

BIG FIRE AT HOPE

Nearly Half the Idaho Town Was Destroyed.

ONE KILLED, ONE FATALLY INJURED

Two Others Were Hurt—Property Loss Estimated at $25,000, and There Was No Insurance.

HOPE, Idaho, April 13.—At 2:30 today a fire broke out in Chase's saloon, resulting in complete destruction of the following property:

Chase's saloon, Lee's restaurant, W. J. Quirk's store and the postoffice, a barber shop, Davis' saloon, McConaughy restaurant, Horning's house, Mrs. Lemley's house and a church.

By blowing up a number of adjoining buildings Wasmaker's store was saved, thereby preventing total loss of the western portion of the town. As a strong wind was blowing from the southeast, the danger to the eastern portion of the town was considerably lessened, although the greatest efforts of the townspeople to check the flames even then. The railway company's hose and water-works were brought into service and rendered valuable assistance.

As Harry Auer was going to see why a charge of dynamite which he had placed in the barber shop did not explode, it suddenly went off, throwing him clear of the bank and below to the railroad tracks. He is seriously injured about the head, and his life is despaired of.

After the fire was under control some boys were talking about the ruins when Willie Monroe found a loaded pistol near the Horning house, and while handing it to one of his comrades it exploded, hitting Willie in the breast and killing him instantly. The pistol was hot at the time, and it is believed the cartridge was exploded by the heat.

Mrs. Meade and her son Harold were slightly injured by flying debris. The total loss is estimated at $25,000. There was no insurance.

Mysterious Fire at South Bend

SOUTH BEND, April 13.—A small dwelling-house mysteriously caught fire last night and was practically destroyed. It was unoccupied, and the property of O. H. Ingram. The Methodist church, which is close by, was badly damaged by both fire and a falling chimney. The total loss is estimated at $25,000. There was no insurance.

PRICE OF WOOL SATISFACTORY.

Arrangements for Making North Yakima a Wool Center.

NORTH YAKIMA, April 13.—The sheep-raising think that the outlook for wool prices for this season is excellent. The first sale of the season—that of Hattie to Huntington—was made this week at 12 1/2 cents. This was on wool which shrank but 68 per cent, whereas most of the wool grown here shrinks 75 to 80 per cent, but it was a good opening price. Last year the first sale was made at 7 cents.

North Yakima will be more of a wool center this year than in the past. The association has taken up the matter, and all of the growers will work together. There will be stated days for meetings of the buyers and growers. A professional sorter will be located here and the wool will be separated into its grades before shipment. Coffer Bros. are putting in a wool press which will be capable of compressing three ordinary bales into the space usually occupied by one.

The season has been the best on record for lambs. The flocks have increased from 110 to 120 per cent.

A Serious Cut.

While George Hunter, an employee of the Columbia meat market, was killing a sheep yesterday, the animal struck a knife which he had in his hand, and he received a cut in the abdomen about 2 1/2 inches long. He was taken to the hospital, and his condition is serious.

Northern Pacific's Taxes Paid.

Tax Agent Jay Sedgwick has paid into the county treasury the sum of $35,000 in full settlement of the Northern Pacific Company's right of way taxes for the last three years, against a total assessed by the Board of Commissioners last week. Treasurer Dudley, as soon as the money could be segregated among the funds to which it belongs, issued a bill for warrants which take up all of the indebtedness of the current expense and state fund, and several thousand dollars of warrants against the road and bridge fund.

Work of Burglars.

Sunday night J. T. Stewart's store was entered by burglars and about $50 worth of clothing was carried away. Monday night an attempt was made to break into the dwelling-house of Mrs. E. Stone, but the burglar was caught away by the occupants. Three tramps were arrested at Yakima City Tuesday on suspicion, and one of them, Joe Gleason, was bound over for trial.

MORE OF THE CLEVER FORGER.

Evidently the Same One Who Swindled Several Vancouver People.

COLFAX, Wash., April 12.—A clever forger has been at work in Colfax and has victimized three saloons by forged checks. The checks were drawn on the Second National Bank of Colfax, and bore the name of William Codd, proprietor of the Colfax sawmill. They were all drawn in favor of John Green, and for $150, $100 and $125. The forger used a rubber stamp to make the checks and to cancel the revenue stamp. He dressed as a logger, and visiting saloons in company with loggers employed at the sawmill, had the checks cashed, and the checks for drinks and getting the remainder in cash. When the forgery was discovered, the man had fled. There is no clue to work on, as those who cashed the checks paid no attention to the man.

Better Cattle for the Palouse.

The breeding of blooded cattle promises to become a leading industry of the Palouse country in the near future. Since the livestock exhibit at the Spokane Exposition last fall, interest in the blooded cattle industry is noticeable throughout the Inland Empire, and the number of thoroughbred cattle in Whitman County has more than doubled in the past six months. During the past week 25 head of thoroughbred cattle have been unloaded at Colfax, of which five thoroughbred Shorthorns came from Indiana last week. Of these the owner was willing to pay $200 for a calf while leading them through town.

Today a full carload of thoroughbred cattle arrived on the O. R. & N. from Baker City. Of these a pool snake in the head, of which six are Herefords and 12 Shorthorns.

GOT A 10-FOOT PANTHER.

Had Killed a Sheep Near Children's Path—An Exciting Fight.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., April 13.—Quite a sensation was created here by Felix Currin and Dave Mosby bringing in a large panther, which measured about 10 feet. The "varmint" had killed a sheep on Ed Jones' farm, seven miles from here, near a trail on which children passed to and from school. The sheep was seen by the children, partly eaten up. The panther ran when he heard the children coming, but as soon as they passed, it carried the sheep 200 yards. The best dogs were soon assembled, and in five minutes had the beast tamed. He was shot twice through the body, and, as he fell, a dog caught him by the throat. The panther held the dog by its paws, but was too sick to hurt the dog, and
