WILL SERVE LEPERS

Father Conrardy Preparing to Go to China.

HE HAS RECEIVED DEGREE OF M. D.

Will Take Charge of a Colony of 60,000 Afflicted in the Province of Canton.

That his old age may be spent in a leper colony, whose misery the world does not duplicate, is the ambition of Father L. L. Conrardy, one of the graduating class of the University of Oregon medical depart-ment. Eight long years on Molokai, where Father Damien fell a victim to his sacri-ficing spirit, did not quench Father Conrardy's hope to serve the wretched out-casts of all ages. He was relieved by Molokai by the noble Damien's brother, and now is about to plunge into the greatest leper colony of the world. His studies at the medical department of the university have been solely for the pur-pose of better equipping himself to alleviate the sufferings of lepers, and, although 60 years of age, and worn by a life among semi-barbarians, savage and semi-civilized people, he will be the ploneer white man in China's largest leper colony, situated in the province of Can-

This devout laborer for mankind is not a stranger in Oregon. He was on the Umatilla reservation from 1874 to 1888, being engaged with the Indian tribes so well known to this state. In 1888 Father Conrardy went to Molokai, in the Hawaiian group, where there are 1200 lepers confined. One year after he arrived there. Father Damien, the world-known spirit that devoted life to this loathsome mbed to leprosy, leaving Father

Conrardy in full charge. For eight years this dauntiess priest challenged the fate his heroic predecessor had met, but was guarded by some influence more potent, Pather Conrardy proved practically immune, and, although daily coming in contact with the disease that terrifies the world, never became infected. There was not an hour, except when he was sleeping, that the priest was not exposed to conditions popularly regarded as fatal. As a result of his experience, Father believes leprosy infectious

In 1896 he took a trip to Japan and China, after being relieved at Molokal by Father Damien's brother, to study the leprosy colonies of those countries, and through the influence of the American Consul at Canton was permitted to enter the great leper colony of the province of Canton, where no other white man had ever been. There are between 50,000 and 60,000 lepers in this colony, which is noted for being the most loathsome on earth. Canton's vast population is so dense that filth breeds this dread disease at a startling rate. In the city of Canton alone there are 1,800,000 people, and the streets are never more than six feet wide; oftener only three feet wide.

Each leper is allowed by the govern-ment only 1 cent a day for sustenance. Father Conrardy says the lepers of the colony are inclined to be industrious, and with the pittance from the government be hopes to enable them to provide for them-selves quite plentifully, compared with the wretched state they are now reduced to as a result of misguided efforts or lack

Before going to his work, Father Conrardy expects to canvass the East for assistance to place the leper colony in fair condition. If he secures enough money he will buy a tract of land, build verandas, and commence systematic work to organize and develop the colony's pro-ducing capacity. In their present habitations the Cantonese have no soap, bandages, salve or chemicals of any kind to pain much more intense than it otherwise would be. All of these articles the good priest hopes to provide, that the un-ending suffering of such a large part of humanity may be mitigated as far as pos-

There is a Cantonese Chinaman here in Portland who wants to return to his na-tive province with Father Conrardy, to end whatever aid he may to the work. He has the confidence of the people there, and will be quite useful. Father Con-rardy does not go to this gloomy work in the capacity of missionary, but as a Good Samaritan, in the interests of humanity. These unfortunates, in his eyes, are men and women whose welfare justifies sacrifice of those more favorably born. Should he find those desiring to embrace Christianity, he will administer to them spiritually. But his crowning ambition is to illustrate practical Christianity.

The aged priest's mission is one so foridding to the ordinary mind that it seems difficult to grasp the depth of its sacrifice. A much younger and more vigorous mind might stand appalled before even the preliminary work of this undertaking. White men have had nothing to do there. All the difficulties of racial isolation and Chiraca stubbarraness must be tion and Chinese stubbornness must be met. But to Father Contardy, whose life has been a struggle with strange, wild people, these impediments are not heeded. He feels confident that as soon as his work is indicated by first results there will be abundance of official aid to promote and further his plans. His age he thinks but a small handicap. Health is yet good, and he has no fears of leprosy. The simple element of climate is what causes him most apprehension, as the colony is in a damp, hot zone. Father Conrardy thinks that by the time he has spent five years in the colony it will be in such a condition of progress that the eyes of men will be drawn, until a qualified successor may be found to take up the burden and relieve the ploneer, that he may spend his few remaining feeble years in rest. Portland Father Conrardy has not been idle in other respects. Various priests idle in other respects. Various priests have been assisted in their churches, and any work of the diocese that he could attend to has found him ready and will-ing. It is novel for one of 56 to com-mence a medical course, which involves a vast amount of work, often overtaxing young and more virgin minds. His stud-ies have been followed faithfully in every respect. Dr. Josephi, dean of the college, attests that the usual faulty memory of 50 was not evident in the examinations even on the long lists of difficult terms found in anatomy. Now that he has received his degree of M. D., nothing interferes with Father Conrardy commencing immediately plans for his great undertaking in Canton.

REPUBLICAN BAR MEETING. Sentiment in Payor of a Larger Su

A report on the custom pre this county of employing special counsel in cases involving county interests was only subject before the Multnomah Republican Bar last evening. The committee appointed at the last meeting of the bar to investigate this matter report-ed fully, giving the dates and amounts of money paid out by the County Commis-sioners since January, 1899, the total of which was said to be $6234.75, the last payment being on February 12, of this year. This report of the committee was opted, but no action was taken at the meeting last evening. In moving for its acceptance, it was indicated that the re-port would be taken up at the next meetng, which is to be called by the presi-

Increasing the Supreme Bench.

Judge Stott made a few remarks on the pending Constitutional am crease the Supreme Bench from three to five Justices. He thought there were no three men in the state more worked than the Supreme Judges, and believed it was absolutely necessary to increase the number, as had been done in Washington appellate matters were decided two or three months, whereas in the Oregon Supreme Court decisions were on an average two years behind.

E. W. Bingham favored the increase, He believed some method should be adopted for informing people on the subject, that they might vote intelligently. He called attention to the fact that any man not voting for the amendment was counted in the negative, as the law required a spec-ified number of votes, and all blanks were equal to a negative. On motion of Mr. McNary, President Cake appointed a committee of three to formulate some plan for circulating information. The committee is Judge Stott, Mr. Bungham and L. A.

Qualifications at Primaries.

President Cake invited Mr. Bingham to answer Mayor Storey's question pertaining to voters at primary elections, which was done in the following communication, accepted as Mr. Bingham's opinion, rather than any action by the association:
"Section 5 of the primary law of 1891 fixes and defines the right to vote at a primary election this year. The qualifications are that the voter must be one who will, in the course of time and nature, if not now, be a fully qualified elector at the next June election, and further, that he has not yet voted at any primary election this year. The registration law has nothing to do with the qualifications of electors at the primary elections." Dilating on the subject, Mr. Bingham said that the registration law im qualifications not contained in the Con-stitution. It specified certain duties of citizens, that their qualifications might be come of age by the June election and was otherwise qualified, Mr. Bingham held that he should be permitted to vote at the primary elections.

The speaker also mentioned at some length a new primary law which he had been considering with others, in furtherance of the purpose of the Australian bal-lot system and the registration law.

Too Much Water. A petition has been sent to the City Council asking the Council to remove the fountain at the corner of East Burnelde street and Union avenue. It is repre-sented that the fountain has become a nuisance from being in a leaky condition, besides it is altogether too near another fountain of another kind. There are other places where this fountain could be placed and there would be no objection offered, if the Council concluded to move it.

Louise Brehany, in addition to being a great singer, is a very beautiful woman, and her charm of manner possesses that wonderful fascination that brings her at once into close sympathy and harmony with her audience, and to hear her render a song or ballad is to feel all the thrill and emotion of the song. NEWSBOYS WERE PLEASED.

One of the largest houses of the season witnessed the presentation of the intensely funny farce-comedy, "My Precious Baby," at the Metropolitan Theater. Through the kindness of the management the newsboys of The Oregonian and the Telegram were admitted free. This force filled it made an enthusiastic audience in itseif. There is no more critical audience than the one composed of newsboys, and the comedy, as presented last night, was fully up to their ideals. The body of the house was well filled with the regular patrons of the theater, who were sympathetic and that has characterized it all the week. Miss Georgie Cooper sang several of her popular coon songs in her own inimitable way, and Eddie Holland and Miss Abbott Introduced some attractive specialties. The comedy has proven very uccessful, and the audiences have grown steadily larger all the week.
"My Frecious Baby" will be the bill at the matinee this afternoon, and at the regular performance tonight.

DEMOCRATS MEET TODAY

COUNTY CONVENTION MAY NOT BE ENTIRELY HARMONIOUS,

Lenders Desire to Postpone Nominations-Others Want Convention to Complete Its Work.

While no serious ruction is expected to occur in the Democratic county conven-tion, which will meet this morning at 10 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Cham ber of Commerce, it is more than likely the proceedings of the body will be puncthe proceedings of the body will be punc-tuated with more or less discord. All the delegates, however, are unanimous in ex-pressing the hope that any trouble that may arise will be evanescent; all of them are holding the olive branch, and the leaders will be on hand with large jugs of oil to pour on the troubled waters. It is likely entire harmony wid prevail in all the work of the convention, until the nomination of candidates is reached. The prospective candidates, with visions of former "leg pulling" looming up before them, desire a short campaign. With them them, desire a short campaigh. With them it is a question of money. The Central Committee and many of the leaders hold the same view. With these it is a question of policy. They argue that a stronger ticket can be named after the Republicans have showed their hand.

The convention will be called to order by Dr. G. M. Wells, chairman of the Coun-ty Central Committee. Three Democrats have been mentioned as temporary chair-man-Alex Sweek, J. T. Milner and Fred-Concert and Opera Tonight, at the Y. M. C. A. Hull.

Numerous Accessions to Collection of Will most likely be elected permanent chairman. The convention will be composed of 146 delegates, and all of them are expected to be present or represented by proxy. If the designs of the leaders prethis the new County Central Committee will be elected, an order of business will journ until some time after the state convention. Some of the delegates-it is impossible to ascertain how many-are in favor of naming a full ticket today. Whether the committee will be able to muster enough delegates to its support to prevent this is a problem. But should a ticket be nominated, it is assured that it will be a Democratic ticket. There will be no fusion with the Populists either day or at an adjourned meeting. If the Populists come into the convention they must come in the guise of Democrats, and the glad hand will be extended to

All kinds of overtures will be made to placate the Gold Democrats and to wel-come their return to the fold. It is agreed that they are to have eight or ten of the delegates to the state convention, and a fair representation on the County Central Committee. It is also likely that of the candidates will be selected from the ranks of those who supported Palmer

Where Does Mr. Quimby Livet Trouble is brewing in the Third Ward in the matter of candidates for Councilman. Some of the residents of the ward talk of nominating D. J. Quimby in opposition to J. D. Meyer, and Mr. Meyer's friends allege that it cannot be done, as Mr. Quimby has his residence on Yambiil street, in the Fourth Ward. It hardly probable that there should dispute on this subject, as Mr. Quimby certainly ought to know where he lives when he is at home. Perhaps, howe "he doesn't live where he does now."

IN GRAND OPERA. Boston Lyrics' Fine Rendition of

The Boston Lyric Opera Company, last night, sang in grand opera. Its rendition of "Faust" was by far the most preten-tious of the season, and at the same time the most satisfactory. Signor Russo, as Faust, sang his role in his usual artistic style. His singing of the tender passages, particularly in the beautiful "Saive d'Amore" solo of the third act, showed the xcellent sympathetic quality of his voice, while in the more impassioned passages his clear, ringing, robust voice spontaneous recognition. Josephine Stanton sang the role of Marguerite in such a manner as to surprise her friends, who had seen her but in the sprightly roles of comic opera prima donna. The delicate, dreamy music in the role of Marguerite ned peculiarly fitted to her voice, seemed pecuality added to the at-tractiveness. Maude Leekley appeared for the first time in buskins as Siebel. Her the first time in buskins as Slebel. Her singing of "Marguerite," in the third act, added to her enviable reputation with Portland music-lovers. George Kunkel, as Mephisto, proved himself very versatile and capable. It was hard to believe one's eyes and ears when Kunkel appeared in the heavy role of Mephisto after seeing his hilarious, rollicking work during the previous part of the engagement.

On these occasions the police are called in and arrests are made, but the gang cannot be broken up in that way. men manage to scrape a few cents to-gether every day by carrying in wood or begging a dime from persons met on the streets, and this money all goes for gin, which is sold for 5 cents a glass. When it was suggested that it might be impracticable to operate an engine with a storage battery, so as to give sufficient power to haul trains of lumber, etc., he said it was done in Baltimore, where whole trains were hauled by storage battery engines. COFFEE HEADACHES. 17 Years' Experience.

"When Postum Cereal Coffee first came out. I was glad to begin the use of it and stop coffee, for I had long been convinced that my sick headaches (from which I had suffered for 17 years) were caused more or less by coffee-drinking. The headaches vanished like magic after the use of Postum was begun, and I can truthfully say that the first box of Postum Cereai Coffee did me more good than all the headache powders and other cures for that disease that I had taken throughout the whole 17 years of suffering.
"Naturally, I am absolutely certain that my headaches resulted directly from the use of coffee. You can use my testimonial, but please do not use my name in public." rs. —, Indianapolis, Ind. Name can furnished by Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Mrs. Battle Creek, Mich.
