YEAR OF BIG WORK

Prospective Development in Cracker Creek District.

MANY PROPERTIES TO SINK DEEP

What Is Being Done on Some of the Claims—Country Is Tributary to Sumpter.

SUMPTER, Or., May 8.—Cracker Creek district, which will be the scene of great mining development this year, is in what is generally known as the third mineral zone of the Eastern Oregon gold belt. Beginning in the Elkhorn Mountains, and bearing to the southwest, the zone extends for about 100 miles. The formation is true fissure veins in slate or granite, or contact between porphyry and slate, porphyry and granite, or porphyry and quartzite. The ores carry a smaller per cent of free gold than those in the first and second zones, but the percentage of free gold increases with depth. A feature of special importance in the third zone is a mineralized ledge of enormous size, beginning with the mines on the northeast slope of the Elkhorn Mountains, and continuing for 20 miles. This ledge has been opened and located for 12 miles. The main ledge is from 50 to 200 feet wide, with smaller parallel ledges extending the zone to a width of 20 miles. Upon this parent ledge are the Baisley-Elkhorn, the North Pole, the Eureka & Excelsior, the Columbia, the Golconda, the Mammoth, the Ibex and many other properties. Some of these are among the best gold-producers in the Northwest. Beyond the Ibex, which is located near the summit of the divide, volcanic eruptions have covered the surface croppings of this great parent ledge, and it is not so visible on the western slope of the Blue Mountains. However, the same formation continues wherever mines are opened, and the ore has the same general character. Continuing in a southwest direction, the Bonanza group, Don Juan, Phoenix, the mines of Robinsonville and the Greenhorn Range, the Badger and other mines of the Susanville prove the continuation of this great mineral zone.

Nearly every property in the district is doing more or less work, but the principal interest centers in the plans of the big companies for deep mining. The work to be done by the North Pole, the Columbia and Golconda this year will demonstrate beyond doubt that deep mining is not only practicable, but is necessary for profit. Before winter sets in, the Columbia and the Golconda will have their shafts deep into the earth and will be turning out ore carrying high values. By that time the Golconda will have 40 stamps running, and the Columbia may increase the number of its stamps to 20 to enable it to handle the enormous amount of ore which it has blocked out. The reopening of the Eureka & Excelsior, which is confidently expected, would add materially to the output of the camp.

The Amazon, on Silver Creek, has 800 feet of tunnels and crosscuts. It is owned by J. G. and J. T. English, and is supposed to be bonded to the Standard Oil Company for $40,000. Development has not shown a high grade of ore. Hoisting works will be built and deep work done.

The Climax and Orazaba are owned by Colonel Grayson, of Oakland, Cal., and are under bond to California capitalists for $100,000. About 800 feet of tunneling has been done, and high-grade ore has been found. It is probable that a shaft will be sunk in the Fall.

The Snowbird is owned by the Sumpter Snowbird Mining Company, of Rossland, B. C. About 300 feet of tunnel work has been done. The location of the Snowbird is not favorable to further tunneling, and sinking will be resorted to.

One tunnel on the Ohio is in 800 feet, and another is being driven on the lower level. A 10-stamp mill was built on this property two years ago, but it has not been operated.

The Golconda group includes, among others, the Golconda, the Wide West, the Charleston, the Telephone and the Century. The Golconda mill is on the Telephone claim. Nearly all the ore treated in the mill is taken from the Golconda, but the Wide West is being tapped. It has good ore, and many mining men predict that it will prove to be one of the best properties in the Cracker Creek country. Probably 500 or 600 feet of work has been done on each of the claims, not including the Golconda.

The Eureka & Excelsior, the oldest mine in Cracker Creek, has been shut down for a long time. Several persons have looked at the mine with the object of taking hold of it. The Eureka & Excelsior is rated as a $1,000,000 property, but considerable work would be required to put it in shape for regular production. When running, the Eureka & Excelsior employs 75 men. The ledge has been opened for 1000 feet, and at a depth of 600 feet from the apex it is 50 feet thick, and the pay chute from 3 to 15 feet wide. The Eureka & Excelsior is said to have produced $550,000 in gold in three years.

The Bunker Hill is a promising property. It has been developed by 1000 feet of tunnels and crosscuts. Hoisting works will be built for sinking this Spring.

The shaft in the Mammoth is down 200 feet. Years ago a five-stamp mill was put up on this property. The owners of the Mammoth plan to sink to 500 or 600 feet as fast as the work can be done, and to build a 10-stamp mill.

The Cracker Creek country is susceptible of great development. It already has four of the principal mines in Eastern Oregon, three of which are in operation, and is destined to have many. The district is seven miles from Sumpter, and is tributary to that city.

Rossland Mines.

C. F. Jackson, secretary and treasurer of the Reddin-Jackson Co., Rossland, B. C., is spending a few days in Portland with his brother-in-law, Major Dan J. Moore. Mr. Jackson says the labor troubles that distracted the mining interests of his district for over two months have been amicably settled, and work on the great mines is going ahead. One result of the trouble is a scarcity of machine miners competent to operate the scientific apparatus required to penetrate the intensely hard formation of that country. He estimates that there is now room for at least 1000 of this class of miners; but the ordinary pick-and-shovel or sledge-and-drill miner is no good about Rossland. It requires good machinery to break through the iron cap covering the precious metal of that country.

Mr. Jackson says the cost of operating the deep mines about Rossland is about 14 times as great per ton of ore removed as that of the ordinary mine about Sumpter. Miners have to be skilled in the use of the machine drills and other apparatus before they can be of any use. The thousand of these skilled operators who left have scattered well, but a few are being slowly gathered back again, and new men capable of doing the work are being introduced into the mines. When Rossland has made this substantial addition to her present laboring strength, her mines will again assume their old-time activity.

A Million Would Not Buy It.

Several thousand dollars' worth of gold has just been brought in from the Lucky Boy mine, in the Blue River district. L. Zimmerman, who is one of the principal owners in this mine, and who put some $37,000 into it, before he received a cent in return, is much pleased with the prospects. The 10-stamp mill on the claim has already turned out about $16,000, and the vein is growing broader as it goes down, and is likely to prove a second Comstock lode. The mill will be increased to 50 stamps as soon as practicable, and Mr. Zimmerman says a million dollars could not buy the claim.

Gold Brick From Bohemia.

A handsome gold brick, weighing about 50 pounds and valued at about $10,000, will be placed on exhibition in Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s window this morning at 9 o'clock, also a very rich specimen of ore. They both come from the Helena mine in the Bohemia district, and were brought in yesterday by some of the stockholders. The brick is the first sample of gold from the Helena mine which has arrived here. Other bricks sent to San Francisco have proved worth from $16 to $17 per ounce. The brick is the result of a 20 days' run of the 5-stamp mill at the mine. The vein from which the gold was taken is from four to six feet in thickness, and three men supply all the ore needed to keep the mill running. About 60 to 70 per cent of the gold is saved in the mill. The tailings are banked up and a concentrator is to be put in to handle them, and the remainedr of the gold will be secured by smelting.

TO INVESTIGATE DISEASE

IF INDIAN HORSES ARE INCURABLE THEY WILL BE KILLED.

Examination of Complaints About the Umatilla Reservation Set on Foot by Congressman Moody.

SALEM, May 9.—Governor Geer today received a letter from Malcolm A. Moody stating that an investigation will be made immediately concerning the contagious diseases prevailing among Indian horses on the Umatilla reserve, and that if it is determined that the disease is incurable an order will be issued authorizing the killing of the animals.

This letter was in answer to one written by the Governor to each member of the Oregon delegation in Congress asking that the general Government take action in the matter. Senator McBride and Representative Tongue each answered, saying that they would give the matter their attention. The letter from Mr. Moody is the first information regarding any definite action being taken. Mr. Moody called upon the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and was assured that the action mentioned would be taken at once, the investigation to be prosecuted by the Department of Agriculture.

No Title to Convey.

The State Land Board today rendered a decision in the Minto Island gravel bar case, holding that the state has no title which the Board can convey. In a former contest before the board it was decided that the gravel bar is an accretion to Minto Island, and, therefore, the property of John Minto. After that decision and in order to prevent any further litigation or doubt regarding the title to the gravel bar, the board quit-claimed all the right, title and interest the state had in the land to Mr. Minto. It is on account of the conveying to Minto that the board now holds that it can entertain no application for the purchase of the land.

Choral Festival.

The second annual festival of the Willamette Valley Choral Union opened this evening in the First Methodist Episcopal Church in this city, a good sized audience being present. The programme was as follows.

String quartet, op 76, No. 1 in G, The Hidden String Quartet.
Soprano solo, "Jeanne D'Arc," Miss Ethel Raymond.
Violin concerto, Leroy L. Gesner.
Contralto solo, Miss Rita Hansen.
Piano sonata, Edward W. Tillson.

Marion County Court.

The Marion County Court was in session today for the regular May term. Among other business transacted, H. L. Bellarts was granted a six months' license to sell liquor at Butteville. An order was made renewing the contract by which Dr. S. R. Jessup is employed as County Physician. Under the contract, Dr. Jessup is to receive $275 per year for treating patients at the County Poor Farm and $1.50 per visit for treating paupers, the doctor to furnish his own medicines.

Adjutant-General Gantenbein was in Salem today making arrangements for the annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard. He stated before returning to Portland that it had not been finally determined that the encampment will be held at Salem, and that there are many minor matters to be arranged before an order announcing the encampment will be made. The Salem Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting tomorrow to consider the concessions that must be made by the city in order to secure the encampment here.

Each succeeding day brings more encouraging reports regarding the outlook for a crop of Italian prunes in this vicinity. As the prunes grow larger they show to better advantage on the trees and growers find that there is more of the fruit than they have supposed.

In some sections the report remains the same, that the Italian prune crop is entirely ruined. But these are isolated cases, and in the majority of orchards there will be from a half to a full crop of Italians. By a full crop is not meant that the trees hang as full of fruit as they would if no injury had been sustained, but that with the increased size consequent upon a decrease in the number of prunes, the trees will bear as much as would be desired.

Mr. S. P. Kimball, who has a prune orchard near Salem, and also one at Dallas, said today that so far as he can see, his Italian trees will bear as many prunes as he could wish.

Capital City Notes.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. H. Ackerman will go to Prineville tomorrow to attend the Crook County Teachers' Institute.

State Treasurer Moore today received $3009 to apply on Umatilla County's 1899 state tax.

OPERA-HOUSE FOR BAKER CITY.

New Structure to Be Erected This Season—First-Class Attractions.

BAKER CITY, May 9.—The Baker City Opera-House Company was incorporated recently, the incorporators being: Albert Geiser, John Waterman and I. H. McCord, and the capital stock $17,000. It is the intention to build a fine Opera-House in Baker City and to secure for it first-class attractions, such as play the best Coast theaters. The incorporators are well-known business men of Baker City, who have the money and energy to make a success of anything they undertake, and the public is looking forward with much pleasure to the completion of the opera-house, work on which will begin at once. Heretofore the Armory has been the only available hall in which a production could be given, and as a result the scenery necessary to a first-class production could never be set up. Arrangements will be made to secure a manager of ability to take hold of the theater, and to book the best attractions that come to the coast.

FATAL FALL FROM A TREE.

Man Attacked With Epilepsy While After Squirrel for His Boy.

DUMAS, May 9.—C. P. Unruh, a farmer living on Salt Creek, this county, on Monday fell from a tree and was so badly injured that he died yesterday. He was about 50 years old and left a wife and several children.

He was subject to occasional fits of epilepsy. He climbed a tree to get a squirrel for one of his boys, and was attacked by the old complaint, and fell. Mr. Unruh was a native of Germany, and a man of sterling qualities.

SOLD 7000 RANGE HORSES.

British Government Said to Want Them for South Africa.

BAKER CITY, May 9.—Edward Blewett, of the Oregon Horse & Land Company, with ranches on the Owyhee River, has just sold 7000 head of horses at an average price of $18 per head. They are said to have been bought by Eastern capitalists to sell to the British Government for service in South Africa. Another similar deal is pending.

Improving the Stock.

Pendleton East Oregonian.

Joseph Sullivan, the ex-volunteer who went into the cattle business upon his return from Manila, is in town again from the range. His cattle are on Upper McKay Creek, and will go farther into the mountains later in the season.

"At the present rate," said Mr. Sullivan, "Umatilla County cattle will have been wonderfully improved in five years. Nearly all the stockmen are buying thoroughbred bulls, and the demand for bulls at the farms where thoroughbred stock is raised is so great that it is difficult to buy them now. Recently, some Umatilla County stockmen sent an order for some shorthorn bulls, and received a reply that they could not be furnished. The breeders had sold 200 thoroughbred bulls already this year, and on their books are yet orders for many more."

DRAFT HORSES SENT NORTH.

Bring Good Price—Bawdy-Houses and Gamblers Must Pay Fines.

COLFAX, Wash., May 9.—Henry Churchill, a Willow Creek stockman, today shipped a carload of heavy draft horses to Rossland, B. C., where they will be sold. Shipments of horses for draft purposes are being made from this section all the time, horses fit for heavy teaming finding ready sale here at prices ranging from $125 to $175 each.

After full discussion by the City Council at its last night's meeting, today the Mayor instructed the police department that the gamblers and keepers of bawdy-houses must be made to pay the agreed-upon fine monthly. Last year the Council decided that the city would inaugurate a plan of assessing gamblers and bawdy-houses by means of a monthly fine, the fine to act as a form of licensing. For several months the plan worked to the financial benefit of the city, but since the first of this year apparently no attempt has been made to collect these fines by the police, or, if the fines have been paid, the money has never been turned into the city treasury.

Extradition Finally Granted.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 9.—Governor Rogers today granted the requisition for extradition of Professor Rowland P. Hills, now in Tacoma, and wanted in Nebraska on a charge of bigamy. Hills at one time was a professor of languages in a denominational institution in Tacoma, and is a highly educated man.

A brief history of Professor Hills' matrimonial career shows that he was married while still a student in England. On attaining his majority he came to America, leaving his wife in England. In this country he became a quite prominent lecturer and professor of languages. A few years ago he married again in Nebraska, without having procured a divorce from the first wife, who came to Nebraska and commenced proceedings against Hills on the ground of bigamy.

Two weeks ago Governor Rogers refused to grant a requisition, on the ground that the legal formalities were not properly complied with.

Miner Died of Heart Disease.

GRANT'S PASS, May 9.—C. W. Corson, of the painter firm of Corson & Bacher, was found dead last evening at the dry diggings about three miles from town. Corson owned a small mining prospect, which he went to work on about a week ago. Not returning at the appointed time, search was made, as he was known to have heart trouble. The body was discovered by Dr. Andrews' son, and was lying face downward beside his mining pick. He had been dead six days, and was in bad condition. Coroner W. F. Kramer was notified and at the inquest the jury brought in a verdict of death from heart disease. Deceased was about 55 years old, and had no family. He was an excellent workman and was well respected.

Warner's Safe Cure is a scientific vegetable preparation for the restoring to health of tired-out kidneys and overworked livers. When these great organs are in health there can be no impure blood, headaches or constipation. Man cannot improve on nature, hence it is amusing to read of medicines which claim to "remove impurities from the blood;"—"The kidneys enrich and vitalize the blood," etc. The kidneys, liver and lungs purify the blood and they alone. Neither medicine nor man can do it. Warner's Safe Cure, by helping nature, is an aid, an assistant;—simply that and nothing more. The twentieth century man or woman is a reasoning, sensible person and seldom deceived by misstatements.

Transfer of Land Office Clerks.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 9.—George A. Jolliffe, chief clerk in the United States Land Office here, today received orders from Washington, relieving him from duty here and directing him to report for duty at the General Land Office in Washington, D. C.

Frank E. Vaughan, clerk in the United States Land Office at Kalispell, Mont., has been transferred to the Land Office here, to succeed Jolliffe. Vaughan is expected to arrive here the first of next week. Jolliffe will leave for Washington soon after Vaughan's arrival.

Hon. E. C. Bellows, recently appointed Consul-General to Yokohama, will leave for Washington tomorrow to confer with the Administration concerning his duties.

Shanklin Was "Coleman."

FOREST GROVE, Or., May 9.—Ex-City Clerk J. W. Shanklin, alias J. W. Coleman, who was acquitted of the charge of embezzling public money at Fresno, Cal., Monday, is the man who had spent the Winter in Forest Grove and Greenville, and for whom a reward of $200 was offered, and was arrested near here by John McNamer, the present nominee for Sheriff on the Republican ticket. Shanklin said while in jail at Hillsboro that he was innocent of the crime, and that he would return to Greenville in about a month. The warrant which was telegraphed from Fresno for his arrest contained 218 words, and cost $19.

Company Didn't Owe Henderson.

J. W. Stuchell, president of the Henderson-Stuchell Trading Company, of Baker City, writes to correct the report that at the hearing of the embezzlement charge against George Henderson it was shown that the company owed the defendant. Mr. Stuchell says that the evidence showed that there was a shortage of $4845 63 in the business of the company, instead of a credit of $394 49 in favor of Henderson.

Axle Broke and Wrecked a Train.

SALEM, May 9.—A southbound freight train was wrecked on the Southern Pacific two miles north of Albany, this afternoon. The wreck was caused by the breaking of an axle of a flat-car loaded with lumber. The wreck delayed the northbound Oregon express and the Albany local was returned from the wreck to Portland late tonight.

Another Ship for Nome.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—The Alaska Commercial Company has chartered the steamer San Jose from the Pacific Mail Company, and will put her in the Nome trade. The company has sold every berth on the Dora, Portland, Rainier and St. Paul for the season, and the rush is still growing. The San Jose will leave here for the gold fields June 2.

Grant County Prisoners Recaptured.

BAKER CITY, Or., May 9.—Sheriff Livingstone and posse, of Grant County, have retaken Keeton and Wallace, the prisoners escaped from the Canyon City jail. The prisoners were lodged in jail there Monday night. They were arrested in a cabin near the Greenhorn Mountains, and were both armed with Winchester rifles. It is not reported that they made any resistance.

Look for Better Wool Prices.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., May 9.—The woolgrowers of this and adjoining counties have appointed May 15 and June 1 as sale days at North Yakima. Over 1,000,000 pounds of wool is stored here awaiting the first sale. The growers believe that the new system will enable them to secure better prices, and consequently no business is being done at the present time in wool.

Washington Notes.

Nels W. Anderson, about 30 years old, swamper at one of the Lake Whatcom Logging Company's camps, was killed at about noon Monday by a falling tree.

George & Barker, a prominent Columbia River packing firm, with L. D. Pike, have just completed a cannery at Point Roberts. Their new cannery has a season's capacity of 40,000 cases. They are preparing to drive traps on a number of new locations.

The steamer Cottage City has taken on 250 tons of Blue Canyon coal at Whatcom. The coal goes to Sitka, where it will be stored for the use of the Government vessels in those waters. The Blue Canyon Company will make several shipments this Summer to Alaska of coal to be used by the Government.
