FAVORED THE DEFENDANT

JUROR MASTEN WANTED TO AC-QUIT FRANK M'DANIEL.

District Attorney Files Numerous Counter Affidavits in the Motion for a New Trial.

District Attorney Sewall yesterday filed counter affidavits in the McDaniel rehearing issue, now pending in Department No. 4, in which the mean assertions of affiants are failty contradicted. O. P. Masten, the juror whose conduct is questioned, denies most of the statements against him in toto. District Attorney Sewall makes out his strongest answer to the affidavits by showing, through the affidavits of fellow jurors, that Masten favored McDaniel's acquittal for a considerable period after retiring to the jury room, and apparently consented to man-slaughter only that he might win six other jurors from their position of a verdict against the defendant for murder in the first degree. If Masten was such a strenuous advocate for McDaniel's acquittal the District Attorney argues that it is ab-surd to presume he sought membership in the jury for the purpose of convicting

But should the evidence be regarded as against Masten, District Attorney Sewall maintains that according to the law, there no ground for a new trial, because it is shown that after Masten entered upon his duties as a juror he favored the inno-cence of the defendant, which establishes that Masten's prior assertions, whatever they might have been, were not material it will be mustered in next Wednesdar in influencing the final result. A decision evening by Colonel Jackson, who will in Idaho is quoted to support this post- also act as inspector of elections. Lieuwhich covers the present case so aughly that District Attorney Sowall he soughly that District Attorney Sewaii selieves it will be accepted. The affidavits filed by the District Attorney are made by Masten himself, Mra. Clara Fitch, H. W. Thielsen, Walter Wolf, J. G. Peck, Charles W. Tracy, A. W. Glese, C. W. Gay, Isaac Kay, N. P. Tomilnson, W. W. Jaques, Judge Alfred F. Sears, Jr., J. M. Arthur, Raiph W. Hoyt, A. W. Lambert, John Brooke, Judge J. C. Moreland, John A. Houck and Newton Clark. Six of these are Masten's fellow jurors, each of whom testi-

Masten begins his affidavit in the usual form, stating that he, with his wife and children, has lived in Portland for the past 14 years, and now is engaged as station engineer at the Mount Tabor station of the water works. Victor P. McFail's statements are taken up first. Masten denies that he had a conversation with McPall November 27, or any other date, regarding the McDaniel case; denies that he came to Portland to get on the jury, and did not know that the McDaniel case had been set for trial until he was subpenaed on the special venire by Deputy Sheriff Thielsen. As to his employment at Mooresville, Columbia County, he said he first worked there four days, beginning May 15, and then commenced again May 29, and worked off and on until Septem-ber, 1899, but denies that he read in any paper concerning the McDaniel case while there, or had a conversation with Chris Timm concerning it or expressed any the-ories regarding the same. He admits knowing Mrs. Julia R. Flory, Recorder of Fidelity Lodge. No. 14, Degree of Hon-or, and also meeting Mrs. Fitch there a few times, but does not remember of speaking to her beyond an introduction, says he never visited her house, and that the case in any manner whatever with Alex Nichols, and closes by stating that Nichols drove a wagon during the day and they seldom spoke to each other. Timm gets a rap, and is charged with animus in his affidavit. Masten swears that Timm neglected his duties as boller clean-er and had to be called to account by himself, which caused Timm to harbor a bitter feeling against him. Masten explains how he came to serve on the jury in the following manner: He came to Portland from the mill, and had been down to see J. M. Arthur. going home with a Thanksgiving turker and other packages, he stopped on Third and Alder streets for a few moments' conversation, when Walter Wolf came up with Deputy Sheriff Thielsen, introduced them, and he was served with a subpena, despite his protests. He further alleges that he heard the evidence and the charge. and rendered his verdict without par tiality or prejudice. Master says for a number of ballots he voted for acquittal, and changed to manslaughter to win over the six men who desired to convict of murder in the first degree. Closing his affidavit, he says the character of Timm is very bad, that he is addicted to excessive use of intoxicants, and he is not a person to receive credence.

Mrs. Fitch simply admits having met Musten, but does not recall ever conversing with him, says he never was at their home, and that her daughter, Claire did not visit his house. Deputy Sheriff Thielsen corroborates Masten fully as to the manner in which the subpens was the manner in which the subpens was served, stating that he approached Walter Wolf with the question if he knew some reliable young taxpayers he could catch as jurors, when he was introduced to Masten and Insisted on his reporting to the Courthouse, even if he had to send his turkey home by some one else. Walter Wolf zwears to the same facis.

I. G. Peck, who has an affidavit on the side of the defendant saws in an affidavit

I. G. Peck, who has an affidavit on the side of the defendant, says, in an affidavit filed by the District Attorney, that his former affidavit does not correctly express what he desires to convey. He said in the first that Masten had worked at the mill steadily, but meant that he was not there daily, for, to the best of his recollection, he believed Masten was not there all the time. He also says he did not intend to say O. P. Masten frequently passed remarks on the McDantel case while working at the mill, but what be actually said in answer to the question first asked him was that he had not heard him make remarks concerning it. And even if he had heard such, he would not remember them now. remember them now.

Tracy, Gless, Gay, Kay, Tomlinson and Jaques are the six jurors who swear that Masten argued with his fellow jurors for acquittal, and to the best of their belief and knowledge voted for "not guilty" until it became necessary to compromise in or der that a verdict might be reached. Mr Gay says Master contended with him that McDaniel has nothing to do with the murder of the girl. All the other affiants are to the point of Masten's reputation for truth and veracity in the community.

As most of the statements in the Dis trict Attorney's affidavits are flat contra-dictions of those contained in the affida-vits for the defender. It is unlikely that any counters will be filed by Mr. St. Rayner, attorney for the latter. If such is the case, the argument on the motion for a new trial may be heard today.

WILL WEAR GOLD STRIPES.

All Guardsmen Who Served in Foreign Campaigns Have That Honor.

Two new military companies have been authorized by the State Military Board, one at Woodburn and another at Roge-burg. The Woodburn company is composed largely of Second Oregon Volun-teers, and the movement is led by Lieu-tenant W. E. Finzer, formerly First Lieutenant in Company M, Second Oregon.

One of the jurors, Jaques, admits that he was one of the six holding out for first degree.

Masten begins his affidavit in the usual company regiment, Portland will be far in the rear unless organizing work he progresses faster than at present. It has been the dream of military authorities to have a 12-company regiment here. anxious to Have a Complete Census Taken.

Census Supervisor Telfer, of the Second Congressional District, has succeeded in enlisting the interest of nearly all the newspapers of this district in his work He has asked space for the publication of bulletins of interest regarding the census, and in nearly every case the request has been granted. The newspapers show a de-sire to have a full census taken, and will gladly publish such information as will aid the enumerators. Yesterday Super-visor Telfer issued the following bulletin for general distribution: "The Supervisor of the Census for the Second District of Oregon is now con-sidering the fitness of the various appli-cants for appointment as enumerators. The qualifications are set forth in a circular from the Director of Census. which the following extract is taken: The appointment of enumerators will be made with reference to physical activity and to aptness, neatness and accuracy in writing and in the use of figures. The census requires active, energetic persons of good address and readiness with the pen. Only such can do the work with satisfaction to the Government or profit to them

"Each applicant is given a specimen blank, or test schedule, with complete instructions for filling it out. He is also given a 'narrative,' supposed to contain the facts likely to be gathered in a day's canvass. He is required to place this narrative on the test schedule. This blank is examined by the Supervisor, and if it comes up to the required standard the comes up to the required standard, the applicant is listed for appointment. This list, with the application and test schedules, will be forwarded to the Director of the Census at Washington for final ap-proval. The candidate must certify that proval. Arrangements for Damrosch-Gadski-Bispham All But Completed.

It is almost certain that the greatest Wagnerian combination in the United States - Walter Damrosch, Mmc. Gadski and David Bispham-will be brought to Portland for one concert next Thursday evening, March 22. Negotiations have been going on for some time between Manager Heilig, of the Marquam Theater, and Manager C. F. Graff, of New York, in which the Musical Club, of Portland, also figures. It is expected that negotiations will be closed by telegraph today, and that the concert will be given on the date

The three world-renowned artists left New York about 10 days ago for the pur-pose of giving six concerts in San Francisco, and then returning directly to New York, and thence proceeding to London, where Mme. Gadski has a contract to sing in Covent Garden. They had no intention of visiting any other city on the Pacific Coast, and if they come to Portland they will leave directly for New York, with a possible stop in St. Paul. Portland is the nly city of its size that will have the advantage of listening to so disting master of Wagnerian music as Damrosch and so incomparable an artist in Wag-nerian roles as Mme. Gadski. Manager hellig's enterprise in securing the cele-brated people speaks volumes for him, and puts Portland in the list of cities which no musical attraction, however great, can afford to overlook. To secure this triple attraction, Manager Hellig was obliged to guarantee a very large sum, but he had no hesitation in doing so, knowing full well that Portland's music-lovers never neglectful of the opportunity of hearing the very best that American managers can offer. It may be expected that definite announcement of the coming of definite announcement of the coming of these great stars will be made in tomorrow's Oregonian.
