Edward T. Watts against Henry Schwer ing, because of the shooting of the plain tiff by the defendant in the leg, March & 1806, on board the steamer Young America, was begun in Judge Frazer's court yesterday. Watts alleges that he is now a cripple for life as the result of the wound he received. He is able to walk wound he received. He is able to wark around, but the injured leg is about three inches shorter than the other. The evidence submitted in the case dis-closed that Charles Lohkamp, acting as a special Deputy Sheriff, was attempting to arrest Schwering on a warrant charging him with trespass. Schwering started to ascend the steps leading to the pilot-house, having a salt sack in his hand, inside of which was a revolver. Watts, who was engaged as a fireman on the steamboat, was standing close by. Lohkamp took hold of Schwering, and the latter swung the sack around and it struck against an iron guard tail and the revolver was discharged. Watts was con-fined for 12 weeks in the hospital, and ways the expense attending was $250.

on the steamer from Linnton, and intended to return to Linnton on the steamer in the evening. It would be necessary for him to travel over a dark and lonely road a distance of a mile and a half in order to reach his home, and he carried the revolver with him as a protection. Not de-siring to expose it to plain view, on the steamer, he placed it in the sack. It is further stated that he decided to leave the revolver with the pilot until the return trip. He proceeded to go up the steps, and had partly done so, when Lohkamp grasped him by the right leg and foot and violently pulled and jerked him from the steps, causing the sack and revolver to strike against an iron pipe or railing, and Schwering alleges that this occurred with-

Schwering in a farmer. He did not arrive in court until two hours after the trial had begun, and brought no witnesses with him. After the case for the plain-tiff had been closed, a short intermission was taken, and during the interim counsel for Schwering informed him that he would call him to the witness stand when the court reconvened to tell his side of the case; but when that time arrived Schwering was nowhere to be seen, having quietly slipped away. The attorney, therefore, was unable to offer any defense, and the said: "The only point is whether there was the slightest degree of negligence on the part of the defendant. If so, you will find for the plaintiff and assess the amount of damages. If you find there was no negligence on the part of the defendant, you will find for the defendant."

John Forsyth wrote from Mystic, Conn., that he is waiting for the machinery estimates for the dock, and is In the case of G. G. Warner vs. Charles Bronneau in the United States Court, Judge Bellinger decided that there was no machinery estimates for the dock, and is nearly through with the drawings and fig-ures. J. J. Cousins wrote from New York that he hoped the Chamber of Commerce would look further into the balance float-ing-dock project before definitely decid-ing in favor of a sectional dock. The trustees have the drydock project well in hand, but there will be nothing official to Federal case involved, and remanded the case to the State Court.

In the case of Albert Lillenthal et al. vs Charles McCormick et al., Judge Bellinger overruled the plea to jurisdiction. The case involves title to a mining claim hand, but there will be nothing official to in the Bohemia district. It was tried some time ago, and before a decree was engive out until all the plans are well ma-to his plan he wrote:

"It has occurred to me that it would be an excellent plan if the secretaries of the various commercial bodies on the Pacific Coast could arrange for a yearly meeting to compare notes and get acquainted. We are, of course, thoroughly familiar with our immediate surroundings, and some of us are more or less acquainted with the products and commerce of the entire Pacific Coast, but undoubtedly we can all learn of one snother, and the result of such a conference could not but make us more useful officers of the organizations we represent. Owing to the interest taken by the California State University in the establishment of a Pacific Com-mercial Museum, I believe that the management of that irelitution would foster our project and secure for us desirable

The trustees acknowledged the receipt of Secretary Wood's letter, and may take up the subject later. May Come to Portland.

The Trans-Mississipol Commercial Congress asked that Portsand be represented at the annual meeting to be held at Houston, Tex., April 17-21. It was suggested that only delegates who will attend be appointed. A note from Thomas Richardson, the secretary, said that there is a dis-position on the part of the congress to hold a meeting at Portland, and that G. M. Irwin, of Salem, could give particulars. Secretary Fleischner was requested to write to Mr. Irwin and ascertain what wledge he has of the proposed meeting at Portland.

All Banks Now Members

The Merchants National Bank was elected to membership. All the Portland banks are now members of the Chamber. A resolution was adopted indorsing the dill pending in congress for the improvement of the revenue-cutter service and for increased pay for those in the service. Action on the proposal to ask Congress for $0,000 to establish a Pacific Coast Commercial Museum in California was deferred until more information can be obtained from the officials of the University of California, who are promoting the undertaking. The proposed museum will be similar to the one for which Philadel-phia is trying to get an appropriation of $200,000 from the Government.

SEVENTH WARD REPUBLICANS Lively Meeting on the Macadam

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Sev enth Ward Republican Club was called to order last night in the Maccabees' hall, on the Macadam road. It was attended by the largest crowd ever at a meeting in that district. The happy feature of the evening was to see the Republicans of both the former factions, hand in hand, declaring their fealty to the party. The first thing on the programme was a song by Judge Hennessy, who sang in good voice and responded to an encore. Next came the address of the evening by

Wallace McCamant, who talked for two hours on the important subjects of the day. This was the first time Mr. McCamant had spoken to the people in that sec-tion of the city, and their appreciation was shown for his remarks by the fre-quent interruptions of applause. Following him came Mr. Ferrera, whose topic was on the need of registration. He entered very fully into the question, and

SPRING IS HERE.

Nature Awakens and Puts On Her

Clothes.

Strangers within Portland's gates the last two days have had a chance to see what the Oregon climate can do in the way of turning out a fancy article when it tries. Although the March wind has at times been rather too high for the com-fort of pedestrians, this has been the one exception to weather that was irreproachable. The skies have been as blue as any that ever shone over the Mediterranean, the air as soft and balmy as that of sunny Italy and the sunsets of a hue that would set amateur artists to painting away like mad and drive painters to despair. Trees are arraying themselves in Sum mer garb with a haste resembling that of a maiden who is dressing for her first party; the hills are already blazing with dering about the city, one sees a plum tree in full bloom, and the activity ap-parent up among the branches of the cherry trees shows that these will soon be as gay as a Christmas tree, adorned with popcorn.

The woods have the sweet smell of awakening vegetation, and the air in them is heavy with a thousand odors, which can hardly be distinguished one from another. The "oobp oobp" of the grouse comes from the tops of the trees, and the twitter of many a small bird makes a chorus from which now and then sounds the clear Spring song of the robin, or the unmusical clatter of the yellow-hammer. Over near Mount Tabor, the skylarks wing their flight every morning, singing, as they go, "in profuse strains of unpremeditated art," till the air rings with their melody.

A trip into the country at this time is very enjoyable. The roads are drying up, the grass is springing fresh and green vegetation is putting forth on every vegetation is putting forth on every hand, fruit trees getting ready to bloom, and the farmer is turning up the moist and mellow earth, preparatory to planting. In every spring and pond the frogs are singing their love-songs, which put one in mind of fried frogs' legs and drive all poetical notions out of his head.
