Cheaning Railboad Coaches.—The cosco-cleaning yards at the Terminal Company's ground present a scene of great activity these days. About 100 men are employed there, and about 80 cars are cleaned and put in readiness for going out daily. It is interesting to walk through the yards if permission is secured and watch the various operations in progress. In all the fine coaches, after the carpets have been taken out to be beaten and the cars have been swept out, the cush-lons are cleaned by a hose with an air compressor. This beats a new broom all hollow and leaves not a particle of dust in any of the nooks or cranmics about a car. In the cars lighted by electricity the storage batteries are charged from a dyname in the bagsage car operated by a stationary congine, while near by other cars are being furnished with a supply of Pintsch gas. Beside the 50 carcleaners employed in the yards, there are a number of repairers, carpenters, air-brake inspectors, of which swell the number of employers to about 100. All these men are busy while came are being cleaned and got ready for going out. Every man understands his business, and the work is done with dispatch and in a thorough manner, and it has received specimen of the station.

of professional photographers, changing the date to July 10. At first it was thought June would be the best month, but after careful consideration the officers of the Portland and the Salem associations have concluded the latter date is preferable. Becretary Butterworth makes an earnest appeal to all professional photographers to appeal to all professional photographers to attend this convention, and sets forth the benefits to be derived from a general benefits to be derived from a general state organization meeting annually to exchange bless and discuss work. The Portland association will prepare a cor-dial reception to all the visiting members of the fraternity. Efforts will be made for special railroad and hotel rates, and all other inducements possible will be of-fered to draw the photographers of the state into one organization. FAT CATTLE OFF THE RANGE.—J. H. Altken, manager of the Oregon Commercial Company at Huntington, is at the Perkins. He expects to see large numbers of cattle and sheep shipped from Huntington this season, he says, and already fully 2000 head of cattle have been sent toward Portland. These are mostly fat steers taken right off the ranges ready for slaughter, a thing that has not been done. done for years this early in the Spring. sally open Winter and favorable The unusually open Winter and favorable weather for grass is accountable for these early shipments of beef. The first shipments of sheep will be made toward the close of the month, after shearing. The shearers are in the height of their work just now. The sheep shipments will be mostly made eastward and will consist of young wethers intended for feeding in Wyoming and Nebraska for the markets of Chicaru past Winter.

Higher Wages for Laborers.—Laboring men are scarce in Portland, even for city work, and street contractors are now offering $2 per day for 10 hours' work, a thing not heard of since the boom times of 10 years ago. An employment agent suid yesterday that street contracts had been let within the past few days which would keep hundreds of men at work for the next year. Recently men have been plentiful at $1 50 to $1 75 per day. The demand for loggers, farmers, milkers and railroad laborers still exceeds the supply, and the Japanese, who are coming in by dozens from various excellent to the sidewalks.

An importing firm in Portland has already an agent in the Philippines looking over the timber situation, and it has received specimens of several kinds of hard woods surceptible of a fine polich and of great beauty. It is said that these woods can be supplied at a cost less than that of quarter-sawed oak, and furniture manufacturers will give them a trial. J. Advertising Origon in Gotham.—A convenient compendium of information in regard to the wealth and resources of Oregon was compiled and edited by W. M. Killingsworth from the New Year's number of The Oregonian for 1899, under the litle of "Oregon Pocket-Book." Some 1800 copies of this little book were forwarded by Oike & King, of this city, to their agent in New York to be distributed. The agent, Mr. Shipley, took the books to the offices of the various railroad companies in "railroad row" and all the agents were glad to receive them and asked for more. They said literature of this kind concerning Oregon was just what they needed. They had plenty of literature of the kind from Puget Sound cities, but none from Oregon, and there was a constant demand for information in regard to Oregon, which they had been.

Assaulten.-Paddy Lynch, an Astoria Assaulted—Paddy Lynch, an Astoria bourding-house keeper, encountered Dick McCavan and Steve Drummond, two men in the same business here, yesterday, and the result was a terrible head put on the unfortunate Lynch, who thereupon had the assailants arrested for assault and battery. The fraces occurred at the Star Sand Company's dock, and little is known of the cause, further than that the Portland men accused Lynch of encroaching on their territory. The case will be ventilated in the Municipal Court today. In the meantime, the defendants are at liberty on their own recognizance.
