CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight.

MARQUAM GRAND — Matinee and evening. West's Big Minstrel Jubilee.

CORDRAY'S THEATER (Washington street)—Matinee and evening, Barlow Minstrels.

PUZZLING PUZZLE.—A new puzzle or optical illusion or delusion has struck the town which is more puzzling than the 15 puzzle. It is the simplest thing imaginable, being formed of two pieces of wire twisted in a spiral and apparently part of one of the strands of a woven-wire mattress. The two spirals are entwined for a distance of about two inches, and when one takes hold of the outer end of each they can be easily revolved and apparently twist farther together or untwist, as if coming apart, but one may revolve them either way till his head goes round like a top and the position of the wires never change as regards the distance they are entwined. It is said that the puzzle was discovered by a boy working in a woven-wire mattress factory, but just how or why the spirals revolve so readily where they are entwined and have the appearance of sliding along each other for yards without advancing or going back a particle, is what no one is able to explain. The thing is a much greater puzzle than the Archimedean screw or spiral, but it neither pumps water nor cuts any ice, and revolve the wires as long as one may, they never "get there."

STUDENTS' DEBATE TONIGHT.—The second debate between representatives of the Columbia Society of the Portland University and the To-Logeion Society, of the Portland High School, will take place this evening in the High School assembly-hall at 8 o'clock. The question to be discussed is the "Compulsory Adjustment of Labor Disputes." Both teams have made an extensive and earnest preparation for the debate, and it is expected that no little ability will be displayed. The alumni association of the High School has already expressed its deep satisfaction that debating has been taken up by the school in so vigorous a fashion, and it is expected that this feeling will be shared by all who hear the debate tonight. The debaters for the university will be Messrs. Dunlap, Wakefield and Snivelsy, and the representatives of the High School will be Messrs. Hayek, Bailey and Steel. The judges will be Professor James F. Ewing, of the Portland Academy, W. D. Fenton and Dell Stuart. The chairman will be Professor Breece, of the Portland University.

BICYCLE TAX DELINQUENT MAY 15.—The time for the collection of bicycle taxes for the year 1900 expires on May 15. The law provides that the tax shall be levied by the County Commissioners on or before March 1 of each year, and that the bicycle tax collectors shall proceed to collect, and such tax must be paid within 60 days. The first tag was sold on March 15, and the 60 days is therefore up on May 15. The money derived from the license is used in the construction of bicycle paths as may be thought advisable by the Board of County Commissioners. Some paths were built last year, although it was somewhat late in the season before all of the work was done. There is some money from last year's collections still on hand, and, with the money realized this year, numerous desirable paths should be laid out. Wheelmen have not appeared in very considerable numbers to pay the present tax due, and if they all pay before May 15 they will have to come with a rush.

FRANK BAKER THE PUBLISHER.—In a notice made the other day concerning the reorganized Farmer and Stockman, mention was inadvertently omitted of the name of the publisher, Mr. Frank C. Baker. Mr. Baker's record as State Printer and experience as a publisher guarantee acceptable work in the management of the Farmer and Stockman, which shows for itself mechanical and artistic excellence in keeping with the superior character of its contents. With Mr. W. W. Baker as editor and Mr. Frank C. Baker as publisher, the Farmer and Stockman may be assured a career of usefulness and profit.

WELL-KNOWN DOG DEAD.—The cocker spaniel Pete, which had been in the family of Gus Rosenblatt for the past 12 years, died a few days ago of old age. He was a faithful clerk for his master during 12 years of service, going back and forth from his office during all that period. At times he would trot to the office by himself, going to the elevator, barking for it to come down, and getting in the elevator and going out of the elevator at the second story. He was particularly fond of beer and tamales.

OREGON HISTORICAL SOCIETY. — These rooms, top floor City Hall, northwest corner, will be open for the inspection of the public from 1 to 5 o'clock today. A number of visitors from Eastern States were in the rooms yesterday, and spoke in high terms of the work there being carried on, and as something which every citizen should be proud of and cordially support. The Historical Society is rapidly becoming an institution that every one coming to the city should visit.

HACKDRIVER ARRESTED. — Fred McClusky, a hackdriver, was arrested by Officer Brunck yesterday afternoon for being drunk and disorderly. McClosky, the police say, persists in disregarding city ordinances, and when remonstrated with abuses the officers. He has given the police considerable trouble about the Grand Central station and on the steamboat docks.

LECTURE ON LABOR DAY.—James F. Morton, of Boston, will lecture on the labor movement at A. O. U. W. Hall the evening of May 1. A free discussion will follow the lecture. Mr. Morton is a graduate of Harvard and has been a deep student of industrial problems. There will be no charge for admission, and everybody is invited.

INCORPORATION.—Articles of incorporation of the Ellis Printing Company were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday. The purpose of the corporation is to do a general printing and lithographing business, etc. The incorporators are A. S. Ellis, E. A. Saxton and George S. Shepherd; capital stock, $10,000.

In the evening the Boys' Brigade, from the North End, will attend in full uniform. Morning soprano solo, "Hosanna" (Granier), Mrs. Fletcher Linn.*

FINED $50.—"Dr." Paul Cromwell yesterday pleaded guilty to practicing medicine without a license and was fined $50 by Justice Kraemer. Cromwell was warned by the Justice that if convicted of a like offense in future the heaviest penalty under the law would be applied.

TO AID FAMISHING JEWS.—A mass meeting for the purpose of raising assistance for the famine-stricken Jews of Southern Russia will be held in Alisky Hall, first floor, Sunday, April 29, at 2 o'clock P. M. Prominent speakers will address the audience. All are welcome.

PAID FOR HIS DOG'S RAID.—J. J. Fitzgerald, a Portland attorney, has a young Irish setter which is developing traits of the bandit. A few days ago the dog saw another canine trotting down the street carrying a basket in its mouth. The setter attacked the basket-carrier without even delivering an ultimatum and put him to flight, the basket rolling on the pavement as a trophy for the victor. The setter seized the spoils of the battle and, taking it into a near-by lot, proceeded to chew it as he would have chewed the other dog. The woman who owned the vanquished dog and basket straightway called on Mr. Fitzgerald and demanded pay for the property destroyed. Not being built like the Sultan of Turkey, the attorney paid the damages promptly, and gracefully submits to the chaffing of his friends.

WANT GRANT STREET IMPROVED.—A petition asking for the improvement of Grant street, from Fourth to the Patton county road, by macadamizing, full width, constructing sidewalks, etc., has been filed for presentation to the Common Council. The document is signed by a considerable number of the interested property-owners, and the prospects are favorable for the improvement being made. This bit of street has been in bad condition for some time. A portion of the street opposite the reservoir was long used for a woodyard for the pumping station at the reservoir, but now this is no longer necessary, and it is desirable that the street be improved.

RECEIVED LIGHT SENTENCE.—F. L. Richardson and William Cronin, indicted by the United States grand jury for passing counterfeit money, were yesterday arraigned in Judge Bellinger's Court and entered pleas of guilty. Their counsel urged in mitigation that this was their first offence, and was the result of their getting into bad company; that they had not manufactured the counterfeit coin, but had been induced to pass some of it, and that they were not hardened criminals. The court, in view of these facts, sentenced them to pay a fine of $100 and to be imprisoned in the State Penitentiary for six months each.

WENT THROUGH A CAR.—On Davis and Nineteenth streets yesterday afternoon a baseball was knocked clear through a car, going in one window and coming out through the one opposite. The car was fairly well filled with women at the time, and the wonder is that none of them was hurt, for broken glass was thrown all around. The boys secured their ball again and finished the game without paying the slightest attention to the conductor, who was making a futile effort to secure the names of some of them.

MADE GOOD HIS CHECKS.—Detective Cordano returned from Tacoma yesterday without H. C. Herren, for whose return he had previously armed himself with requisition papers. Herren, having won his liberty in the Tacoma court, has since redeemed his protested paper in Portland, and all the holders of his checks now rejoice in the possession of their cash.

AT the Schott-Schucking pupil recital this evening, at Parsons Hall, the following will participate: Mrs. Eleanor Ross, Mrs. Elfride Cohen, the Misses Breeden, Pittock, Velguth, Shea, May and Rankin, Messrs. Vannod, Belcher and Shiel. The concert is given for the benefit of the Good Samaritan Hospital, and the admission will be 25 cents.

REFORM SCHOOL GRADUATE ARRESTED.—H. C. Wright, a young man known to the police as a "graduate of the Reform School," was arrested yesterday for stealing a violin from a saloon, corner of Fourth and Flanders street. He is also wanted in Salem for burglary. Judge Hennessy will probably look into his case today.

CHINESE WILL INSTALL OFFICERS.—Invitations are out requesting the presence of the recipients and women friends at the installation of officers of the American-born Chinese Association at their room at 8 o'clock this evening. The invitations are signed by Seid Back, Jr., president, and Law John, secretary.

WILL BUY OREGON TIMBER.

Minnesota Men to Invest $100,000 This Spring.

Among the many timber men from the East now looking over Oregon forests with a view to extensive purchases, are the White brothers, of Duluth, who expect to invest $100,000 in timber lands for their principals, Strong & Son. One of the brothers was seen yesterday at the Perkins, after he had been spending several weeks in the neighborhood of the Cascades, and he expressed himself as well satisfied with the prospect so far. His firm, he said, is not purchasing with a view to the immediate use of the timber, but for the purpose of holding the lands for some years. He thinks the timber supply of Minnesota will last for some 10 years yet, and in the meantime transportation problems may be solved in such a manner that a market can be found for Oregon lumber on the Atlantic Coast.

Mr. White finds considerable timber land for sale at reasonable rates in Oregon, and has had no difficulty in buying at figures which are equivalent to 20 cents a thousand for the available lumber, with the land thrown in.

There is one advantage of purchasing timber land in Oregon, he says, and that is the land will be good for farming after the timber has been cleared off. In Minnesota the forest lands are worthless after the trees have been cut away. The soil is so barren and so full of rocks that one wonders how the trees have ever grown. When a fire has swept over these Minnesota woods the granite surface is left bare as a floor. The risk of fire is also greater in the Minnesota woods, as the trees and underbrush there are especially inflammable just before the trees bud in May. He considers Oregon forests reasonably safe from fire.

READY FOR THE CAMPAIGN

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE SECURES HEADQUARTERS.

County and City Organization Perfected—Mackay Is Chairman and Glass Is Secretary.

Headquarters of the Republican State Central Committee were opened yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce building. A fine suite of five rooms at No. 604, on the sixth floor, has been secured, and is being provided with desks, chairs and such other office furniture as will be needed for the work. Office room in desirable building is scarce now, and it was only after a considerable wait and search that Chairman Steel and Secretary Dunway were able to secure quarters. Their success might almost be said to contain an element of luck. No more suitable set of rooms could be found in the city. Offices for the chairman, secretary and assistant secretary, and consulting-room, together with a large waiting-room, are arranged as if the plan had been modeled after the needs of the central committee.

Chairman Steel's office is connected with both the waiting-room and that used by Secretary Dunlway and Assistant Secretary Kennedy. The convenience of this arrangement and the facility with which the secretary may reach either the chairman's office or the consulting-room will enable those officers to conduct the business of the central committee with perfect ease, even though the usual large crowd is about headquarters. Already the preliminary work of the campaign is well under way. All the incidents and details essential to getting party machinery moving are being taken up. Sound money and other Republican policy literature will be circulated, to offset the floods of silver and socialistic pamphlets being thrown upon the community by the organized fusionists. Information helpful to the candidates in their work and co-operation with the city and county central committees of the state will be only a small part of the duties falling to the officers of the central committee.

To accommodate the large numbers who will visit headquarters on business, the offices have been made quite comfortable. Matting has been placed on the floor and chairs provided, in addition to the regular office equipment required by the chairman and his secretaries. Preparations demonstrate that the campaign has been opened, and the forces of the Republicans will be found ready to fight.

SIXTH WARD REPUBLICANS.

Address by City Attorney Long—Other Speakers.

Local and National topics were thoroughly discussed last evening at a meeting of the Sixth Ward Republican Club, Dr. O. P. S. Plummer presided. Music by four young men of the ward, styled the Sixth Ward quartet, and a 10-minute address on woman suffrage, by Miss Lena Morrow, afforded variety to the programme. J. M. Long, candidate for re-election as City Attorney, delivered the address of the evening, speaking for more than an hour on various topics of general and local interest. He severely arraigned the Democrats for their anti-expansion arguments and general lack of patriotism on the dominant National issue. City Attorney Long spoke of the several things the country was proud of at the present time, among the number being the Second Oregon Volunteers' record in the Philippines. And in this connection, the speaker paid a splendid compliment to Captain Charles E. McDonell, candidate for County Assessor, whose record as a soldier was said to be without a blemish and such as to entitle him to the appreciative consideration of the people. City Attorney Long believed those willing to make great patriotic sacrifices should be remembered when selecting men capable of performing great public duties. He also spoke for the entire Republican ticket, which he said was admitted to be excellent throughout.

City Engineer Chase, candidate for re-election, spoke on the work of his department and economy of the present administration. He especially praised the work of City Attorney Long during his term of office. George J. Cameron, candidate for Municipal Judge, also praised Mr. Long's record, as well as that of Mr. Chase in his department. Judge Peter Ward, a resident of the ward, delivered an interesting talk on old-time Republicans of his acquaintance. Scott Brooke, candidate for County Treasurer, said but a few words, which, however, made a good impression on his hearers. L. M. Davis, president of the Eleventh Ward Club, delivered the most ringing speech of the evening. He dwelt upon Mayor Storey's independent candidacy, and called attention to that official's disposition to rebel only after he could not get what others thought him not entitled to. Dr. W. H. Saylor closed the speaking with a few strong words for supporting the ticket.

COUNTY COMMITTEE ORGANIZED.

Mr. Mackay for Chairman and Mr. Glass for Secretary.

At a meeting of the Republican City and County Central Committee held yesterday, that body organized for the local campaign in Portland and Multnomah County. Election of chairman resulted in Donald Mackay, the incumbent for the past four years, being chosen for the present term. Friends of the party will be pleased to learn that Graham Glass was chosen secretary of the committee. Secretary Glass is known by every Republican of the county. His work with the State Central Committee was at a time when bitterer issues than will be brought up this campaign were fought to a successful finish, and his familiarity with party affairs, large acquaintance and tact in the management of his office, render his services an essential.

Excellent office room for the City and County Central Committee has been found in the Worcester block. Two capacious apartments on the second floor, Nos. 7 and 8, have been furnished and equipped. All the preliminaries for a vigorous campaign are under way. Regarding the situation, Secretary Glass takes a very hopeful view, and thinks that there can be but little doubt of the result, if the proper work is done by the Republican party. The portion of this work falling to the City and County Central Committee will be done as it should be, and the influence of this body will be exerted on every other department.

Major Kennedy Ill.

Major J. P. Kennedy, Republican candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court, and assistant secretary of the State Central Committee, has been indisposed for several days. While Major Kennedy has been confined to his home, without being able to attend to the duties of his office or take an active part in the campaign for the period of his illness, nothing serious is apparent, and he expects to be out soon.

Two Clubs Unite.

The Republican clubs of the Peninsula and University Park united last night in a rousing meeting, and will henceforth hold meetings as one club. S. C. Beach was chairman of the evening. Addresses were made by T. C. Devlin, Captain Charles E. McDonell and F. Walker. The Oregon Quartet sang several campaign songs in splendid style, and contributed much to the pleasure of the evening.

WHERE TO DINE.

Where to dine? The best place for substantial foods, nicely served, is at the Portland Restaurant, 305 Washington St.

Will Not Sail So Soon.

J. L. Hartman, agent for the Alaska Steamship Trading Company, called at The Oregonian office yesterday, to say that the steamer Dolphin, belonging to his company, which was announced in a press dispatch to sail from New York April 26, will not sail for several days yet. Her destination is Seattle.

PLAYED TO STANDING ROOM

West's Minstrels Delight a Big House at the Marquam.

West's minstrels played to standing room last night at the Marquam Grand Opera-House, and well these artists deserved the compliment of a big house. Glimpses of old-time minstrelsy are thrown in just to show that it is a minstrel performance, otherwise it is a highly spectacular, first-class vaudeville show. It was spectacular from the time the curtain was raised, displaying courtly stage settings, the imposing entrance of the vocalists and comedians, with the famous West's march as a finale.

Prominent among the old stars in minstrelsy is Richard J. Jose, the famous counter tenor, whose sweet tones are ever pleasing in ballads, sung as only Jose can sing them. Jose graciously responded to numerous recalls, his best number being "The Blue and the Gray." The other vocalists are new to Portland, but instantly installed themselves favorites.

The comedy in the first part was in the hands of the old-time kingpin of minstrelsy, Carroll Johnson, who never seems to grow old. He was ably helped out by Ernest Tenney, in his inimitable comic songs. The rotund and jolly Fred Warren did not appear at his best, as his funny sayings and songs were cut short on account of a severe cold.

A very pleasing feature of the show was the excellent music, both instrumental and vocal. The concerted numbers were harmonious and well rendered. In the solos, of course, Jose excelled. The baritone, Charles G. Weber, sang the ballad, "Over the Sea," in an excellently modulated robust baritone voice. His efforts met with a flattering reception. John P. Rodgers, the basso, sang "At the Bottom of the Deep Blue Sea" in a voice marked for its depth of tone and smooth quality. Tenney, with his peculiar high, cracked voice, was killing in his "Yubadam" song. Carroll Johnson signs his famous coon songs as ever, well. His graceful dancing has lost none of his youthful springiness. The jokes were, some of them, new, some not so new, but all acceptable.

The second part opened with "Signal Lights," an act performed with different colored railroad lanterns, manipulated by six expert lantern-swingers. Railroad signals were interspersed with a dazzling evolution of lantern-swinging, the effect of which was decidedly pretty. Eddie Horan followed in his cane dance. Next followed an acrobatic act by the three Luken brothers, that was simply wonderful and startling. Tumbling and pyramid work was followed by their human trapeze act, that was novel, and well deserved the spontaneous applause. A sextet, composed of Jose, Ansdell, Gorman, Weber, Garland and Rodgers, sang a medley of catchy, popular songs. The Waterbury brothers, old-time favorites in the musical act, were "assisted" by Tenney. The act in itself was far above the usual musical team, but when Tenney's efforts at singing were added, the trio was a taking part of the programme.

The three Marvelles were whirlwinds in their grotesque acrobatic dance. Their contortion work, barrel act and table-sliding were unique and skillful. The "Storming of San Juan Hill" gives Mr. West an opportunity for his military march, and exhibition of intricate tactics and manual.

The usual Saturday matinee today, while tonight the minstrels will change the programme of jokes and songs.

BASEBALL TODAY.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"Knobs o' Tennessee."

During the past five years the most successful of all melodramatic productions have been those that contained a touch of nature. Such dramas will live forever and anon. It was with this fact before him that Hal Reid, who is known as the author of "Human Hearts," took a trip down to Tennessee, and, after spending several months in the mountains mixing and mingling with the natives of that section, wrote and placed before the public "Knobs o' Tennessee," what is now considered his most famous play. The play is full of dramatic situations and pathetic scenes, although the author has very cleverly avoided overdrawing them. The light, almost ephemeral plays that have for a long time reigned supreme are gradually passing into innocuous desuetude, and are being replaced by those containing more substantial merit, to which in part is due the success of "Knobs o' Tennessee." This clever production is headed by Robert Germaine, who is in turn supported by absolutely the strongest and most carefully selected company ever seen in a Hal Reid play. It will be seen at Cordray's, Sunday night and all next week.

"Quo Vadis?"

"Quo Vadis?" the successful dramatization of a popular novel which has delighted theater-goers everywhere, will come to the Marquam Tuesday and Wednesday, with a special Wednesday matinee. The production will be on an elaborate scale, the scenery having been specially painted, and the company is one of unusual strength.
