CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight.

CORDRAY'S THEATER (Washington Street)—Bariow's Minstrels.

DEATH OF LEHMAN BLUM.—A dispatch was received here last evening announcing the death of Lehman Blum, formerly of this city, at Waldeck Sanitarium, San Francisco, at 4 P. M. yesterday, from the effects of a surgical operation. Isaac Blum had previously received a dispatch stating that the operation had been performed and that the conditions were unfavorable for the recovery of his brother, and later he received a dispatch stating that Lehman was dying and asking him to come to San Francisco. Lehman Blum came here from New Orleans when a boy and grew to manhood here, and after serving as clerk and salesman in various establishments finally went into business for himself. Some 15 years ago he removed to Pendleton and engaged in the mercantile business there, and became one of the prominent business men of that city and was finally connected with a banking concern. Some years ago he returned to this city and invested in the business of manufacturing syrups and jellies, but the venture proved a losing one. For the past four years he has been in business in Redding, Cal., but lately sold out there and removed to San Francisco, where, on account of ill-health, he submitted to a surgical operation, which he survived only a short time. He left a wife and one daughter.

WILL BE STATIONED HERE.—John Gibbon, chief clerk in the Quartermaster's Department, United States Army, stationed in Portland, has been appointed by President McKinley as Assistant Quartermaster, with the rank of Captain. Captain Gibbon is the son of General John Gibbon, who for five years was Department Commander at Vancouver. The younger Gibbon was born in St. Louis, July 16, 1864, and came to Portland in 1885, where he has since lived, with the exception of five years spent in the insurance business in Seattle. Captain Gibbon is married to Miss Josephine Cunningham, of this city. On receiving his commission, the new appointee immediately sent a request that he be stationed in Portland, as assistant to Colonel Jacobs. As he has but hardly recovered from a six weeks' attack of pneumonia and erysipelas, and as there is also a vacancy here, the request will probably be granted.

BEACHES PLEASANT IN APRIL.—Quite a number of Portland people have visited Clatsop and Long Beach during the past week or two, and have found their sojourn there very pleasant. The keepers of the various resorts have also found the irruption of visitors very agreeable, as well as profitable, and if they could be assured that the present low rates of fare would be maintained all Summer, would begin building additions to their hotels at once. Returning visitors say that the weather at the beaches has been delightful, warmer than here, with occasional heavy showers. Clams are plentiful, and the gardens are something wonderful, potato vines being a foot high, peas in bloom and plenty of asparagus, etc.

BICYCLE ACCIDENT.—Jacob Menges, an old man about 60 years of age, was badly injured yesterday morning on Tenth and Jefferson streets by Paul Waley, a 19-year-old youth, on a bicycle. The boy didn't see the old gentleman until he was right on him, and the latter was roughly knocked down, the fall resulting in two broken ribs, a discolored eye and a cut over the same. The boy didn't get away totally uninjured, however, for he received a cut on the side of his mouth, from which the blood flowed profusely. Both of the principals were taken into the house of Mrs. Holden, and, after being cleansed of the blood, were removed to their respective homes.

RETIRING FROM THE RETAIL BUSINESS.—The Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company, 208-210 First street, have decided to close out their entire retail stock of furniture for the purpose of devoting their time and space to the manufacturing and jobbing business. In order to do this, the company has placed before the public one of the largest and best-selected stocks in the city. This immense stock of furniture will be sold without reserve. Intending buyers should not fail to visit these warerooms and purchase goods at factory cost.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on May 17, 18 and 19, 1900, an examination will be held in this city for the position of cadet in the Revenue Cutter Service. May 22-23 an examination will be held for the position of botanical clerk. From the eligibles resulting from these examinations certification will be made to fill existing vacancies. Persons desiring to compete should at once apply to the Commission, Washington, D. C., for application blank.

LECTURE ON ISMS.—Spiritualists, socialists and members of various other isms are looking forward with interest to the arrival of a graduate of Harvard University. He is billed to address the First Spiritualist Church next Sunday evening. On Monday evening he will hold forth to the promoters of advanced thought and Tuesday evening will lecture at A. O. U. W. Hall on the world-wide labor movement.

NOT ONE FISH CANNED.—A Californian who is visiting friends in this city and who has never seen a salmon cannery in operation made a trip to Astoria Monday to see one. He failed, and was told that not a salmon was being canned in the City by the Sea that day. This is the result of the combine, the cold storage business or the scarcity of salmon, or the results of all combined.

BEGINNING CONSTRUCTION.—Work on the excavation for the $20,000 residence to be built by Adolph Wolfe on King street has been started by George Langford, who has the contract for building the structure. Some are wondering how $20,000 is to be put into a two-story house, but if any of them will try, they will find that it is as easy as rolling off a log.

HOME FOR A VISIT.—Mark A. Mayer, for a number of years resident buyer for Fleischner, Mayer & Co. in New York, is home on a visit. The climate of the East and the cares of business have dealt gently with Mr. Mayer, and he appears almost as young and just as jolly as when he was one of the Portland boys.

OUR SIDEWALK SHOW CONTINUES.—Asters, heliotropes, pansies, verbenas, cobaeas, cosmos, Oriental poppies, alyssum, lobelia and other flowering plants and vines. Also cabbage, cauliflower, tomato and other vegetable plants from our own farm. Lamberson's, 180 Front street; both 'phones.

EAST SIDE RAILWAY COMPANY.—Special car service to Waverly golf grounds during tournament, April 25 to 28, inclusive. In addition to regular 45-minute service, cars will leave Portland at 1, 1:20 and 1:45 P. M.; returning, leave golf grounds at 4:47, 5:15 and 5:22 P. M.

THOUSANDS of flowering and vegetable plants ready for your garden at Bowen's Seed Store, Front and Taylor. Remember these are not seedlings; they are stocky transplanted plants that will live. Our prices will surprise you. 'Phone, Oregon, Main 445.

Do not fail to attend the social tonight at the Taylor-street Church. An excellent programme will be given by good talent, under the direction of Miss Effie Bennett. Admission, 10 cents; ice cream and cake, 15 cents.

ROSES, 2 years, 25c; carnations, heliotropes, salvia, 35c dozen; pansies, verbena, cosmos, stocks, 10c doz.; cut flowers very cheap. Burkhardt Bros., 23d and Glisan.

CRATER LAKE.—Miss Katherine Vale will give an account of her visit to Crater Lake at St. Helen's Hall this evening at 8. All interested are asked to attend.

"AT SHAKESPEARE'S SHRINE"

Unusually Fine Lecture by Professor James F. Ewing.

The usual large and appreciative audience which has regularly been in attendance on each evening of the Cathedral class course, given at the First Presbyterian Church, listened last evening to an interesting and instructive illustrated lecture on Shakespeare by Professor James F. Ewing, of the Portland Academy. After a brief introductory sketch of the world poet, whom the lecturer said we, as Americans, could call "our Shakespeare" with as good reason as Milton called him "my Shakespeare," the audience was shown some very interesting pictures of Warwick Castle, situated, as it is, in such delightful rural scenery. The slides representing the cedar drawing-room, the armory and the library impressed all who beheld them with the grandeur and magnificence of this noble feudal mansion. As Warwick Castle is one of the best-preserved of the old castles of England, retaining much of its ancient proportions and buildings, so is Kenilworth Castle one which shows more than any other the mutilations wrought by time and disaster. This was strikingly apparent as the slides were thrown upon the screen, representing the ruins of Kenilworth Castle so intimately associated with the gorgeous display of the Earl of Leicester when entertaining Queen Elizabeth at his country seat, and, above all, with the pathetic story of Amy Robsart.

Much as these views were admired, there was a noticeable quickening in the interest of the audience when the now familiar scenes connected with the great poet were thrown upon the curtain. The home where he was born, the schoolroom of the grammar school where he studied as a boy, the cottage where lived his beloved Anne Hathaway and the parish church where he lies buried seemed to touch a sympathetic chord in the hearts of all present.

Two very good views were given of monuments reared by admiring peoples to the genius of the poet. One, the American fountain and block tower, donated by George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, and the other the Memorial building, each in its own way unique and beautiful. The Memorial building is charmingly located on the banks of the River Avon and contains a complete Shakespeare bibliography and a theater, where every year is acted some one of the great writer's plays. Last year Sarah Bernhardt honored Stratford by acting in the building in "Hamlet." The lecture closed with some fine interior views of the Church of the Holy Trinity and a fac-simile of the well-known inscription over the grave, which alone has kept England from moving the poet's remains to the Wallhalla of the land.

FREE CONCERT TONIGHT.

Musical Club Will Give Its Annual Sacred Concert.

The free sacred concert to be given this evening at the First Presbyterian Church is the fourth of its kind given by the Musical Club. It is intended primarily for those who are ordinarily deprived of the luxury of hearing music of the better sort. All such persons will be cordially welcomed. The doors will open at 7:30, the performance beginning at 8:15. There will be no programmes, so those who wish to know the various numbers that are given are advised to clip the programme from The Oregonian and bring it with them to the concert. It is specially desired to call attention to the fact that there will be no applause. Following is the programme:

(a) Prelude and fugue in F.....Bach
(b) "Triumphal March" from "Sigurd Jorsalfar".....Grieg
Mr. Coursen.
"O Shepherd of Israel".....Morrison

If so, U need a meal. Go to The Creamerie, 271 Washington street.

IT IS FAR EASIER TO REGISTER.

If Oregonians who desire to vote at the June election and for President in November, wish to save themselves a lot of trouble on election day, let them register now. The books close May 15.

It should be borne in mind that any one who has not registered (no matter how clear is his title to citizenship) must secure six freeholders (owners of real estate in fee simple) to make affidavits that the statements in his own affidavit are true. The difficulties of securing six such freeholders are apparent.

The form of affidavit as prescribed by the new registry law is as follows:

State of Oregon, County of ——, ss. I, the undersigned elector, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that my name and signature as signed below is my true name and signature. If I have not personally signed it, it is because ——, and it was signed at my request by the attesting officer; my age is —— years, and occupation ——; nativity, ——; naturalized or declared my intention in court, in —— County, in —— State, on ——, 18—, as appears by the naturalization papers exhibited herewith. EVENT OF THE SEASON

BRILLIANT CHARITY BALL AT THE ARMORY.

Oregon Commandery, Knights Templar, Give a Magnificent Benefit to Good Samaritan Hospital.

The charity ball given by Oregon Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, at the Armory last evening, for the benefit of the Good Samaritan Hospital, was the most brilliant social event of the season. The fine dancing hall in the second story was filled with Portland's society people, the women in rich and beautiful evening gowns, that transformed the hall into a picture of kaleidoscopic beauty as the dancers whirled through a waltz or two-step or passed in a magnificent procession through the figures of the lancers. The handsome uniforms of the Knights, seen here and there, rivalled the dresses of the women, and heightened the beauty of the scene.

Around the walls was a throng of sightseers which overflowed to the standing-room near the stairs, and at times moved forward so as to limit the dancing floor to a very small compass. All the evening the guests poured into the hall, and the stairs were constantly filled with them as they trooped to and from the refreshment tables below.

A fine orchestra furnished music for the dancers, while a string quartet made pleasant the few hurried moments that were snatched for refreshments. Dancing continued far into the night, and when the company began to disperse the line of carriages that was gathered to carry them home nearly blocked the street.

The ball was admirably managed, and it will be the means of adding a considerable sum to the building fund of the hospital.

About 8:15 the crush at the door began. Carriage after carriage drove up, and, after the occupants had alighted, made way for yet another. Two burly policemen stood just inside the door to see that none entered without tickets, and they had their hands full.

The dressing-room was continually crowded until after 10 o'clock, and the jam on the floor of the dancing hall increased until nearly 11.

The sumptuous beauty of the decorations furnished a rich setting for the brilliant throng of pleasure-seekers. Interlacing boughs of green, vine-entwined pillars, and bewildering masses of Spring bloom, converted the two great halls of the Armory into tropical gardens, with innumerable shady recesses, where quiet tete-a-tetes could be enjoyed, and pleasant confidences exchanged without the world's ken.

The first glimpse the visitor caught upon entering the building seemd to be snatched from fairyland itself. The walls near the entrance were hung with gay bunting in the National colors, loosely draped with fishnets. The pillars that support the ceiling were heavily garlanded with vines, Indian baskets, overflowing with delicately tinted blossoms, filled up every available nook, while at the extreme rear was a screen covered with dogwood running across the hall. Larches, birches, hemlock and other choice and beautiful trees made an effective background for the white napery of the two refreshment tables that occupied the center of the hall. The one to the right was in charge of Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, assisted by Mrs. S. Frank, Mrs. Allen Lewis, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, and the nurses of the Good Samaritan Hospital, looking fresh and attractive in their blue gingham dresses, snowy caps and aprons. These served coffee, sandwiches, ice cream and cake to the hungry dancers. In the center of the table was a valuable old Spanish brazero (brazier), filled with laburnum, great clusters of white wistaria nodded from the corners, and a big jar of lilies of the valley caught and held the eye by their modest beauty. The chandeliers were garlanded with white hawthorne blossoms, and great baskets of flowering berberry were swung against the neighboring pillars.

The table to the left was presided over by Mrs. K. A. J. Mackenzie, assisted by Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. S. B. Linthicum, Mrs. C. J. Reed, and the hospital nurses. Overhead was a delicate network of clematis vines in flower, lit up by a "fairy lamp" that, with the candles below, cast a soft, rosy glow over the table. A superb white embroidered centerpiece of priceless value nearly covered the entire table. Strewn over this were delicate sprays of larch, and in the center of it a beautiful Sevres bowl filled with great rose-colored peonies, another bunch of the same in paler tints standing at the end of the table. A massive old silver salver, apparently an heirloom, and other rare and beautiful pieces of old family plate added an extra touch of richness to the whole effect.

Upstairs the scene was one of brilliant color against a background of soft and tender green. For the great hall, nearly half a block—100 feet—across, was lined with a delicate tracery of foliage, rare trees that formed a screen behind which dancers could take refuge from the glare of light in seats arranged for that purpose. This screen of trees extended entirely around the room, with the exception of the southwest corner, where punch was served, and the space reserved for the members of Parsons' Orchestra. These were seated on a dais at the west end, draped with the American colors. A great Maltese cross of electric lights, the special emblem of the Knights Templar, blazed over their heads. Eight arc lights distributed about the hall gave further illumination, serving to light up the rich decoration of flags—about 500 of them—that waved from the rafters. These were in every variety of color and design, many of them being the flags of the Knights Templar, while others came from the ships.

The great beauty and elaborateness of these decorations in the two halls were much commented upon by the hundreds of people present. The work was planned and executed by George Otten, who has worked over it with unremitting energy ever since last Thursday. But the result fully repaid him for his arduous work, since it was conceded by many to be the finest piece of decorative work along this line that has ever been seen in Portland. The trees and shrubs all came from Hanson's nursery. All these, it must be remembered, together with Mr. Otten's work, and the refreshments for the evening, were generous donations to the cause of charity.

Following were the committees in charge of the entertainment:

Executive committee—Sir C. V. Cooper, chairman; Mrs. A. G. Barker, vice-chairman; Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, treasurer; Sir S. H. Cawston, secretary; Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, Mrs. E. T. C. Stevens, Mrs. W. J. Honeyman, Sir J. H. Lothrop, Sir G. H. Hill, Sir J. W. Cook.

Reception committee—Hon. George H. Williams, chairman; Mr. Theodore B. Wilcox, Hon. Sol Hirsch, Mr. L. B. Cox, Mr. William D. Wheelwright, General Charles F. Beebe, Sir A. M. Krapp, Sir W. A. Cleland, Sir A. A. Morrison, Mr. Cecil H. Bauer, Dr. Holt C. Wilson, Mr. Edward Ehrman, Mr. Robert Livingstone, Mr. A. L. Mills, Mr. James Laidlaw.

Floor committee—Sir John McCraken, chairman; Sir Alexander H. Kerr, Sir Louis G. Clarke, Mr. Carl Spuhn, Mr. F. M. Gilmore, Mr. James McI. Wood, Mr. R. Alex Bernstein, Mr. T. Scott Brooke, Mr. Robert S. Howard, Jr., Mr. Ben Selling, Mr. J. Frank Watson, Mr. Julius L. Meier, Mr. Rodney L. Glisan, Mr. W. J. Honeyman, Mr. Rudolph F. Prael.

Mrs. Richard Koehler was in charge of the decorations, and Mrs. W. J. Burns of the refreshments.

WILL NOT DEFACE FENCES

Candidates' Placards Are Forbidden by Ordinance.

The campaign will soon be on in full blast, but the residents this year will be saved the pain of viewing every available telegraph pole and fence placarded with candidates' advertisements. So much annoyance did this cause last election that an ordinance was passed forbidding it being done in the future. Whether or not it will be enforced is a question, as it is being daily violated by the theaters.

The ordinance is number 10,810, and was passed June 17, 1896, becoming a law without the signature of the Mayor June 19. It reads as follows:

"Section 1. Any person who shall nail, stick or lean against or faster to otherwise, or affix, or cause to be done by another, any billboards for advertising purposes to or upon any buildings, sidewalks, curb or curbstone or upon any lamp-post, hydrant, shade tree or treebox, fence, gate, gatepost, awning or awning post, horse post, telegraph or telephone post, electric light, electric power poles, barrels or boxes, within the streets of the City of Portland shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction before the Municipal Judge, shall be fined not less than $10 or more than $100; provided, that this ordinance shall not apply to billboards securely fastened and constructed inside property lines by permission of property-owners."

SLEEPING WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs. D. M. Nichols, of Bridgeport, Expired Sunday Night.

Mrs. D. M. Nichols, who was brought to Portland from Bridgeport, Baker County, a few days ago and placed in Dr. Coe's Sanitarium, died there Sunday night. It was discovered on performing an autopsy that, instead of being in a trance, as was supposed, she was in a state of coma, brought on by a hemorrhage of the brain. She had suffered from diabetes, which weakened the walls of the blood vessels and caused them to burst.

Although she had suffered the prominent symptoms of diabetes for two years, Mrs. Nichols never took treatment for it, and did not know what was the cause of her illness. Three weeks ago she fell asleep, as it was supposed, and has only been aroused partially and at infrequent intervals since then. She was brought to Portland by Dr. Currey, of Baker City, and had since been under the care of Dr. Coe.

Sunday night she suffered a second hemorrhage, and shortly afterward expired. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. O. Thayer, of Southern Oregon, was with her at the time of her death, and her husband is now in Portland. She will be buried today in Lone Fir cemetery. The funeral is to be held from Holman's undertaking parlors, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS.

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair.
