COLUMBUS, O., April 25.-The Repub-lican State Convention here today was of National significance. The delegates and alternates-at-large represent close person-al as well as political friends of the Pres-ident, and the platform is just as it came from Washington, with the addition of the anti-trust resolution and the omission of the Porto Rican resolution.

The socialied "Hanna slate" on dele-gates and alternates at-large and the state ticket went through without any breaks. There was, however, opposition to Food Commissioner Blackburn, because he was running for a third term, and for other local reasons, and to General Grosvenor for delegate, from the friends of ex-Governor Bushnell. The opposition, however was unsuccessful. Attention was called to the fact that General Grosvenor was delegate-at-large four years ago, and that he had been a district delegate to National conventions ever since the Re-publican party had existed. At this convention it was charged he was more than the chairman of the committee on reso-lutions, that he had brought the platform lutions, that he had brought the platform with him, and had successfully resisted any material revision. The efforts of the Bushnell men to substitute some one in place of Grosvenor made an unusually in-teresting scene, which reached its climax when J. Frank McGrew, ex-Representa-tive and son-in-iaw of ex-Governor Bush-nell was speaking on his amendment to nell, was speaking on his amendment to strike out Grosvenor and insert Hanna. McGrew eulogized Hanna, whom he has heretofore opposed, and said the Demo crats would make capital out of the ac tion of the Republicans of the state, if nator Hanna was not made one of the ig four." When Senator Hanna was "big four." finally called to the front of the platform the speech of the ex-Representative cause the Senator to exclaim emphatically:

What do I care what the Democrats say about me?"

In declining to be a delegate, Senator Hanna delivered a philippic against what he termed "expediencies."

When Senator Hanna said he would not serve as a delegate, there was a motion to strike out Grosvenor and insert ex-Governor Foster. Mr. Foster stepped to the front of the platform and declined because he "would not want to break the excellent slate that has been brought to Ohio from Washington." The resolution making Foraker, Nash, Grosvenor and Dick the delegates-at-large was offered by ex-Senator Massie, of Grosvenor's Congressional district, and the Bushnell men charged that it was the Grosvenor plan to avoid balloting. As soon as this resolution was adopted, General Grosvewhich the four alternates-at-large were also selected in a bunch without any of the forms of presenting names or bal

The committee on credentials found the only contest in Washington County and reported in favor of seating both delega-tions with each having one-half the vote. Ex-Representative Taylor, who led the opposition, insisted that this report would be like Congress allowing Roberts of Utah one-fourth vote and his three wives each one-fourth. Taylor's motion to seat the delegates selected under the call of the state committee and to unseat the contestants carried. Ayes, 455; noes, 258. General C. H. Grosvenor from the com-mittee on resolutions then reported the platform, which was adopted. The platform reaffirms the declaration of the principles adopted by the St. Louis convention in 1896, and continues Ohio Republican Platform.

"We cordially indorse the wise and patriotic administration of President Mc-Kinley, whose signal achievements in war macy mark an epoch in the history of nations, and whose brilliant success justifies and demands, in the high inter-ests of the country, uninterrupted con-tinuance through another term of his great but uncompleted work, confronting unprecedented requirements at home and unexampled responsibility abroad. The convention also declared in favor of the election of United States Senators in the same manner that state officers are elected; indorsed Senator Penrose, the administration of Governor Stone and other state officials, and pledged its "hearty and cordial support" to Colonel M. S. Quay for re-election to the United States Senate. The convention also nominated F. B.

at-Large. The indorsement of Colonel Quay was opposed by Senator William Flynn, of Pittsburg, leader of the anti-Quay Repub-licans in the last Legislature. Mr. Flynn explained that he was in sympathy with the platform in everything except this plank, and moved that it be stricken out. His motion was defeated, and the plat-form was adopted as reported from the ommittee. The convention let out the first big yell when Senator Penrose arose to present a formal resolution providing for a commitee on resolutions, to which resolutions shall be referred.

Senator Flynn, of Allegheny, the leader of the anti-Quay forces, offered three resolutions, prepared by Quay's opponents. The first was read without creating much with joers and hisses, so that not a dozen delegates know what the clerk was read-ing. The first two resolutions referred to the prevalence of election frauds, and Austria, italy and Germany have asked their governments for instructions as to their similar claims. The promulgation of the irade author-izing the rebuilding of the American structures burned at Kharput and the enamont of Roberts' College is regard ed as showing clearly the desire of the Yildiz Klosk to be agreeable to the United States, in the hope that the latter will not press for the payment of the indemnity. The United States Government, however, showing clearly the desire of the has no intention of abandoning its claim. The American legation has also suc-The American legation has also suc-ceeded in obtaining permission for the continued working by American mission-aries of the hospital at Kaisarieh, which the authorities have been trying to shut up on the pretext that certain local regulations had not been observed.

The Porte has given orders to permit the embarkation of two naturalized American Armenians, who were on their way to the United States, and who had been prevented from sailing on the ground that they originally left their native country surreptitiously. The report of Vice-Con-sul Walker, at Alexandretta, is awaited at the legation in order to determine if there are grounds for demanding reparation.

four officers of the Army who have been required to live in Havana and to perform important civil functions in connect tion with the administration of the gov-ernment of Cuba, as follows:

"The Military Governor of Cuba, at the rate of $7500 per year; to the Military Governor of Havana, at the rate of $500 per year; to the Collector of Customs for the Island of Cuba, at the rate of $1800 per year; to the Treasurer of the Island of Cuba, at the rate of $1800 per year."

The report continues: "The names and ranks of officers receiving the payments were: As Military Governor of Cuba, Major-General John R. Brooke, until the 13th day of December, 1899, and Major-General Leonard A. Wood, U. S. V., since that time; as Military Governor of Havana, Brigadier-General William Ludlow; as Collector of Customs of Cuba, Major B. M. Bliss; as Treasurer of the Island of Cuba, Major E. F. Ladd, U. S. V.

"No allowances have been made to any officers in Porto Rico other than the statutory salary and allowances out of the Treasury of the United States. "The payments specified were made out of the revenues of the Island of Cuba on account of the government thereof, and they were made on that account for the reason that it was impossible for the sary officers properly to perform the necessary duties pertaining to their positions with-duties pertaining to the full amount of out the expenditure of the full amount of such allowances in addition to their statutory salaries, and allowances out of the Treasury of the United States.

"The said payments were authorized by the President of the United States upon the oral advice of the Attorney-General that the same were in all respects lawful.
