services. The subjects treated by the pastor will be those bearing upon the special work in hand. Each night some theme will be introduced which will be worth hearing. Dr. Kellogg's course of study is devoted to this work. He is skilled in the work of an evangelist, having been trained by a father who was for many years a very successful man in this field. The singing will be of the highest order, and will be adopted to evangelistic work. The church is becoming greatly interested and will assist in every way possible. It feels that a great opportunity has come for a harvest, and it will not be slow in reaping. The public is invited to attend and help. The pastor has been assisted by Professor and Mrs. Dobins, and their singing has been delightful and most helpful.

METHODIST RALLY.

STOCKING STREAMS WITH TROUT.—The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, with its customary energy and enterprise, is making an effort to secure different species of trout from the United States Fish Commission, for the purpose of stocking Meacham Creek and other streams in the Blue Mountains, particularly those in the vicinity of Ringham Springs and Meacham, with a view to making the Blue Mountain region a more attractive summer resort for anglers and sportsmen. The company has secured the co-operation of the Oregon Fish and Game Association and Madam de Sual in their efforts. It is successful, will add greatly to the attractiveness of the Blue Mountain region, and at the same time will be the means of drawing considerable travel from other directions over its line of road. It is a good idea, and deserves encouragement.

WOMAN'S SCHOOL DIRECTOR.
MRS. C. E. SITTON INDORSED BY THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Pleasant Musical Afternoon at the Club—Programme in Charge of Mrs. Fletcher Linn.
Music was the subject discussed yesterday afternoon at the Woman's Club, the programme being in charge of Mrs. Fletcher Linn. The large number of members present heard with the most appreciative comments heard in the course of the meeting, bore incontrovertible testimony to its success. Mrs. Linn gave a brief but very able paper on "Woman in Music," a subject which will naturally deal with, having pursued her musical studies under such masters as George Chadwick, Louis Klavan and John O'Neill, of Boston, and Madame Dunn, of Chicago. She is a graduate of the Conservatory, and has given equal attention to voice, violin and piano. Mrs. Linn's paper is given in full below.

Following this was a vocal solo by Paul Wegman, the sweet, rich tones of his voice filling the auditorium with melody. He also being encored, obligingly answered the recall by singing the Meyer-Helmond "Marguerite," Thorne's "Romance sans Paroles," played by Mrs. Kuhn, gave a most beautiful performance on the violin. Her encore was given with a verve and spirit that greatly pleased her listeners. Mrs. Max Shillock's selection, the "Ave Maria" from "Lucia di Lammermoor," was admirably adapted to bring out the pathos of her full contralto voice. For encore she repeated the same. Two cello numbers by Mr. Oliver lent variety to the programme. In strong contrast to the program was a romantic Berceuse by Hauser. A very charming vocal number succeeded this—Rosini's "Tarantelle," sung by Miss Agnes Watt, which earned one of the most enthusiastic recalls of the evening. In strong contrast to the unrest and agitation of the tarantelle was Mascagni's beautiful song, "He Loves Me, Loves Me Not," which she rendered with much feeling. The musical part of the programme then closed with Liszt's waltz from Gounod's "Faust," played by Miss Gruenberg, a heavy piano number, bristling with difficulties, such as rapid octaves, intricate runs, and the part of the performer. The encore to this was Kettner's charming "Marguerite at the Spinning Wheel." Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, who accompanied her husband, with much good taste and ability.

At the conclusion of this programme a matter of business was brought forward that proved of great importance to the womanhood of Portland. Mrs. Comstock, president of the club, who was in the chair, announced that the feasibility of having a woman on the Portland School Board was discussed at the last meeting of the executive board, and it had been decided that it was their duty to bring the subject before the club to discover whether the public interest in this important matter. A few brief remarks were made by Dr. Thompson, Mrs. Sarah Evans and Mrs. Grace Wait Ross, all of whom were heartily in favor of having a woman on the Portland School Board. It was believed that in view of recent developments, this might be accomplished. If the members of the Woman's Club would themselves get to the polls on this occasion. The question was accordingly voted upon, with the result that it was carried, there being only two or three dissenting votes. A person suggested for this post by the executive board was Mrs. C. E. Sitton, and the club heartily indorsed this selection. Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Ross had previously been suggested by the board to look after the matter. The afternoon closed with pleasant conversation over coffee and peanut-mayonnaise sandwiches. An unexpected and delightful feature of the programme was the presence of Mrs. C. B. Wade, of Pendleton, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who is in Portland this week on business connected with the Federation. In response to an invitation from the president, she said a few words of greeting and good cheer to the club members, which were listened to with close interest and attention.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.
Black Carnival.
Of the many styles of amusement that have been served the Portland public, nothing will surpass the Black Carnival, a great carnival that is to be given tonight at the Exposition Building. In New York, Chicago and San Francisco, where this carnival has been held, it has been the people always demanded. This entertainment, however, is given only one night. The contest for the cakewalk championship of the Pacific Coast will be given in the afternoon, and will be watched with great interest by the audience. The couple from Seattle will be the second prize at the great contest at Madison-Square Garden, New York, four years ago. Tomorrow a couple that the people from that city expect great things of. The San Francisco couple expects to win the audience by their style, grace and dress. Portland will take the field against the visitors from three crack couples. Robinson, the champion, will, of course, expect to win greater laurels, while Gardner and his partner expect to outshine them all in pose, grace, style, and the costume of their dress. Gardner's partner will wear a dress that was worn by her last year in Philadelphia, which was made by Worth, of Paris.

Woman in Music.
The art of music takes us into a field that is widely different both in idea and matter from other subjects that have been before us for discussion. The distinctive characteristics of music is that it is the immediate expression of feeling. As the art whose exclusive purpose is to express feeling, it comes nearest the heart. In it, soul is brought into closest contact with soul; feeling with feeling, and so other art so directly touches the emotions and moves the sensibilities as music. With this idea of music and the thought that woman in her nature is the embodiment of emotion, I have endeavored to suggest a few suggestions of how to place woman holds in the musical world and her relation to music. The real relation woman holds to music, naturally divides itself into two heads: First, the influence of woman in the work of the great composers to labor and in inspiring them in the production of their finest works; second, the relations of woman to the performance of instrumental and vocal music.

WHO WANTS THIS STEINWAY?

A Beautiful Nearly New Upright for Half Price.
There are now only four strictly high-grade artistic pianos made in the extreme East. Two of these, the Chickering and the Weber, we carry in stock. The third is Steinway. We have just now a beautiful "X" style in latest style to be sold at exactly half price, viz., $300. We'll stake our reputation on it. It is a genuine bargain, and as it need not necessarily be all cash there ought to be at least a dozen applicants for this piano today at Eilers Piano House, 107 First Street.

WALSH-MACDOWELL COMPANY.
No plays that visit this City are more certain to meet with a warm reception than Berdoo's "La Tosca" and "Cleopatra" which will be given at the Marquam for three nights and a matinee, beginning Monday. These plays will doubtless continue to attract crowds for years. Any one who has once seen the performance will want to see them again, while those who have not seen these productions will be disposed to take advantage of the chance. When such people as Mel-borne MacDowell and Blanche Walsh are engaged in the production of plays as strong as "La Tosca" and "Cleopatra" the event is one of no small importance. The popularity of these plays came so suddenly that it was a question in the minds of many who had not seen them, whether they would not, like many other instantaneous successes, be short-lived. After having seen them, however, there was no one who doubted their right to a conspicuous place among standard dramatic works.

Simple Inquiry Answered.
PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—(To the Editor.)—Will you please decide a dispute which has arisen, as a result of the recent cold weather, viz: At what time do water pipes burst—while water in them is freezing or when the ice melts? If water expands from cold, how is that fact reconciled to the general law that heat expands and cold contracts?

Water expands in freezing, and this expansion bursts the pipes. As long as the water remains frozen, the damage is not noticed, but when the ice in the pipes thaws, they begin to leak.
Water in an exception to the general law in regard to heat's expanding and cold's contracting, and there is no necessity for any reconciliation in the matter. It is a wise provision of nature, for if water contracted in freezing, ice would sink and rivers and lakes would be frozen solid and the fish in them killed.
