NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Professional Element in Control and Weakness Was Pronounced. YORK, May 7,-There were several nts of weakness in the stock market today points of weakness in the stock market today, and these were sufficient to turn the room traders to the bear side of the market. The operations of this professional element were the only ones apparent outside of a few etocks, and they reflected no conditions or even westerablished opinions regarding the general outlook. The demand for stocks continued quite insignificant, so that the moderate offerings in large part for the short account of erings in large part for the short account of room traders, made an impression easily upon prices, but the decline failed to induce any liquidation, and prices readily railled when

The steel shares were the most conspicuous in the trading, and were weak from the opening. The bonds of the company were also heavy. The reaction was attributed to speculative profit-taking and occurred on comparatively small dealings.

The hear traders during the day professed unesishess over the gold movement, as well as over labor difficulties at various points, the pendency of the Presidential campaign and the reactionary course of business, which they argue must have its effect on rail-road earnings.
