

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

ONLY FOUR DAYS MORE.

The registration books close next Tuesday, May 15, at 5 P. M. It is impossible for an elector to get his name on the books after that hour. The registration is for two years. Those who wish to vote for President in November must register now. The office will be open today, tomorrow and Monday from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. continuously, there being no interruption for lunch and dinner.

Amusements Tonight.

CORDELL'S THEATRE (Washington st.)
"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

FELL FROM A SCOFFOLD.—An accident occurred at Third and Washington streets yesterday afternoon. A man named F. G. Jasmann, who had an hour before begun work on the old building being removed at Third and Washington, fell from a temporary scaffolding and sustained a severe fracture of one leg, above the ankle. Jasmann is said to be a poor man, residing at 350 Russell street, and the unfortunate fall was shortly after securing work in the removal of the building. He and a fellow-workman were standing on a board 12 feet from the ground. This was supported by a wall which was being removed by the work, and suddenly the platform slid from its cleat, throwing both men violently to the ground. Jasmann was removed to Woodward, Clarke & Co.'s store, where Dr. Saylor dressed the injured limb, after which he was taken to a hospital for treatment.

EKES WILL HOLD A FAIR.—Now that it has been decided that there is to be no exposition in this city next Fall, the Ekess have come to the rescue. At a meeting of the order last night a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a grand street fair or carnival. Functions of this kind have been carried out with great success in Louisville, Los Angeles and Sacramento, attracting to the cities thousands of visitors. Something of this kind will not only be a novelty here, but will be a pleasing change from the usual routine of the fair committee. The fair will be announced within a day or two, and will enter on the discharge of its duties at once. It will doubtless receive hearty encouragement from the public, and as the Ekess have always been successful in carrying out anything of this nature, they will see that the proposed carnival is no exception to the rule.

HAS FAITH IN SHANKO.—J. E. Hanna, a prominent merchant, is in the city, purchasing goods for the fair to be held at the southern terminus of the Columbia Southern. He has traded his business in Monmouth to the Luckiamute Lumber Company, in Clatsop county, for 100,000 feet of lumber, which he will ship by rail to Independence to Shanko, this week. He expects the first train to reach the new town Wednesday of next week. Mr. Hanna has great faith in Shanko, and says it is bound to be an important town, even should the road extend to Prineville, as the products of a vast triangular region east and south of the new town will naturally gravitate toward it. He does not expect, however, to see the road extended very soon, and while it remains the terminus, Shanko will be the emporium of a vast farming, stock and mining region.

ABANDONED A BOARDING-HOUSE KEEPER.—Mr. Carson and Steve Drummond pleaded guilty to assault and battery in the Municipal Court yesterday morning and were fined $10 each. They said the fine, but that was only the city's part of the case. The state takes hold of them this afternoon and will try them for offending the peace and dignity of Oregon. J. Lynch, an assistant boarding-house keeper, contracted with the captain of a ship in Portland harbor, and this is what Carson and Drummond objected to. Lynch says he had just reached the Star Sand Company's dock from the vessel in question when both men set upon him, one holding him down while the other kicked several of his teeth out and otherwise used him roughly. Lynch will not be able to visit ship or make contracts with sea captains for several days.

NO IRISH MEN.—"Men, men, men; we want men, and no men are to be obtained," is the cry of Portland employment agents at present. The bulletin boards in front of the offices are covered with "wants" in the shape of all sorts of jobs, except soft ones, but no gang of men stand around to read them. "No men who want work," is the cry. "Portland," said an agent yesterday, "and no one knows whether they have drifted. Orders have come in for men from Green River, Wyoming, and other remote places in the growing West, but these orders cannot be filled unless the men drift in from somewhere." And the agent sat with his feet on the table, looking out on the busy street, where every man in sight was intent on the job in hand, and there was no one to read the "wants."

CARLOAD OF FINE BEEF.—Among a carload of best beef brought to Portland this week from Arlington by W. W. Johnston are three head tipping the beam at 180 pounds each, and they are the admiration of all the city butchers who have seen them. The animals were raised by Joe Friesel, at Lost Valley, Wheeler County, and have been stall fed for the past two winters. The fodder used being wheat hay and wheat heads. They brought 24 cents in Portland on foot, which means $45 a head. Their huge steaks will not be spread in Portland grids, however, as the steers were purchased by E. W. West, a Seattle drover, who will ship them to Nome. The stock is of the Hereford blood.

NARROW ESCAPE.—John Hess, a Switz employed on the Warren dairy farm, came 25 miles below this city, and who was tossed three times by a bull on May 10, is still in hospital. Owing to the bull's reputation his horns had been cut short, and Hess alighted from his third toss to a ditch, where the bull could not get at him. This saved his life, but his ribs were broken, and he was injured internally, and for some time his recovery was despaired of. Of late his condition is improving, and his recovery is confidently expected, though it will be some time before he will be able to resume work.

OPEN TODAY.—Business men and residents of the city in general may be assured that they will make no mistake in asking their friends to visit the rooms of the Oregon Historical Society, top floor of City Hall, northwest corner. The rooms will be open today and tomorrow from 1 to 5 o'clock, and all are cordially invited, particularly strangers in the city. The society is rapidly becoming one of the most important institutions of the city and state.

DEPUTY MINERAL SURVEYOR.—Surveyor-General R. A. Habersham has commissioned the following-named persons as Deputy Mineral Surveyors for Oregon: Thomas W. Neville, of Portland, who will operate in the Bohemia district (Mr. Neville is lately from Colorado); Henry J. Jurey, Sumpter; Lincoln Taylor, Cottage Grove; Joseph Cunningham, Portland, will operate in Eastern Oregon.

CAMP NOME MINERS.—Camp stoves with patent burners and fixtures for burning coal oil. Can also be used for wood or coal. The best camp stoves in the market, made of heavy sheet steel, compact, light, durable and low-priced. Just the thing. Also well adapted for light house-keeping. See one in operation at store of Lowenberg & Goring Co., 229 Taylor street, corner of Second.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.—The Federation of the W. C. T. U. will meet today at the Noon Rest, 2:30 P. M., and a full attendance is desired.

THE LITTLE OF THE UNIVERSALITY CLUB.—Lunch today from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M. 208 Morrison. Price, 25 cents.

WHY NOT? If you are not wearing a monument souvenir button, why not? Flowers by rounds received by wire tonight on screen at Orpheum.

RIO RISK OF SALMON.—Caneymen and others interested in the salmon crop were somewhat discouraged by the light run last year, and were beginning to fear that the palmy days of the salmon business were past and gone. Now they are taking a more hopeful view of the situation, and begin to feel assured that by manful ditching and turning plenty of young fry into the river, the supply of fish can be maintained indefinitely. Not only have the caneymen on the river packed to date this season double the amount packed in the same time last year, but away up at the dailies, where practically no fish have been caught for the past two or three years, the catch so far this season is larger than that in the same time in any previous year, and the same may be said of the catch at the falls of the Willamette. The low stage of water which has prevailed at the dailies is to some extent accountable for this large catch, but it also shows that there are more salmon than usual in the river.

BARBERS' UNION HALL.—The hall given by the Barbers' Union, at Arlon Hall last evening, was an immense success, both socially and financially, and the organization feels much encouraged at the flattering attendance. The spacious hall was comfortably filled with dancers during the entire evening, 12 sets occupying the floor while the various quadrilles were being danced. The full attendance proved that many of the participants were outsiders, so far as the Barbers' Union is concerned, and the way they were made to feel at home gave rise to the hope that the organization may give another hall in the near future.

CLOSING INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE.—On Saturday evening the second debate between the freshmen class of the University of Oregon and the High School Debating Society will be held in the assembly hall of the High School. It will be the last of the series of interscholastic debates for the present school year. The tribute to a young woman of known piety and many charitable deeds. She was a devoted member of the Catholic church, under whose auspices the funeral will take place Saturday morning, from St. Mary's Cathedral.

Miss Burke was a prominent worker in the society of Native Daughters, and bestowed herself with energy, in order to secure the return of the remains of Oregon's sons who lost their lives in the service of their country in the Philippines. Her parents have been dead several years, and her nearest surviving relatives are her sisters, Miss Martha Burke, and Mrs. E. F. Humason, the latter living in Spokane, two brothers, John, a Portland contractor, and Henry, now on Puget Sound. Mrs. Humason is in Portland to attend the funeral.

LOCAL TAILORS HAVE A KICK

They Want Agents Representing Eastern Concerns Licensed.

Portland tailors feel that there is a class of tailor agents doing business here who should be taxed in some manner. It is the same old question of making the representative of a firm having an establishment in another city pay a license to equalize the tax burdens of those whose establishments are located here. The principle of the question has often been argued, but it is best illustrated in the insurance companies. They do a large business in a state where the only equipment necessary is office furniture for agents. Tailors of the city state that there are a large number of agents in their business doing exactly the same thing. These agents represent large concerns in Chicago, or other distant city, take orders here, send them away, and have no receipt of the goods, which are sometimes delivered as of local manufacture. Such instances illustrate not only the work, and, judging by rehearsals, the support accorded the comedian will be exceptionally good. "The Magistrate" was a pet comedy of the late Augustin Daly, and ran for a long season in New York, with James Lewis and Ada Rehan in the principal characters, drawing crowded houses there and elsewhere by its brilliant lines, its amusing complications and its abundance of clever wit and repartee.

HARRY SCHOOF,

Well known for the past 11 years as city agent for Harry Winchard, has purchased the popular St. Paul House and Cafe, at 21 Third street, between Burnside and Couch, and will formally open same to the public tomorrow (Saturday) night. As a caterer Harry has no superior, and it is safe to say that the inner man will not be overlooked.

HEELS OF ECONOMY If the meanest heel in this city should apply O'Sullivan's Rubber Heels to his shoes he would not only save his money, but he would also save his feet. There are plenty of cases on record where O'Sullivan's Rubber Heels have saved a pair of feet from the cruellest of enemies, the corns. O'Sullivan's Rubber Heels are made of the best material, and are guaranteed to last for years. They are sold everywhere, and are the only heels that will save your feet from the cruellest of enemies, the corns. COMING ATTRACTIONS. "The Magistrate" Next Week at Cordey's.

The remembrance of the excellent comedy work of Mr. S. Cordey in the character of Mr. Posket in "The Magistrate" in former productions of this most amusing play in Portland will no doubt be the means of crowding the favorite theater all of next week. Several members of the Stockwell company have been associated with several well-known stars in comedy
