YESTERDAT'S STORM.-Jupiter Pluvius tarried in Portland all day yesterday With the exception of the storm that passed over this section November 20, yesterday's wind and rain were the most vere of the season. The velocity of the during the November storm reached 66 miles an hour. It was a fraction mo than this yesterday, nearly reaching 47. This storm had been gathering for several days. The pressure showed that it was approaching. Tuesday the storm center was west of Vancouver Island, and warning was given all seaboard places on Puget Sound and in the Straits. The storm center was central over Vancouver Island yesterday, and at 10 o'clock the south-west signal was ordered, southwest gales being expected for the next 24 hours. The velocity was probably reached ht. The rainfall for Portland for last night. 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock yesterday was 1.16 inches, and for 12 hours, .77 inches. At Astoria it was 1.22 for 12 hours. The rainfall in this city was heaviest between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, measuring .18 of an inch in 10 minutes. The wind gaused considerable damage, numerous windows having been blown out.

MATCH DIP EXPLODED. - Experimenting in the manufacture of matches is an un-safe business, as one Knight, of St. Johns, is able to prove. Yesterday the com pound he was preparing for a dip explod-ed, wrecked his house and sadly bruised his anatomy. For a time after his limit body was carried from the rulns of his home the bystanders thought he would die; but he later seemed to be recovering. Knight has been in the employ of a match firm in St. Johns, but, conceiving the idea that he was able to start up competition, worked by himself. Somehow his dipping compound got a dynamite property and exploded, with dire results. Fortunately no other persons were about the experimenter's apariments at the time, and he his shack are the only wrecks Knight is the same man who attempted suicide over a love affair some time ago, but those acquainted with him are assured that his experience yesterday was purely accidental, although it approached more nearly a quietus than his serious

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.-A lecture upon Christian Science, extitled "Chris-tian Science, the Religion of Jesus Christ," will be delivered by Hon. William G. Ewing, of Chicago, at the Marquam the ater, Sunday afternoon, March 11, at 3 o'clock. No admission will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Judge Ewing is a member of the International Board of Lectureship, established by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., having de-clined renomination as Judge of the Superior Court, in Chicago, that he may serve upon this board. Judge Ewing has been delivering lectures in California, and will speak in the larger cities of the Northwest before returning to the Eastern work.

RAINS IN CALIFORNIA .- Dr. Geisner, of San Jose, Cal., who arrived in Portland yesterday, says the people of the Santa Clara Valley are rejoicing over the visit of several rain clouds within the past week, during which fully an inch of the aqueous fluid had fallen. The rain gauge in San Jose indicated a total fall of 13 inches, against eight inches last year. He says the storm extended as far south as Los Angeles, where rain was very badly needed. NEW FORM OF PETTY LARCENY .- Some mpecunious tramp has discovered a new dodge for robbing the public. He goes about soliciting the privilege of grinding razors or knives, but always forgets to return the implement. He is a young man, clean-shaven, and appears to be lame. His appearance is sufficiently mov-ing to secure considerable patronage. He takes a knife given for grinding, leaving the room with the assurance that he will return in a few moments, but never does so. Finen.-J. P. Watson, who looks as though he had better sense than to foilow an innocent young girl all over town, was yesterday fined $25 for disorderly conduct. He had followed a Miss Gear the other evening from where she works, at Pine and Front, clear out to where she lives, on the Macadam road. The girl's father intercepted him, when Watson pleaded drunkenness, saying, "I am a lit-tic off." In the Municipal Court yes-terday he said he had not approached the girl nearer than three blocks, but this was

BRASS CASTINGS RECOVERED .- John Han sen was arrested yesterday while trying to sell about 50 pounds of brass castings to a second-hand dealer. The plunder consists of lubricators, globe valves, how couplings, faucets, etc., and now reposes at the police station, awaiting an owner. Hansen also reposes there, as the police desire to find where he got the stuff. He says he bought it from a third party, down on the dock, but this third party has an often dedged the police in other shady transactions that he is considered a myth. "CUT ALL TO PIECES."-A row between two colored women in the North End. about 7 o'clock last evening, culminated in one "Biske Baby" being cut "all to pieces," as the police describe it, at the hands of Pearl Brown, who used a razor savagely on her adversary's arms and breast, and then cluded the police. The injured woman was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where her wounds were dressed. PROHIBITION CONVENTIONS. - The Multnomah County and Portland City Prohtbition Conventions will be held in Ameri-can Hall, Alisky building, corner Third and Morrison streets, Saturday, March 10, at 1:30 P. ATTEMPTED TOBURN LAUNDRY

East Side Firebug's Plans Did Not Materialize.

An attempt was made to burn the Chinese laundry at 70 Union avenue early yesterday morning, and, from the appearance of the preparations made, the at-tempt came very near being successful. Several gallons of coal oil were poured quantity of kindling had been piled against the door and covered with kerosens. About this pile was a lot of matches that had been lighted and dropped down under the front door into the building, and the door sill and surroundings were thoroughly saturated with the oil, and a that had been lighted and dropped down. For some reason the pile of kindling failed to ignit. It is thought that the firebug must have been frightened away before he could start the fire. The Chinamen were at work till nearly 3 o'clock, and hence the attempt must have been made after that hour, and the prepara-tions for firing the building were discovered at 7 o'clock. About a year ago a suspicious fire happened in this same building, which also failed.

Will Concentrate on East Morrison In a few days, at the farthest, the repairs to the East Morrison-street ele-vated roadway will be completed and open to the public. Yesterday the rain was too much for the force, and the men sus-pended work. One full block, between East First and East Second, remains unplanked, and everything there is ready for the plank. There are also unfinished por-tions west of East First and near Union avenue, which will require about one day to complete. With plenty of lumber and favorable weather, the roadway ought to be completed within three days. The subtructure with these repairs will be good for many years, not less than 10 at least, but the plank will stand only the wearing of a few years, and its life will not be very long if all the travel from the other roadways concentrates on it, as it certainly will. will. As soon as East Morrison street is thrown open the heavy travel that has been using Belmont, East Yamh II and East Stark streets will concentrate on the new roadway. Belmont street will soon have to be closed up, and East Water street roadway south from East Morrison is in a dangerous condition, and will either have to be repaired or closed. The prop-erty-owners refused to repair either East Water or Belmont streets. It is plain that the roadway problem will only be temporarily settled by the completion of the repairs to East Morrison street.

Team Plunged Through Roadway Two horses attached to a light covered spring wagon, owned by J. Carlson, of 30 Water street, were left standing on East Morrison street, near Grand ave-nue, yesterday evening, and while the driver was absent the horses became frightened and ran away at a lively pace until they reached East First street, beyond which the roadway is not covered, and as they were going fast could not stop and went through the opening in the roadway. The harness held the horses, one being suspended below and the other resting partly on the timbers. The horse that had not gone down far was lifted up on the timbers, and, after much trouble, was worked over to the planked portion. Then the other animal was lowered to the ground, a distance of about 12 feet. Both were hadly bruised, but did not seem to be seriously in-

IN THE SEVERAL COURTS

NEW TRIAL ASKED FOR MURDERER M'DANIEL.

Affidavits Declaring That One Juror Believed in Advance That the Defendant Was Guilty.

In Judge Frazer's department yesterday the trial of the suit of C. W. Eman against Dr. M. A. McLaughlin for $10,000 for false arrest and imprisonment was begun, and bids fair to consume several days time. It is the result of the arrest of Eman about a year ago at the instigation of McLaughlin on a charge of embezziement, on which indictment he was afterward tried and sequitted. Eman avers that the accusation was malicious and without cause, and intended to injure his good name, and that he was made to suffer much mental agony, and he seeks reparation in this manner. Evidence introduced at the trial goes to show that Dr. M. A. McLaughlin had charge of the Pacific Coast territory for the sale of the electric belts of Dr. A. T. Sanden, of New York, as a general manager, and in February 1886, placed Mr. Eman in charge of the Dr. McLaughlin, having previously re-ceived other instructions of a somewhat similar nature:

"Bulletin to Offices-Portland, Denver, Butte, Dallas, Los Angeles-Beginning with date of receipt of this you will please follow example set in the Examiner of this date by substituting the name 'Dr. M. A. McLaughlin' for Dr. A. T. Sanden in the address in all ads. This is the beginning in the change to be made in the isiness during the next few months. In quire, you will say that it is a part of an arrangement between Dr. Sanden and Dr. McLaughlin whereby the latter, who has for years been confidential assistant to

Dr. Sanden in all his work, and has brought forth many important improvements in the belt and business, is soon to become sole owner of the business, taking the place of Dr. Sanden, who is wealthy enough to retire "To the managers of my offices I wish to far that we are now approaching a time when those who desire to protect my interests will be called upon to exert great care. Dr. Sanden will likely adopt secret and spying methods to injure me, and to try and deprive me of the fruits of my work. In his efforts to do this he will nd spies to secure pointers, cappers to alk to you and to pump you for your knowledge of my methods and movements Look out for them, both by mail and in the office, and see that no employe shows signs of unfaithfulness-in fact, what you know of my intentions should be held secret except to the most trusted. For your information I would say that I am under contract to continue buying his goods for 10 years. Owing to the fact that he has on several occasions broken faith with me, I will discontinue using his goods and sell those of my own manufacture. The name will be changed from Dr. Sanden to Dr. McLaughlin. Our literature will be changed in due time, and when the time comes I will supply you with a ine of the new goods. Meantime I desire o protect myself against his swooping lown on me and claiming the mail directed to the business, and intended for me hence above advice. As far as possible do the business under the name of Mc-Laughlin, and make known the fact that it will soon be known as the 'McLaughlin Belt.' You who are sending out C. O. D. shipments from Sanden change to Me-Laughlin, and so advise your customers at time of sending. Respectfully, "M. A. M'LAUGHLIN." Eman testified that he had previously tendered his resignation to Dr. McLaughlin, in the month of December, and that on receipt of this bulletin he wrote to Dr. Sanden at New York, asking if he could not handle the agency here, as McLaugh-lin was going to drop it, and disclosing the contents of this bulletin to Dr. San-

This, it was said, brought about all of the trouble. Eman testified that McLaugh-lin came here, arriving on February I. 1899, and immediately upon entering the sed him of having defrauded him f $700, threatened to send him to the penitentiary for 10 years, accused him of communicating with Dr. Sanden, and swore and cursed, and was very furious. McLaughlin, he stated, a day or two later was inclined to be more friendly, and continued to permit him to remain in charge of the Portland office, until February 18, when S. L. McCallom was placed in charge of the office. Then the accusations were renewed, and the arrest, trial and acquit-tal followed.

Mr. Eman is now and has for some time been the Portland manager for Dr. A. T. Sanden, and Dr. McLaughlin has retired from the electric belt business in this city, but is still engaged in it in adjacent territory. Many circulars and letters were read emanating from both sides of a red-hot character, showing that both have hot character, showing that both have since the change been firing at each other pretty strong through this means. On Eman's side, for instance, a letter was read said to have been sent out by the McLaughlin people, where he is referred to as a scoundrel, and that he will not be at liberty long. When court adjourned for the day the plaintiff was on the witness stand undergoing a share convergence. ness stand undergoing a sharp cross-ex-amination by Henry E. McGinn, attorney for the defendant, as to the correctness and truthfulness with which he kept the accounts while in the employ of Dr. Mc-Laughlin, the book's being in evidence. A. FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

Differences Between Electric Belt Manufacturers Aired.

Henry St. Rayner, attorney for Frank E. McDaniel, yesterday filed a motion for a new trial, alleging as grounds, first, misconduct of the jury in returning a verdiet of guilty of manslaughter against the defendant, without any evidence to justify such verdict; second, misconduct of Juror O. P. Masten, who was sum-moned as a talesman on the special venire. The first ground is broad and far-reaching, and opens the way for a general re-view of the testimony submitted in the Concerning Masten it is charged that he swore, when examined touching his qualification and fitness to serve as a juror, that he had not talked with any one in reference to the case or the facts, and had heard nothing about the case; that he had no belief as to who committed the crime, and had formed no conclusion whether the defendant was implicated in it or had anything to do with it; that he did not know that he had ever heard the name of the defendant mentioned, until he came into court, had no opportunity to hear it, and all he knew of the case was that his wife told him a murder had been com-mitted; that he had been, from June, 1820, to November, 1899, at Borthwick's mill. Goble, and had not read in any newspaper of the case or any of the facts, and that no one had attempted to relate to him any of the facts.

A number of affidavits have been filed in connection with the motion to show that these statements of Masten were not true. The affidavit of Chris Timm, a stationary engineer for the Blue Mountain Ice Company, Portland, that Masten worked with him at the Blue Mountain Ice Company plants in July and August, 1899, and that about July 21 Masten read a long item to him about the murder of Claire A. Fitch, and discussed the facts and several times discussed the case and advanced theories.

J. P. Watts, in an affiavit, states that he examined the payrolls of the Blue Mountain Ice Company and found that that on November 27, Masten came to the store of the Borthwick mill, at Mooresville, Columbia County, and said: "Come with me to Portland, and we will both of us get on the jury in the McDaniel case."

Julia R. Flory, recorder of Fidelity lodge, No. 14, Degree of Honor, states in an affidavit that O. P. Masten and his wife are members of the lodge, and also wife Clara A. Firsh the mether of Clairs.

Jacob G. Peck, chief engineer and foreman, Blue Mountain Company, in an affidavit, says Masten worked for the company steadily from May to September, 1899, and that he frequently heard him pass remarks about the McDaniel case, but what he said he cannot recollect.

The affidavit of Alex Nichols states that The affidavit of Alex Nichols states that he saw Masten working at the Borthwick mill only from September to the end of November, and that during all of this time Masten borrowed all of the newspapers and repeatedly stated, in h's presence, that McDaniel was guilty, and that after the trial Masten said to affiant: "There was not evidence enough to hang him, but I got the jury to bring in a verdict of manslaughter against him," and that he said he could not do as he pleased on

The affidavit of Jim McNaughton, foreman of the Borthwick mill, recites that he employed Masten on September 6 to work at the mill.

The affidavit of Edward C. Christman states that Masten told him he was well acquainted with the murdered girl, and that she used to visit at his home, and that he said McDaniel was a corner loafer and ought to be hung on general prin-

KENTUCKY'S ELECTION LAWS

Argument by the Great Democratic

Newspaper of the State for Repeal. Events in Kentucky have awakened interest throughout the country in the political affairs of that state. To the Goebel election law are mainly due the conditions that have so nearly produced anarchy, and may even yet produce it. The Louisville Courier-Journal prints a doubleleaded article on the election laws of the state, and The Oregonfan deems the subject of aufficient interest to the general reader, even at this distance, to justify it in reprinting it. The article hereunto appended: There are two pressing responsibilities upon the present Legislature with refer-ence to the machinery of elections. One is the satisfactory modification of the Goebel law, and the other is the submis-sion of a constitutional amendment for the abolition of the Australian ballot, Both these measures demand action by the present Legislature. It will require time to mend the Constitution in order to return to the viva voce system of voting. and in the meantime elections must be conducted under some law that is not open to the objections which hold against the Goebel law in its existing form.

Senator Blackburn did not put the case too strongly yesterday when he argued that both as a matter of right and of party expediency the Goebel law, as it nas now proved itself, is not to be de-

It is hardly necessary to discuss the law now from the standpoint of principle. It is not to be denied that either theoreti-cally or practically it fails to insure fair play; and fair play is demanded by the | bles and constipation.

Masten worked there from May to September, 1899, and was not at Goble.

The affidavit of Oliver McFall recites litical party can hope to gain any permanent advantage by ignoring that demand.
Upon the ground of party expediency the Goebel law must be condemned, as Mr. Blackburn insists, both as an ineffective partisan instrument and as one yet fraught with much mischief to the Dem crais of the State. Putting aside the question of principle and assuming that it is "good politics" for a party to rely upon an election law that will give it a material advantage, it has been demon-strated that the Goebel law was a heavy handicap rather than a help to the Demo-crats at last fall's election. Mr. Blackburn does not exaggerate when he says that the Democrats lost 20,000 votes through that law, and at every step of the contest over it since the election the pro visions that were counted on as staffs for the Democrats have been turned upon them as clubs.

And great as has been the burden of this law upon the Democrats in the past, it is clear that if allowed to remain unmodified it will be a still greater burden upon them in the future. The advantages which the recent revolutionary and violent course of the Republicans has given the Democrats can not be fully retained unless the Demo erate, who have now all the branches of the state government, prune the election law of its objectionable features. More over, there is danger, unless such a re-vision shall be made before the next election, that the Democrats of Kentucky may lose the electoral vote of the state for President. "No matter how ponderous our majority in the Presidential election this fall may be," Senator Blackburn well says, "it would not be at all surprisng if the electoral vote of our state should be required to determine the resuit of that Presidential contest, to see it impeached because it was held under the present law." This is not in the least far-fetched. In the event, by no means impossible, that the Presidential election should be thrown into the National House of Representatives, the present House would be the tribunal in which it would he decided and who believes that it would sliate to take advantage of the disrepute of the Goebel iaw to reject the vote of Kentucky, if by so doing a Republican President could be saved?

Altogether, every consideration, whether of principle or policy, dictates that the Legislature of Kentucky shall so revise the election law that it shall be entirely acceptable to both the leading po-

Remember that we are still located at 107 First street, and will remain at that location until our new building at the corner of Park and Washington streets, opposite Cordray's Theater, is ready for occupancy.

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL PIANO THE

How it brightens and refines the home-resits the nerves and weary heads! What pretty fancies it brings into the mind-that is, providing it's music. Music was never made with a bad piano, and bad pianos have a bad habit of masquerading in the dress of good pianos. Then, too, you can't get good music out of an old, worn-out second-hand piano that some one else has discarded. Buy your piano at a store where you will be sure of getting a good piano, which will produce good music-where piano knowledge is abundant and always on tap, where every transaction is honest. You cannot miss it in selecting a celebrated How it brightens and refines the riss it in selecting a celebrated TECK, KRAKAUER, or a STER LING, three that predominate every where.
