E. Versteeg PRIMARIES SATURDAY, COUNTY CONVENTION MARCH 31.

Talk of a Union City and County Ticket, Composed of Democrats and Populists,

The Democrats will hold their primaries Saturday, and their county convention March 2L It is impossible to make even a reasonably correct forecast of what the county convention will do on March 31. It may nominate a full ticket or it may only elect delegates to the state convention and adjourn until about the middle of April, to adjoint unit about the interest april, to put up the city and county ticket. Repre-sentations having been made that there is a prospect for a "citizens' ticket," on which the Democrats will have a number of places, some are disposed to put off the nominating convention until a late date to see what can be done. As the citizens' ticket would necessarily be a combination of Democrats, Populists and disaffected Republicans, it is not clear that anything

Many Democrats and Populists favor a union ticket, composed of Democrats and Populists, which shall be officially filed as the Democratic city and county ticket. In this way the Populist organization will lose its identity in Multnomah County. What favor this plan will find in the county conventions is altogether a matter of conjecture.

Candidates are slow about announcing themselves. The only county office for which there has been any lining up of candidates is the Shrievalty. Those men-tioned are D. M. Watson, who ran two years ago; C. B. Williams, D. L. Houston and John Montag, the Democratic nomi-nee for Mayor two years ago. TO THE ARMORY.

Thirteen neat, well-preserved caskets, wrapped in the National colors and repos-ing under a canopy of the same patriotic pattern, occupy a small space in the cen-ter of the great drill hall at the Armory. They contain the remains of 12 men who marched away from Portland with the Second Oregon Volunteers in May, 1898. Ten bodies arrived yesterday morning on the Southern Pacific train, which practic-ally completes the shipment of Oregon's soldier dead. There are several not re-turned. The War Department has issued orders not to disinter the smallpox patients, although the dead of all other con-tagious diseases have been returned home, icluding the yellow-fever patients from

When the Southern Pacific train rolled nto the depot at 9:15, there was a large delegation on hand to receive the bodies. Generals Beebe and Summers, with a numper of Volunteers and one company of the Guard, commanded by Captain Von Egioffstein, acted with Eugene Shelby, representing Wells, Fargo & Co. Mr. Shelby kindly consented to deliver the 19 caskets received at the Armory immeditely, where they were turned over to J. P. Finley for arrangement. Three wagons were required to convey them from the depot to the Armory. Company G formed Placed in the Armory, the wooden casings were removed, leaving visible only the neat caskets, which, in turn, inclosed a hermetically sealed metallic casket. Mn. for Jubitz had suspended over the caskets a large flag belonging to the Guard, which formed a pretty canopy. Through the kind-ness of W. C. Noon & Co., he was also able to procure a dozen neat flags, one of which was wrapped around each cas-ket, in military fashion. The Y. M. C. A.

Preparations for the funeral Sunday are still progressing. Owing to the hour hav-ing been fixed at 10:30 A. M. for the services at the Armory, it will be necessary for those intending to take part who are members of churches to miss merning worship. The invitation committee stated that Governor Geer had been informed that it was the general consensus of opin-ion that he should preside at the Armory. The committee desires to inform all of-ficials, organizations and societies that they are welcome, as well as every other person interested. Formal invitation will not be extended, as the committee thinks it improper. It is a state affair, in which everybody is expected and is wanted to participate. The commander of the revenue cutter Perry will be asked to join, with his sailors and marines. If the com-manding officers at Vancouver desire to join, they will be cordially welcomed, which applies with especial force to the Washington Guard and Washington Volunteers. The committee yesterday issue the following: All persons officials, societies and organisa-tions within reach of Portland are cordially in-vited to participate in the services to be held Sunday, March 25, in this city, when the hon-ored soldier dead of Oregon, lately returned from foreign soil, are placed at rest in the bosom of their native land. The occasion will represent a state in mourning, whose sorrow ing people find renewed pleasure in bein joined by all in honoring the memory of thos who died for their country.

CHRIS BELLA GEORGE F. TELFER, W. C. NORTH.

Many fraternal organizations have expressed the purpose of joining in the serv-ices. Such of these as will take part in procession through the city sh notify Major Jubitz as soon as practicable, that those in charge may make ample provision for all desiring to march. Wood men of the World have issued the follow attention, Woodmen of the World: Members of all lodges of the city are requested to meet at the Woodmen's Hall, corner of Tenth and Washington streets, Sunday at 12 noon, for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late Second Oregon Volunteers. The Woodmen propose to turn out over men in the line. Red Men say they will have over 500. Other fraternal orders are at work, and assure as good if not better results. Mrs. Dr. Henry E. Jones, president of the Red Cross Society and the Emergency Corps, informed the committees yesterday that the good women who have labored to do what they can on the present oc casion. Some talk has been heard of setting a lunch at midday for all the military and the volunteers. This would be a task of considerable magnitude, however, and as there will be two hours between the morning services and the commence ment of the march, it has been said that all would have ample time to dine at home without putting the women to the trouble and care. Mrs. Dr. Jones said ier societies would take up the matter of decorations, particularly flowers, and anything else desired or possible. Parents of three of the soldiers have been rather aggrieved by statements that their sons have been among the un-claimed. These are the families of Fred J. Norton, F. E. Rofeno and J. H. Fenton. All three of these families claimed their dead, had them shipped to Portland, and then turned them over to the state for burial in the military plot. This was done because the parents felt as their sons had fallen in the service of their country, they should have sepulture in the National or state cemetery. The families of many of the ten mentioned as "unclaimed" did not claim their dead for the same reason, as they were assured they would be given to the state for burial.

REPAIRING SIXTH STREET.

The repairs are being paid for by the provement is entirely voluntary. One of these property-owners said yesterday that North Sixth street has been carrying more than its fair share of team traffic, as it is the only thoroughfare being used by freight depots and the great wholesale houses of the city. "Our trouble in Port-land," he said, "is that but one main street is kept in repair at a time, and seall the city travel seeks that street. In the East an asphalt-paved street would be considered a boulevard and only used for light driving, but here in Portland the heavy trucks, dump carts, lumber wagons, stone wagons and everything o unusual weight are driven along the as phalt pavement of Sixth street. Fifth street, with its double street-car tracks, and its rough Belgian block pave-stones, is entirely given over to the car company, and so is Fourth street, with it wood-block pavement, now rapidly going to decay. I wish the city authorities would provide several streets for traffic between the freight warehouses and the business
