CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight.

CORDRAY'S THEATER (Washington street)—"Il Trovatore."

RUNAWAY BOY.—Last Friday, Bert Mann, a 13-year-old boy, and the youngest son of his mother, Mrs. Kate Mann, a widow, residing at Rockwood, on the Base Line road, disappeared. He is described as having light hair and complexion, with blue eyes. He is rather large for his age, and of strong build. When last seen he wore a coat of brown ducking, knee pants and a cap. His mother would be very grateful for any information leading to his return. Mrs. Mann says that he returned home from school Friday afternoon at the usual hour. Shortly after 5 o'clock she directed him to go to the pasture for the cows, some 200 rods distant from the house. He did not return from this errand. At 7 o'clock Friday night the boy called at a house about a mile south of Rockwood, occupied by the families of Mr. Grant and Mr. Stewart. He left that place, and was last seen walking along the Section Line road. His mother says that he was generally a very well-behaved boy, and had had no trouble, either at home or at school. He had no change of clothing with him, and only 50 cents in money. His mother has no settled theory for his disappearance, but inclines to the belief that he must have been influenced by some one to leave home.

INFORMAL TALK.—Tomorrow at 2 P. M., at the First Congregational Church, Mrs. Louis Altman will give an informal talk on "A Remote Corner of Our Country," under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. To those who have heard Mrs. Altman speak on astronomy and the various literatures of the world, she needs no introduction. Her recent talks on Biblical literature have been especially fine, and those who have been attending her series of readings from "The Poets of the Bible" will be glad to hear what she has to say of this picturesque corner of our own country. This will be supplemented by a reading, instrumental music and some pretty Spanish songs by Miss Rose d'Almeidar, a sweet singer who is visiting Portland. Every one is cordially invited. No admission fee.

WILL SELL ASSETS.—Frank Hacheney, assignee of the Union Banking Company, yesterday applied to the court for confirmation of the sale of the assets of the company to Mrs. Sarah J. Henderson, whose bid was the highest. The court told Mr. Hacheney to use his own judgment in the matter, and he concluded to consummate the sale, as he is anxious to wind up the business. He is now busy preparing his final report, and will soon have the tiresome affair off his hands. As the purchaser of the assets has bought them on speculation, and has employed as her lawyer L. E. Latourelle, the defaulting creditors of the bank have probably not heard the last of the matter.

VITRIFIED BRICK NOW.—There is a strong probability of several streets in the business part of the city being improved before long with vitrified brick. A petition is being circulated for such an improvement on Sixth street, from Morrison to Salmon. H. W. Corbett has signed it for his residence block, and the Portland Hotel, and it is probable that a sufficient number of signatures to insure the improvement will be secured. The Council has ordered an estimate prepared of the cost of paving Stark street from Third to Seventh, with vitrified brick, and there is a movement to have Alder street, west of Sixth, improved with the same material.

BANKRUPT SALE.—The undersigned will receive sealed bids until 12 o'clock noon of Wednesday, April 11, 1900, for the bankrupt stocks of merchandise and fixtures pertaining to the estate of M. J. Matson, located at Woodburn, Or., and Mount Angel, Or., respectively. Separate bids to be made on each stock and check for ten (10) per cent of bid must accompany each bid. Inventory at my office. Stocks and inventory may be seen on application to my agents at Woodburn and Mount Angel. Dated at Portland, Or., March 30, 1900. R. L. Sabin, trustee, estate of M. J. Matson, in bankruptcy. Office, Front and Ankeny streets.

FIREMAN INJURED.—W. H. McMullen, who manipulates engine No. 1, of the Fire Department, has a very lame right arm in consequence of that member being caught in the fly-wheel of his engine Sunday morning. He had steam up in drill practice, at the corner of Fourth and Salmon, and on reaching his arm through the fly-wheel steam was suddenly turned on and the wheel began to revolve. The forearm was badly wrenched and crushed near the elbow, but no bones were broken. He will be rendered helpless, so far as running the engine is concerned, for several weeks.

IMPROVING WHITE HOUSE ROAD.—Smyth & Howard have completed laying the lower course of crushed rock on two miles of the White House road. They will now proceed to fill and level the ruts worn by travel, and then put on a layer of screenings and roll the improvement. Then the sides of the road, beyond the improvement, will be dressed and sloped by a road scraper, making good tracks for light driving. This part of the road will then be in better condition than ever before.

PHYSICIAN IN COURT.—Paul Cromwell, a colored physician, will have to defend himself in Justice Kraemer's court Friday morning, against the charge of practicing medicine and surgery without a license. The complaint alleges that Cromwell charged Mrs. W. H. Warren $10 for some salve which he recommended to cure the woman's ailment. It is said the "doctor" does a rushing business on the East Side. He has been released on his own recognizance.

QUEEN ESTHER tonight at Taylor-Street Church. The most beautiful sacred cantata ever written. It is full of magnificent choruses, solos, duets and quartets, and affords two hours of the most sublime music ever produced. It will be rendered by 100 singers in ancient Persian and Hebrew costumes. Admission 25 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents. *

THE Oregonian delivery on the Richmond route, including Kenilworth and the territory between the Section Line road and the Powell's Valley road, has been transferred to T. H. Gardner, and arrangements have been made whereby the papers will be delivered much earlier. The daily and Sunday papers will be served at 20 cents per week, the same as among residents in the center of the city.

INCORPORATION.—Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday of the Portland Canning Company. The objects announced are to conduct a cannery and preserving business of all kinds of vegetables, meats and fish. The incorporators are C. H. Prescott, R. J. Holmes and F. R. Strong; capital stock, $10,000.

DIED FROM TYPHOID.—Charles H. Beemer, a resident of Portland for a number of years, died at his home in Romeo, Mich., from typhoid pneumonia. Deceased was 38 years of age, and had been ill a little over two weeks. On the 6th of last month he was married to Miss Anna Baker, a young lady living in Yuma, Mich.

NOT BUYING STREET RAILWAYS.—A report is in circulation to the effect that the Southern Pacific Company has purchased the roads of the Portland Railway Company, and is about to purchase the system of the City & Suburban Company, and intends to acquire all the street railways in this city. Investigation shows that there is no foundation whatever for such a report. J. E. Thielsen, superintendent of the Portland Railway Company, says that there has been no sale of the company's lines, and nothing of the kind has been talked of or contemplated. The officers of the City & Suburban Railway Company say they have received no proposal for the purchase of their lines, and have no idea of selling them. The property of the East Side Railway Company is involved in litigation, and is in no condition to be sold. Finally, it is understood that the Southern Pacific has no desire to acquire street railways in Portland.

W. C. T. U.—The Central W. C. T. U. assembled for its usual weekly meeting Monday afternoon with Mrs. Driggs, county president, in the chair. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. McKenzie, evangelistic superintendent, and a most helpful discussion followed. After singing, Mrs. N. W. Kinney, former state president, made some remarks, telling of her experiences this past winter in Southern California. A leaflet was then handed to each member; subject, "Union Signal." Interesting remarks were made by Mrs. Kinney, who was one of the oldest stockholders of the company which publishes the "Union Signal." A goodly number were present, the room being crowded. Meetings are held every Monday afternoon, at Noon Rest, Third street, between Stark and Washington.

CHINESE GETS OFF EASY.—The charge against Chung Lee, a murderous chicken thief, was reduced from the felonious one of "assault with a dangerous weapon" to the mild misdemeanor of "assault and battery," in the Municipal Court yesterday. The evidence showed that he was caught peeping into Charles Anderson's chicken-house, at 1143 East Washington street, in the dusk of the evening, but proceeded to run away. Anderson took after him and succeeded in catching him within a few blocks. The Chinaman, in mortal terror, drew a butcher-knife, and Anderson took it away. The Prosecuting Attorney did not think a Grand Jury would find a bill against Chung, and so the celestial was let off with 50 days in the County Jail.

NO PENALTY WILL BE ENFORCED.—Commercial or merchandise brokers, of whom there are some 30 in this city, representing Eastern jobbing houses, and who pay a government license of $20 per year, have very generally been failing to comply with the law requiring a 10-cent stamp on their memorandums of sales. Revenue officials have been looking over the books of these brokers, and have notified them that the law must be complied with. The brokers plead ignorance, which is no excuse in the law; but will attach the necessary stamps, and no penalties will be required.

SOCIAL POSTPONED.—The Elks' social, which was announced for Thursday evening of this week, has been postponed on account of the death of a member, Gus Rudstrom, proprietor of the O. K. barber shop, who succumbed yesterday afternoon to typhoid pneumonia. The funeral will take place at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon from the Elks' Hall.

OREGON QUARTET.—A serenade was tendered The Oregonian last night by the Oregon quartet, consisting of E. Drake, N. H. Alexander, W. J. Elliott and M. L. Bowman. Their musical work is of high order, and the blending of voices is excellent.

MUSTER AND DRILL TOMORROW NIGHT.—The quarterly muster and drill of the National Guard will take place at the Armory tomorrow night. The regiment is now in fine condition, and the drill will no doubt attract many visitors.

BANKRUPTCY CASES.

Petitions Numbering 274 Filed in the District of Oregon.

E. D. McKee has made a report to the Attorney-General of the condition of suits in bankruptcy in the district of Oregon for the six months ending March 31, 1900, as follows:

Number of petitions filed since passage of bankruptcy act, 263 voluntary; 11 involuntary.

Number filed in last six months, 104; number of adjudications by the court, 75; by referee, 17.

Number of petitions dismissed by the court, 1 voluntary; 1 involuntary.

Discharges granted, 52; refused, 1.

Compositions confirmed or refused, none.

Number of cases in which filing fees were paid, 81 voluntary; 4 involuntary. Number in which fees were paid after filing, 11.

Nine of the voluntary petitions reported above as filed in the last six months were referred for adjudication, in the absence of the judge, to referees, who have not yet reported what action has been taken.

"ESTHER" TO BE REPEATED

Cast for Tonight at the Taylor-Street Church.

Tonight the cantata of "Queen Esther" will be repeated at the Taylor-Street Church. Everyone is familiar with the charming story of the beautiful young Jewish maiden, the humbling of the proud Haman and the consequent elevation of Mordecai, uncle to the Queen. The music is particularly pleasing in character. Following is the cast:

Esther, the beautiful Queen.....
.....Mrs. A. Pollitt Clifton, Oakland, Cal.
Ahasuerus, the King.....E. D. Allen
Haman, the King's Counsellor.....
.....P. L. Packard
Mordecai, a Jew.....Jesse Waddell
Zeresh, Haman's wife..Mrs. F. H. Fleming
Prophetess.....Miss Eva West
Scribe.....Dr. J. L. Hewitt
Beggar.....W. J. Netherton
Hagai, or High Priest.....E. N. Wheeler

More Citizenship Questions.

PORTLAND, March 31.—(To the Editor.) How long are first papers good? That is, if a man has taken out his first papers in 1892 and never took out his final papers, is he entitled to register as a voter? The law says he must take out his final papers three years after his first. Is there not some penalty for failure to carry out his promise? It seems to me there should be, else a man need never become a full citizen, and still enjoy all the privileges of full citizenship. H. G.

This correspondent seems to make use of an inquiry to convey information which lacks the essential quality of truth, and then comment on the statement. The State of Oregon permits aliens to vote one year after they have declared their intention to become citizens; that is, taken out their "first papers." The law says that two years must elapse between first papers and full citizenship papers, but does not command the alien to take out "second papers" at the end of two years; hence no penalty is provided for failure or neglect to become naturalized. There are many residents of Portland enjoying all the privileges of full citizenship on "first papers," and "H. G." must nurse his wrath until he can get the state constitution amended.

CLASS OF TWELVE RECEIVE THE DEGREE OF M. D.

Address of President Strong at Commencement Exercises of Medical Department of University.

The degree of M. D. was bestowed on the graduating class of 12 of the Medical Department of the University of Oregon at the annual commencement exercises, which occurred last night in assembly-hall of the High School building. The exercises were interesting and imposing, and the hall was crowded with friends of the graduates and of the school. A pretty effect in decorating was carried out in the hall in American flags and the college colors, and on a huge table in front of the stage was banked an immense lot of beautiful flowers that were sent the graduates by admiring friends.

Nearly all of the faculty were present and were seated on the stage. The dean, Dr. S. E. Josephi, presided. The proceedings were enlivened by good music by a string band, and were opened with a prayer by Rev. George B. Van Waters.

The annual address was made by Professor Frank Strong, Ph. D., president of the University of Oregon. His topic was "The Educated Physician, the Physician of the Future." Among other things, he said:

"Perhaps no change in the life and experience of the race, so complete and revolutionary, has ever been compassed in so short a time as the change in education in the last 25 years. This change has occurred not only in the methods in education, in the matter in which educational forces deal and the aims that education has in view, but also in the amount of education necessary to fit one for the highest usefulness in life. This change has affected every condition and vocation in life, and has turned every branch of trade and industry into a profession. It has led not only to the raising of the grade of work in particular schools and revolutionized methods, but it has concentrated schools into a system and developed a well-rounded method of complete supervision.

"Education has become more nearly universal than ever before. The quantity and quality of education that distinguished a professional man from the masses 50 years ago no longer avails. Thirty years ago there were no requirements for entrance to medical colleges, and, as we are told by President Eliot, a student had nothing to do but to enroll his name and pay a fee. This brought to the schools hundreds of men who could scarcely read and write and whose powers of observation and judgment were almost completely untrained. The conditions are very different now.

"The family physician is valuable more for the care of health than to cure disease. He must be the adviser in many of the most sacredly private matters of family life, and the ministrations of one who is not himself a cultured gentleman of purity of life and refinement of character are an abomination. Physicians must be the general health teachers of the community.

"The complexity of modern life has greatly increased the burdens that fall upon society through the defective, delinquent and dependent classes. The lunatics, idiots, the drunkards, criminals and paupers, that terrible army of parasites that prey upon society—how shall they be dealt with? What solution has ever been found for these evils? Philanthropic and religious attempts to deal with them have failed and must ever fail, unless directed by the trained intelligence of the profession which has most to do with them.

"The physician of the future can never wield his rightful influence, whose speech and writing betray his illiteracy, and whose ignorance and lack of culture excite contempt and ridicule on the part of the educated and refined."

Dr. Strong then conferred the degrees upon the following graduates: Clement Wood Bales, Harvey Harley Hartley, Louis Lambert Conrardy, Jeu Hawk, Grace Van Davis, Frederic Roscoe Hedges, Kittie Plummer Gray, Raymond William Logan, Frank Delbert Reames, Louis Arthur Shane, Joseph Frederic Wood.

The presentation of medals was the next event. This was done by Dr. J. F. Bell. The Saylor medal for the best marks in the course in four years was awarded to Louis Arthur Shane, and the Koehler medals for the best marks in anatomy in a course of two years were given to Clement Wood Bales and Frank Delbert Reames.

The charge to the graduation class was given by Professor Richard Nunn, M. D., who spoke earnestly for a few minutes. The valedictory address was made by Frederic R. Hedges and the exercises closed with a benediction by Rev. G. B. Van Waters.

SOLD LOTTERY TICKETS.

And Another Chinese Rustler Lodged $200 as Bail.

Sam Wah, a Chinese vendor of lottery tickets, foolishly sold two of the documents to Policemen James Roberts and Frank Bulger last evening, and found himself before the Captain's desk at the Police Station a few minutes later. His bail was fixed at $200, and he will appear in the Municipal Court this afternoon, to answer a charge of selling lottery tickets. Sam is quite a rustler in the business, and met the officers on Second street, when he proposed to take them to a place where the tickets might be procured. He led the "railroad men," as he supposed them, to a room over Blazier's saloon, where each of the officers bought a ticket for 10 cents, that entitled the holder to a prize to be drawn "in the daytime, April 4."

Then Sam was collared, with his bundle of tickets. He showed fight, as the officers were in citizens' garb, but only succeeded in getting himself handled rougher than if he had quietly submitted, while Policeman Bulger's remarks would not have been considered very complimentary, had Sam understood them. Sam's "cousins" soon rustled up the $200 bail, but they will be lucky if they ever get it back again, as the fine is likely to cover it.

Since the City of Portland has been given power to deal with these lottery cases a good many of the Chinese dens previously devoted to the sale of tickets have been closed, and no lights appear in the windows at night. It is very hard for the lottery vendors to understand that the city really means to shut down on the business, as they were pretty well protected by the grafters during the Pennoyer administration, and their attorneys have succeeded in keeping them out of the meshes of the law ever since.

In Their New Hall.

Gilbert Camp, No. 4, Veterans of the Spanish War, moved into their new hall, corner East Morrison street and Union avenue, last night. All transaction of business was passed over, and the entire evening was given up to the programme committee. Gilbert Auxiliary Camp also turned out in large numbers in honor of the occasion. Members from other camps in the city were present. Captain Telfer presided and announced the exercises. Miss Clements gave an opening selection on the piano. Then came the following numbers: Musical specialties, Fowler brothers; humorous selections, Fred Jones; elocutionary selections, William Rasmus; solo, Judge Hennessy; selections, the Veteran Quartet; comic recitation, Miss Griffith; recitation, W. Reaves. These numbers were all encored. Before dismissing the audience Captain Telfer thanked them for their presence. He said that camp represented the veterans of the late war, whether members of the Second Oregon or not, and the object is to perpetuate the comradeship formed in the far-off island. The camp hereafter will meet in the new hall that was dedicated with so excellent a programme last night. The Auxiliary Camp will also meet in this hall.

Want Railway Extended.

Residents of Montavilla are making effort to get the North Mount Tabor Railway extended along Hubbard street to the Base Line road. The road extends through the northern portion of Montavilla and on eastward for a considerable distance, but this line does not afford convenient facilities to the people living on the Base Line road. They have to trudge up the high slope to the summit station, or walk over to the North Mount Tabor Railway, about a mile away. It is asserted that if the line is extended along Hubbard street to the Base Line road it will reach nearly double the number of people that it does now. A delegation recently undertook to show the advantage of the extension to the railway company. There has been a wonderful growth east of Mount Tabor. All the houses are now occupied and others have been erected. All this has been brought about within the past year. For this growth the residents say they are entitled to improved railway facilities in reaching Portland.

"Housework is hard work without Gold Dust."

TO WASH BRUSHES AND COMBS
To wash hair brushes and combs, dissolve a tablespoonful of Gold Dust Washing Powder
in boiling water; when it is nearly cold, dab the bristles up and down without allowing the backs of the brushes to become wet; when the brushes are clean, dip them in plain cold water and dry them either by the fire or in the open air. Soap turns the ivory back combs or brushes yellow, but Gold Dust does not injure them.
